"An American Wife."

"An American Wife," Bertram and Willard's new play, to be presented at the opera house Friday night, January 12th, next week, for the benefit of the Daughters of the Confederacy, was not booked by them until the play had been pronounced a great success in several important towns. The following letter will show how it was appreciated at Sumter:

Sumter, S. C., Dec. 30, 1899. Messrs. Bertram and Willard, Newberry, S. C.

My Dear Friends: So very many have asked Gilbert Flowers and myself if it would be possible to repeat the performance of "An American Wife." The general verdict here is that notwithstanding the great success on all of your former productions, "An American Wife" is by far the finest amateur performance ever seen in our city. It is the universal desire that you name a date that you can repeat the performance.

Yours truly,

J. C. R. Wilder. There is no doubt but the opera house will be crowded to the doors as it always has been to Bertram and Willard's entertainments. The cast has been happily selected. Ed Satterwhite's Sorrows.

Ed Satterwhite, a negro, came to town Saturday with a tale of woe and with very much of proof on his person. He was traveling in a buggy from this place to Newberry, and his trouble occurred about a mile below Fountain Inn. His son is a druggist here and Ed makes tion of our departed pupil and classperiodical trips to Greenville, being in- mate. terested in the business.

A mile below Fountain Inn, on Friday about sundown, he was attacked by six negroes, who seemed to be drinking and having a general carousal around a fire near the roadside. They beat Ed severely and took his watch and pistol and over $2 in money. The scoundrels also belabored the horse, which was a fine one, so badly that he died in a short while. They not only struck the horse with poles and rocks. but stabbed him with knives. The good Samaritan came along promptly in the person of a young white man going to a dance and this young man got Ed sleeping place and had his wounds

Misses Mayme Schumpert and Carrie Bouknight, sisters of the bride and groom, entered the parlor followed by the happy couple, who stood under a canopy formed of grace ful vines with ferns interwoven from which was suspended a floral horse shoe, all the while Mrs. Herbert Boul ware at the organ was rendering the inspiring wedding march by Mendelssohn, which was continued softly throughout the ceremony. The wall decorations of holly, wild smilax and woods ferns, with vases of chrysanthemums and narcissus were elaborate and tastefu!.

The bride was handsome in a stylish costume of silver-grey with trimmings of white satin and olive green-velvet Mr. Bouknight is to be congratulated on winning the heart and hand of this noble young lady, and Newberry's loss is Edgefield's gain, as their future home will be near Saluda.

Among the gifts were some verses composed and written on the wedding morning by our own poet, Mr. Jno. A. Chapman, and sent by him to Miss Schumpert.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know it.

How To Find Out. Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a tling indicates an unhealthy condineys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in caring rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasan necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extra-ordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best.
