CAULS GENERAL MILES A LIAR.

Violent Denunciation of the Commander by General Egan—Language Which It is Believed by Many Miles Will Repeat Without Waiting for Official Formalities.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—Commissioner General Egan in the course of his testimony before the war investigating commission this afternoon called Major General Miles, commanding the army, a "liar" who lied in his throat, lied in his heart, who perpetrated a gross scandal and who should be drummed out of the service and imprisoned and should be avoided by every honest man and barred by every club.

He characterized the interviews given out by General Miles as "filth." General Egan appeared unexpectedly to meet the allegations against the beef issued in the war. He denied numerous statements of General Miles point blank and charged that the latter's testimony constituted severe reflections on the commanding generals of the expeditions and referred to him as "this same commanding general, Nelson A. Miles," and said whoever called the beef furnished "embalmed beef" was a "liar."

Continuing, General Egan said, "This statement is a scandalous libel reflecting upon the honor of every officer in the department who has contracted for or purchased this meat and especially and particularly on the commissary general, myself. In denouncing General Miles as a liar when he makes this statement I wish to make it as emphatic and as coarse as the statement itself. I wish to force the lie back into his throat covered with the contents of the camp latrine. I wish to brand it as a falsehood of the whole cloth, without a particle of truth and unless he can substantiate his statement he should be denounced by every honest man, barred from the clubs, barred from the society of decent people and so ostracized that a street boy black would not condescend to speak to him, for he has fouled his own nest."

Tremendous excitement is created by this and the outcome is uncertain. Many believe that General Miles will not wait for the formalities of a military tribunal.

Egan is catching it—censured by resolution of the investigating committee.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—At today's cabinet meeting a large share of the time was consumed in the discussion of General Egan's testimony given before the war investigating commission yesterday in reply to General Miles's strictures on the beef supplied the army in China. The matter is in the hands of the President and Secretary Alger. The President deeply regrets the incident. It is considered certain that official cognizance will be taken of the matter very soon.

The war investigation commission today passed a resolution of censure on General Egan for the language he used Tuesday and returned to him the carefully prepared type written statement which he left with the commission after having read it to that body. With its return was sent a letter explaining the reason for this action and a copy of the resolution passed today.

General Miles today declared his position. He is acting calmly and with discretion. He says he was called before the war board unwillingly but did not tell them all he knew from personal investigation. He has no reply to make to General Egan, he says.

Governor Roosevelt said that he had written to Major General Miles confirming his account of the condition of the meat furnished in the Santiago expedition. General Miles has made a reference to the receipt of that letter.

The Cumberland.

An anchor in Hampton Roads we lay On board of the Cumberland, sloop-of-war, And at times from the fortress across the bay The alarm of drums swept past Or a single blast From the camp on the shore.

Then far away to the south we rose A little feather of snow white smoke, And we knew that the iron ship of our foes Was steadily steering its course To try the force Of our ribs of oak.

Down upon us heavily runs, Silent and sullen, the floating fort; Then comes a puff of smoke from her guns And leaps the terrible death, With fiery breath, From each open port.

We are not idle, but send her straight Defiance back in a full broadside! As hail rebounds from a roof of slate Rebounds our heavier hail From each iron scale Of the monster's hide.

"Strike your flag!" the rebel cries In his arrogant old plantation strain. "Never!" our gallant Morris replies. "It is better to sink than to yield!" And the whole air pulsed With the cheers of our men.

Then like a kraken huge and black She crushed our ribs in her iron grasp. Down went the Cumberland all a wrack. With a sudden shudder of death And the cannon's breath For her dying gasp.

Next morn, as the sun rose over the bay,

Still floated our flag at the mainmast head.

Lord, how beautiful was thy day! Every waft of the air Was a whisper of prayer Or a dirge for the dead.

Ho, brave hearts that went down in the seas! Ye are at peace in the troubled stream. Ho, brave land, with hearts like these, Thy flag, that is rent in twain, Shall be one again And without a seam! —Longfellow.

A Good Suggestion.

(The State.) Mr. McDonald Furman's suggestion that a law be passed limiting legislative speeches to 15 minutes each and limiting members five cents a minute for all additional indulgence in oratory is hereby cheerfully submitted to the General Assembly about to convene. We need hardly say that this is just the sort of measure legislators have been looking for these many years, and that it will be considered as soon as a dog law can be passed, extra offices abolished, member salaries reduced to $2 a day, and a few similar legislative trifles enacted.

WOMAN'S WORK.

An apt old adage declares that woman's work is never done. This is true of the housewife's manifold duties and approximately true of the thousands who work all day in factories and stores and half the night in the millinery and dress-making and mending their own clothes or sewing for others to patch out a meagre income. Women who are too much on their feet, or who are unable to stand the strain of overwork and worry, are peculiarly susceptible to the nervousness and irregularities that are the bane of womanhood. The symptoms of such derangement are insufficient or excessive menstruation, headache, backache, neuralgia, leucorrhoea, displacements and extreme nervousness amounting in many cases to hysteria. The use of morphine, dangerous in all examinations by male physicians are painful and unpleasant.
