The Confederate Reunion.

SPEECHES BY GEN. WADE HAMPTON AND JOSEPH WHEELER.
 Brilliant Concert at Which a Great Gathering Went Wild Over Southern War Songs.

(Special to Greenville News.)

Charleston, S. C., May 11.—The features of the reunion today were the addresses delivered in the convention hall by Generals Hampton and Wheeler. The former's speech was entirely impromptu, the occasion for it being the presentation by him, in behalf of the ladies of Charleston, of a handsome Confederate battle flag to the U. C. V.

General Wheeler spoke by appointment. His address was to have been delivered at the session yesterday, but was postponed till today. Its delivery required over an hour, and it was largely historical. There were few references to current events, and such as were made were not very striking.

To each of these speakers a royal welcome was accorded. Hampton was cheered to the echo and the delegates simply went wild over Wheeler.

The business of the day was routine for the most part.

There is considerable to do being made over the resolutions offered by Gen. Stephen D. Lee yesterday in reference to McKinley's speech concerning the Confederate dead. They simply affirm the convention's recognition of the fact that the country is reunited. They were referred to a committee and now it looks very much as if they were going to cause trouble. A good many delegates oppose them violently and should they ever get before the convention there is going to be a row.

The memorial services to Miss Winnie Davis were held at 1 o'clock and were impressive in the extreme. The address of the occasion was delivered by Gen. D. H. Young, of Louisville, Ky. At the auditorium tonight the reunion chorus and orchestra gave a concert. The program was made up exclusively of Confederate war songs. The audience was a brilliant one and numbered many thousands. The enthusiasm aroused by the singing of 'Dixie' and other familiar airs could scarcely be described. A box was occupied by the officers of the cruiser Raleigh. Up to this morning nearly 30,000 people have arrived in the city.

LEE RESOLUTIONS ON MCKINLEY'S SPEECH MODIFIED.—SONS OF VETERANS HAVE A WARM TIME.—LOUISVILLE.

THE NEXT PLACE.

Charleston, S. C., May 12.—The feature of the United Confederate Veterans convention today was the discussion of the resolution regarding President McKinley's declaration that the time had come when the Federal government should share in carrying for the graves of the Confederate dead.

A great volume of business was disposed of, some of it important and some of it merely routine, but the incident of the day was the discussion of the resolutions. They were originally offered by Gen. Stephen D. Lee, and the chairman, seeing trouble in the future, referred them to a committee. In the committee the Lee resolutions were side-tracked and others were written, the latter being much milder in expression of gratitude to the nation. As presented to the convention, they were as follows:

"Your committee to whom was referred the resolution introduced by Gen. S. D. Lee beg to report the following substitute, with the recommendation of the committee that the same be adopted:

"The United Confederate Veterans in this reunion assembled, desire to place upon record their sincere appreciation of the utterances of the president of the United States in Atlanta in December last concerning the assumption of the care of the graves of our Confederate dead by the national government.

"We appreciate every kindly sentiment expressed and we shall welcome any legislation which shall result in the care of the graves of our comrades in the northern States by our government.

"In regard to our dead whose remains are resting in the States which were represented in the Confederacy and Maryland, the care of their final resting places is a sacred trust dear to the hearts of Southern women and we believe that we can safely let it there remain."

The Rev. S. T. Martin of Virginia, at once took the floor to protest. He did so in a fiery manner, declaring that the adoption of such resolutions was equivalent to an expression of lack of confidence in the Confederate women who had cared so long and so well for the Confederate dead.

Considerable disturbance followed the speech. Scores of delegates demanded a hearing. The floor was finally accorded Mr. Busbee, of North Carolina, Gen. S. D. Lee and General Cahell in the order named and each defended the report of the committee. There was a chance for a long wrangle ensuing but the previous question was railroaded through and the resolutions were adopted.

Dr. J. L. M. Curry made an eloquent address defending the South and its history and appealing to the veterans and their sons to keep the record straight. He closed by declaring that the South was a law abiding section when it seceded, had always been law abiding and could not now afford to trust the honor of its people to mob law. It was a distinct reference to lynching.

The history report was read by

Gen. S. D. Lee.

Resolutions were adopted endorsing the government's work in making lines on the battle grounds of the war.

A tribute of respect was paid Col. W. C. Smith, of Tennessee, who was killed recently in the Phillip pines, and appropriate action was taken in regard to many incidental matters.

Louisville was unanimously chosen as the next place for the convention to meet.

