ABOUT OURSELVES.

You will pardon us for the head line to this article. It is not intended to be a'together personal for we want every subscriber to The Herald and News to read it. During the year which is now drawing to a close and as hard mancially as it has been we have added about 200 new names to our list. We family of our readers and hope they may find it pleasant to be with us and to con e and that they will invite their friends and neighbors who have not joined to come in, for there is still room on our subseri, tien list to add their names, and they will be given a cordial welcome.

We have printed for our regular issue in 1898 including this one 100 times, and a total of 178,338 papers, or an average of 1637 papers each issue. This represents a circulation larger by several hundred than was ever reached by any paper published in this courty For this tangible expression of appreciation of our efforts to publish a first class, clean and up-to-date newspaper. giving all the news and treating every one fairly, we are truly grateful and shall endeavor to keep the pap, " up-to date in the future and merit the confidence and esteem of our patrons.

Out of this large number we expeeted a hearty response to our request for a Christmas present in the shape of a year's subscription from those in arrears. A few came in and made us happy but not near as many as we had a right to expect. One friend remembered us from away up in Worcester, Mass., but there ar many more from Massachusetts to Texas that we looked in vain to hear from, but no letter came. We hope you will not wait until next Christma. but that you will this week send as a New Year greeting. Please let us hear from you promptly.

Another matter. Some few of our friends have complained of the crowd ed condition of our advertising co. umns for the past few weeks. Depr friends, that will not last long. In facthis issue, we fear will reduce that remember if we depend on subscript ions alone we would not have morthan enough money with which to be white paper. You seem also to ever look the fact that we send you two papers each week for the price of one Come, or send, and pay usalids week

We hope so.

ANOTHER VOLUME.

With this issue The Herald and News closes another volume. Another year goes into history. For twelve years we have edited The Herald and News as publisher and proprietor, though our connection with the paper dates a little fur her beek than this. In many respects the past year has been a hard one. The price of our only money crop has been below the cost of production, especially when the money with which to make it had to be borrowed at big rates of interest. But the yield was large and this section is more favored than some others where the price was not only low but the yield

If the ANNUAL MERTINGOF THE Stockholders of the Commercial Bank of Newberry, S. C., will be held at the Bank on Wednesday, January 11, 1899, at 12 o'clock, m. Before we can hope to have better times we will have to change our modes of farming. We have one of the finest countries on the globe.

It will do no good to grumble and complain about the times. It is not the part of brave men and brave women to do so. It is their part to go to work and make the times better. In fact the times are what we will them to be, Let us then leave behind the things that are behind and profiting by our experience press forward with brave hearts and willing hands to the things that are before us and that demand our attention in the present.

Hoping that the coming year may be one full of good things we bid all our readers a Happy New Year and promise them to make The Herald and News a better paper in 1899 than it has ever been before.

The Greenwood Journal has put in a new Cottrell press and steam power. We congratulate the Journal on this evidence of success. It should not, much. It says it is the only office between Columbia and Greenville that of the Town Council before the hour of uses steam power. The Herald and News has used steam for several years and we have also been using for two years a Cottrell Book and Job press. We think its neighbor, the Press and Banner, also uses steam and has a well equipped office. It will do no good to claim too much.

The Study of a Crowd.

There was a large crowd in the city on Saturday. It was one mass of humanity from the Mower Corner to the lower end of Main Street. Moving to and fro on the streets and in the stores. The merchants were busy. It was a mixed crowd. Men and women, boys and girls, white and black.

We have set in the depots at Richmond and Washington and watched the throngs of human beings moving, We have stood on the principal streets of Baltimore and gazed at the moving masses of humanity. There is some thank our friends for coming into the thing interesting to us in watching a erowd of human beings as they rush to and fro. We like to look on them and that they may remain for many years observe their actions, and their ex pressions.

in Newberry on Saturiay of special interest. Nothing in particular and yet there were lessons which might be earned. It was Christmas eve. They had come to town and those in town had gone down street to look and to buy something for the Christmas time They were all apparently happy, and gramblers. No doubt many of them had very scant change with which to purchase the toys and dainties with which to make the little ones happy but from the faces of the crowd you could detect no sign of the money that was in the purse. And why should it and compaining words. Take courout once a year. It should be a time of good cheer and gift bearing. Let us learn a lesson from the crowd. De of good cheer. Do the best we can and make the world happier and better for our having lived in it.
