STOCK RAISING IN GEORGIA.

The Chronicle has received a letter from Mr. Samuel W. Goode of Atlanta, enclosing a letter written by Mr. C. S. Schofield, a New Yorker who settled in Georgia on a 4,000-acre farm in Lowndes County, and who writes his experience to the "Drovers' Journal" of Chicago. Schofield declares that for one who is familiar with the West and South, it is incomprehensible how the people of the North pass over the South—a most desirable country and one that most assuredly has the elements of becoming a first class stock country without many of the drawbacks that belong to the West.

Mr. Schofield shows how valuable food for cattle grows to waste every year in Georgia, and how stock may be fattened upon what our farmers throw away. He says: "I have several hundred head of steers on natural grass pasture, growing and doing nicely. One from a bunch turned into after-feed at the end of the year, I have weighed at the end of the year, and the weights for four weeks: Started with 750 pounds. At the end of the first week, weighed 795; second, 817; third, 895; fourth, 952. He is still growing. Where could I do better? Cattle can live here throughout the winter without help. Where can they do this in the West?"

Mr. Schofield says that after living in several Northern States, he left Chicago, where he was a member of the board of trade, with broken health and declares that "if one-half of the energy put forth in the North to keep warm, could be expended in the South in the production of the necessities of life, the whole world would be filled with wonder at the result."

Mr. Goode supplements Mr. Schofield's letter with some valuable facts about the possibilities of hay culture in Georgia, and declares that the possibilities in stock raising in Georgia are not easily to be measured. His letter advocates the abandoning of cotton planting in large measure by our farmers and giving attention to food and forage crops and the raising of cattle. The letter is not only interesting but valuable and should be carefully read by our farming population. It will be found in the Sunday Chronicle.

"I have lived long enough in this State," says Capt. McCormick, one of the Northern settlers at Fitzgerald. "I have learned that everything needed for the sustenance and comfort of a man can be produced within its borders. Whenever the people of Georgia make up their minds to work on this line the State will be on the broad road to permanent prosperity. In such a State, with our varied resources and unsurpassed climate, farmers ought to be prosperous beyond those of any other section."—Augusta Chronicle.

If stock raising is profitable in Georgia why would it not be profitable in South Carolina? The fact is, we believe it would be profitable in this State, and have long been of the opinion that a stock farm properly conducted in Newberry County could be made to pay. We have wondered why some of our farmers have not tried it. Everything we need for the sustenance of man and beast can be grown on the farm, and if there was a first class stock farm when the butcher wanted a good beef or mutton, why, he would go there he could get it, and when it was found out that he was buying and butchering only the best beef and mutton he would soon have the trade.

Items From St. Paul's.

We are having regular winter weather. The weather is just right for butchering hogs. We are now enjoying pudding and sausage. Mr. Andrews, of Fairfield County, is in this community buying cattle. Mrs. Edington, of Fairfield County, is visiting her niece, Mrs. Ella Bodenbaugh.

Messrs. Johnstone & Meyers, of Newberry, have some very fine "drovo hogs." We know whereof we speak for we have made ourself a present of one. Our school is progressing nicely. We have an enrollment of more than thirty. The school observed Friday as Arbor Day. The teacher and pupils planted some trees, but haven't named them yet.

The following is the Honor Roll of St. Paul's sch. for the month ending November 25, 1898. The requirements are that the student shall maintain an average of 90 per cent, and not have more than five absences during the month: Annie Ballentine, Mamie Ballentine, A. J. Bodenbaugh, Beatrice Bodenbaugh, Berley Bodenbaugh, Leola Bodenbaugh, Bessie Epling, Rufus Epling, Hobbs Kibler, Lorick Kibler, Arthur McDonald, Charlie Slight, Lucile Slight.

Would like to hear from Chips since he attended the State Fair. I know he has much to tell about what he saw during his week's stay at the Fair. Do tell us all about it, Chips. Miss Dottie Kibler has been ill and confined to her bed for several days, but we are glad to state that she is improving.

We are now getting 5 cents for cotton, the first this season. There is but little more to sell. It has taken about all to meet the obligations made the first of the year. Nov. 29, 1898. CLOTHOPPER.

Y-How Janice cured. Suffering humanity should be supplied with every means possible for its relief. It is with pleasure we publish the following: "This is to certify that I was a terrible sufferer from Yellow Jaundice for over six months, and was treated by some of the best physicians in our city, and to no avail. Dr. Bell, our druggist, recommended Electric Bites; and after taking two bottles, I was entirely cured. I now take great pleasure in recommending them to any person suffering from this terrible malady. I am gratefully yours. M. A. HOGARTY, Lexington, Ky. Sold by Robinson & Gilder and W. E. Pelham Druggist."

NO SOUTH CAROLINA DISPENSARY. People of South Dakota Vote Against Adoption of the System. Sioux Falls, S. D., Nov. 29.—Final returns have been received from the various counties on the constitutional amendment submitted at the recent election. Woman suffrage was defeated by 4,008 and the South Carolina dispensary system by 965; while the initiative and referendum has been carried by a majority of a little over 6,000. The vote on the three amendments reached only about one-half the total vote polled at the election.