The slight disturbance over the Lee resolutions among the veterans was not a circumstance to the actual row in the convention of the Sons of Veterans. It all came about by the South Carolina delegation nominating R. E. Lee, Jr., for commander in chief. This for some reason which did not appear, aroused violent opposition in the Virginia delegation. A number of excited speeches were made, the Virginians denouncing the re-election of Robt. A. Smyth. Mr. Smyth had already announced his intention to retire. He was elected anyway and declined.

Then the trouble started over again, the Virginia and Georgia people nominating young Walter Colquitt, of Atlanta, while the South Carolina people continued to stick to Lee. The remarkable spectacle of men being billed for advocating the election of R. E. Lee, Jr., grandson of the great chief, to the command of Sons of Confederate Veterans was presented more than once. When a ballot was finally taken Colquitt was elected, the Virginia delegation supporting him.

It is stated by delegates that this opposition grew out of the fact that young Lee lives in Washington and never joined a camp of sons until after he got here.

A reception was given the veterans at the auditorium tonight and a ball was given to the sponsors at the Isle of Pines. Tens of thousands of veterans are going home.

WHEELER OVERLOOKED.

Walker's Blunder, Judge Brawley Indignant and Publisher a Good Public Hold General Walker Responsible.

(Special to Greenville News.)

Charleston, S. C., May 13.—It seems that the failure of General Joe Wheeler to appear in the big parade of Confederate veterans here on Wednesday last, is destined to be the cause of much talk and bad feeling.

General Wheeler was a special guest of the city. He stopped at the residence of United States District Judge Brawley. He was to have ridden in the procession, and the spectators were prepared to give him an ovation; but the line was formed and passed through the city and Wheeler was not in it.

There was much comment and enquiry from people who knew he was in the city. This has gathered volume as the days have passed, and this morning Judge Brawley gave out a statement for publication in which he lay the blame on Gen. C. F. Walker who commands the South Carolina division of the United Confederate Veterans and in consequence was in charge of the parade.

After reviewing the circumstances of General Wheeler's visit here, he says he never dreamed that as prominent a person would be left out of the picture. Leaving General Wheeler at his house, he took Miss Wheeler and went to watch the parade. He had notified General Walker of General Wheeler's arrival, and he had seen a printed program for the parade in which Wheeler's name appeared. He was astounded beyond measure when he did not see Wheeler in the line. Judge Brawley concludes his statement as follows:

"That there has been a painful exhibition of blundering or want of capacity somewhere is of course evident. The public will naturally hold General Walker responsible, unless he can show that some one appointed for the purpose has failed to carry out his order."

HOW MISS WHEELER VIEWS IT.

To one who chatted with her about the reunion she remarked when the incident concerning her father in Charleston was mentioned that she felt sure Gen. Wheeler was not offended. She thought he had "too much good sense" to feel hurt over anything that could so easily be overlooked in the confusion that necessarily accompany such gatherings.

Some professed Christians had rather do wrong than suffer wrong.

R. E. LEE, JR., DEFEATED FOR COMMANDER.

Considerable Feeling Manifested in Sons of Veterans Election for Officers.—South Carolina Supported Lee.

Charleston, May 12.—The United Sons of Confederate Veterans today elected officers and adjourned the reunion of 1899. Walter T. Colquitt, of Atlanta, Ga., son of ex-Governor Colquitt, was chosen commander-in-chief, M. L. Bonham, of South Carolina, commander of the division of Tennessee; and H. B. Kirk, of Texas, commander of the trans-Mississippi division. The election was a spirited one, and considerable feeling was manifested in the nominating speeches. Mr. Colquitt's only opponent was Robert E. Lee, Jr., of Washington, D. C., who was solidly opposed by the Virginia delegation, while his nomination was made by a Charleston delegate and supported by the solid South Carolina contingent. Mr. Smyth, the present commander, was nominated by Delegate Mann, of Virginia and developed a strong backing, but he positively declined to again allow his name to go before the convention. This left the contest between Lee and Colquitt. The vote stood 111 to 119, and, on motion, Mr. Colquitt's election was made unanimous. The opposition to Lee was based on the fact that he was not a member of the association until yesterday, when he was admitted to Camp Maultree, of this city.

The session was a stormy one, and personal feeling ran high, and once when the vote of a State was announced so solidly for Lee a hiss was heard, followed by protests and cries of "honor, shame."

Prior to the election the Sons held memorial exercises for Miss Winnie Davis. Eloquent eulogies were pronounced by C. L. Coon, of North Carolina; W. F. Jones, Georgia; H. B. Kirk, Texas; M. L. Bonham, South Carolina; B. H. Mills, Alabama; T. T. Stockton, Florida; James Mann, Virginia; and George B. Meyers, of Mississippi.

