Doctors Can't Cure It!

Contagious blood poison is absolutely beyond the skill of the doctors. They may dose a patient for years on their mercurial and potash remedies, but he will never be rid of the disease; on the other hand, his condition will grow steadily worse. S. S. S. is the only cure for this terrible affliction, because it is the only remedy which goes direct to the cause of the disease and forces it from the system.

I was afflicted with Blood Poison, and the best doctors did me no good, though I took their treatment faithfully. In fact, I seemed to get worse all the while. I took almost every remedy I could find, but they did not seem to reach the disease, and I had no effect whatever. I was disheartened, for it seemed that I would never be cured. At the advice of a friend I then took S. S. S., and began to improve. I continued the medicine, and it cured me completely, built up my health and increasing my appetite.
 Although this was ten years ago, I have never yet had a sign of the disease to return.

W. R. NEWMAN,
 Staunton, Va.

It is like self-destruction to continue to take potash and mercury; besides totally destroying the digestion, they dry up the marrow in the bones, producing a stiffness and swelling of the joints, causing the hair to fall out, and completely wrecking the system.

S.S.S. For the Blood is guaranteed Purely Vegetable, and is the only blood remedy free from those dangerous minerals.

"I DON'T SEE WHY."

"I don't see why I can't do it.
 If I had a little girl, I would not say 'No, you must not go out,' when she wanted to go very badly," said Lina Ray, half-crossly, half-pathetically, to her mamma.

"Dear," was the reply, "mother knows best; I have a good reason why I do not want you to go to see Nelly Lane this afternoon, and I cannot have you question me in that manner."

"Always the way," muttered Lina more crossly to herself, when her mother had left the room.
 "Never can do what I want; wish I was grown up, a big woman, then I would. No, no, Kitty, no, no," she exclaimed suddenly as the kitten jumped into the work basket and began to upset the cottons and silks all over the table. "No, Kitty, you must not, I may see cross, but you would only stick your dear little paws with needles, and it is all for the best, but you don't understand," she added affectionately as she picked up Miss Kitten and kissed her.

Now Lina was often a disobedient, willful child, but she was not stupid, and just as she spoke in that manner to her pet, she found herself in her mother's position in regard to herself. "Oh," she said laughing, "mamma has just as good a reason probably as I have about the kitten, only neither of us understand why; I must tell her," for Lina was frank, and always admitted her faults. Just then mamma came in with such a surprise!
 Dear Aunt Lina, for whom the little girl was named was with her.

"Oh, mamma! Oh, auntie!" she cried, "when did you come?
 How long will you stay?"

"One question at a time, my dear," laughed her aunt, as she gave her a good hug and a kiss.

"And now," smiled mamma, "you see my reason in not wanting you to go out, or you would not have been here to welcome auntie, but you may go now if you wish."

"Oh, mamma," replied Lina, quite ashamed, "I see I was wrong.
 I would not let the kitten do something it wanted, and now I would not leave auntie for anything," which remark was followed by another hugging and kissing match.

And so there was a happy little girl for the rest of the afternoon in spite of her not seeing "why" at first, when her mother refused her wish.—Union Gospel News.

DO THY BEST.

His eye was failing, his hands were trembling. Age had set its shackles on him. To younger hands the unfinished picture must be resigned. "I commission thee, my son," said the aged artist, "to do thy best." And the young man hesitated, thinking the duty too vast for him. But still kept sounding the injunction, "Do thy best," "Do thy best." And with prayer for help and with high purpose in his heart, the young man began. And as he wrought, his hand grew steady, his conception cleared; each stroke became a master stroke, until at last, before the finished picture, with tearful exultation, the aged artist gave over into the hand of Leonarda da Vinci, whose hand was worthy because he had sought to do his best, the task from which his own trembling hand was dropping.—Wayland Hoyt, D. D.

Kind words produce their own image in men's souls, and a beautiful image it is. They soothe and comfort the hearer. They shame him out of his unkindly feelings.
 We have not yet begun to use them in such abundance as they ought to be used.—Pascal.

MOTHER! There is no word so full of meaning and about which such tender and holy recollections cluster as that of "MOTHER"—she who watched over our helpless infancy and guided our first tottering step. Yet the life of every Expectant Mother is beset with danger and all effort should be made to avoid it, so assists nature in the change-taking place that the Expectant Mother is enabled to look forward without dread, suffering or gloomy forebodings, to the time when she experiences the joy of Motherhood.
 Its use insures safety to the lives of both Mother and Child, and she is found stronger after than before confinement—in short, it "makes Childbirth natural and easy," as so many have said. Don't be persuaded to use anything but

MOTHER'S FRIEND

My Hand In His.

It makes a good deal of difference whether you take hold of God, or God takes hold of you.
 Said a father: "My little girl today refused to let me take hold of her hand when we were walking together. She thought she could go alone. But when we came to a place which was slippery, she took hold, first my little finger, and then as it grew more icy, of my whole hand. As we went on, and it was growing worse, she let me go entirely, and said, 'Papa, take hold of me.' She knew I was strong, and that she could not fall unless I fell. Now," said he,
 "I have been slipping, slipping, for the last seven years, and the reason is that I have not put my hand into the hand of God. I have been trying to take hold of him, but not asking him to take hold of me. As long as he has hold of my hand I can't fall. He would have to be dethroned first." If our hands are placed in his, whose throne is in heaven, we never can fall down into hell.—D.
 L. Moody.

PERSONAL WORK NECESSARY.

"If the members of the church are unwilling to undertake the personal work necessary to reach and draw in the unsaved, they need not be surprised at the emptiness of the pews at the evening services or at the meagreness of their own spiritual life. In the final analysis, as already intimated, it rests very much with the church itself, and with the depth and power of the desire for the salvation of lost souls, whether the Lord shall be full or empty at the evening service. From what we have observed, we should say that this perplexing problem will be solved just as soon as the churches troubled with it are ready to solve it."—The Examiner.