The next reunion will be held at Louisville. A committee was appointed to consider the matter of erecting a monument to the women of the Confederacy and report to the next convention.

Literary Note.

According to General Joseph Wheeler, the custom of setting apart a day for decorating the soldiers' graves had its origin among the women of his own State of Alabama. Unlike the men, they would not permit their dead "quietly to become a part of general history." Under the title, "The Memory of Our Fighting Men," General Wheeler contributes to The Saturday Evening Post of May 27 a strong paper on the history and significance of Memorial Day. Gen. Corbin, of the U. S. A. R., also treats a similar topic, but from a differing point of view.

Among the fiction in this number is the number is "The Crump's Creek Tangle," a Decoration Day story by John Habberton. It is one of the cleverest of Mr. Habberton's clever tales of plain people.

Another feature of the Decoration Day number of the Post is a poem by Frank L. Stanton, that is a noble tribute to "The Fallen of the Fight":

THE BAPTIST CONVENTION.

Ex-Governor Northern Elected President.—Other Officers Chosen.

Louisville, Ky., May 12. Immediately after the opening prayer and the calling of the roll in the Convention of the Southern Baptist Church today President Hurrison said that the election of officers was the order of business and called for nominations for president of the Convention. The Rev. J. B. Gambrell, of Texas, nominated Ex-Governor W. J. Northen, of Georgia. The Rev. A. E. Owen, of Richmond, nominated the Hon. Joshua Levering, of Baltimore, who at once withdrew amid protests.

J. R. Parrish, of Meridian, Miss., offered the name of Ex-Governor Eagle, of Arkansas, and the Rev. J. H. E. Kerfoot, of Louisville, was placed in nomination. Both withdrew. Nominations were closed and the vote of the Assembly was then cast for Ex-Governor Northen, who was declared elected and escorted to the chair.

Ex-Governor J. P. Eagle, Arkansas; Dr. Charles L. Coocks, of Virginia; the Rev. R. C. Buckner, of Austin, Texas, and the Rev. J. H. E. Kerfoot, of Louisville, were elected vice-presidents. Lansing Burrows, of Augusta, Ga., and O. F. Gregory, of Baltimore, were elected secretaries. Geo. W. Horton, of Louisville, was re-elected treasurer, and the Rev. W. P. Harvey, of Louisville, was re-elected auditor. The Rev. C. H. Jones, of Louisville, delivered the address of welcome.

The Rev. S. S. Mallory, of Alabama, responded.

Literary Note.

Under the recent ruling of the Treasury department all who volunteered for the Spanish-American war are to be paid from the day they volunteered for service up to the time they were accepted or rejected. As will be remembered, there was some delay in having the men examined and accepted, and more men were rejected than were actually sworn into the service. Under the rule as announced all men who were rejected are to be paid from the day they volunteered for service up to the time they were accepted. This will amount to a considerable item for the entire State. Papers are now being gotten up on which to make the claim, and all those who have any such claims would do well to communicate with their captains or officers having this matter in charge. Several of the captives have already sent in the bills for the men who were rejected, and for the time of those who were accepted from the date they offered for service up to the time they were accepted.

WHITSITT'S SUCCESSOR.

Dr. Green Unanimously Elected President of the S. Ministry.

(Special to Greenville News.)

Louisville, Ky., May 13.—Dr. D. P. Green was elected president of the Southern Baptist Theological seminary and professor of church history today. The election was unanimous. No others were voted for. The trustees were united. A. J. S. Thomas.

Louisville, Ky., May 13.—Dr. John T. Green, of Missouri, was at noon today elected president of the Southern Baptist Seminary, to succeed Dr. W. H. Whitsitt, whose resignation was accepted after a long and bitter struggle, Thursday evening. The election of Dr. Green is considered a victory for the Whitsitt faction.

Dr. J. H. E. Kerfoot was considered the candidate of the anti-Whitsitt faction, but he withdrew his name, as did also Dr. J. R. Sampey.

NOT VOTED UP.

South Carolina and Georgia Extension Company in Good Shape.

(Special to Greenville News.)

Columbia, S. C., May 13.—An understanding has been reached between the officers of the Southern and the South Carolina & Georgia extension company, whereby there is to be an interchange of traffic, which will be advantageous to the latter company.

It was expected that the latter road would be practically bottled up when the Southern took charge of the South Carolina, but this agreement will give it every advantage it had under the old management.
