THE CONFEDERATE REUNION.

LOUISVILLE RAINS FAIL TO DAMPEN THE VETERANS' ARDOR.
A Glorious Time at South Carolina Headquarters Despite the Weather—The State Flag and the Genuine Palmetto Tree Admired by the Crowd.

(Special to the News and Courier.)
Louisville, Ky., May 31.—The veterans from South Carolina have been seeking shelter from the drizzling rains today. Already many of the big reunion plans have been spoiled by thunder storms and rain, and there is not a very encouraging outlook for tomorrow. The grizzled fighters from the Palmetto State have soon more hardships, however, than any endured by water, and they have satisfied themselves with Kentucky and its fine product. A few of the Carolina veterans have started home and many others will leave tomorrow at the finish of the grand parade. Around the South Carolina headquarters great crowds have gathered today. These headquarters are considered to be the most elaborately decorated in the city, and the two huge palmetto trees from Charleston have caught the eye of the people who pass by. The State is splendidly represented and the register shows more than eight hundred Carolinians in attendance at the reunion.

A "THIRST DEPARTMENT."

The bad weather has driven the veterans to their hall. There is a fine band of music to cheer the crowds and in the building there is a "thirst department" to ripen friendships into closer bonds. At a meeting of the division this morning it was decided to cast the unanimous vote of South Carolina for Baltimore as the next place for the reunion, with Memphis as a second choice. Many of the veterans favored Memphis, but the unanimous vote of the division will go to the Maryland city. Adjutant General Floyd has been asked to speak in Baltimore's behalf at the convention, and he will make a ringing speech to help pull the votes.

Gen. Walker, at the convention today, introduced his resolutions on the schoolbook question. These in effect are to see if necessary funds can be raised to defray the expenses of an active canvass in the South to create a sentiment for the use of school histories which are fair to the South and to exclude others which are not. The resolutions were referred to the committee on resolutions.

SOUTH CAROLINIANS FAVORED.

Gen. Walker also introduced resolutions in the convention to extend a friendly greeting to the convention of the Sons. He was appointed chairman of a special committee to extend the greeting and, at the convention of the Sons of Veterans, he made an address which was well received.

The South Carolina veterans fared well in the honors today: Col. Zimmerman Davis was appointed chairman of the committee on credentials and Gen. Carville was made chairman of the committee on resolutions. Many of the Palmetto State veterans attended the convention this morning, but there was so much noise and confusion in the hall that the proceeding could not be heard. The veterans seemed to find more satisfaction in looking in the shop windows.

THE GOVERNOR IN CLOVER.

Governor McSweeney has made friends by the dozen since his arrival, and the honorable position he occupies has caused him to be the subject of certain pleasantries as to his relations with the Governor of North Carolina. For instance, today at the South Carolina headquarters most amusing comedy was arranged for the benefit of a number of veterans from other delegations who happened to be present about the time Governor McSweeney came in. The Governor was drafted into service for one of the principal actors, and the Governor of North Carolina having failed to attend the reunion, a veteran bearing a resemblance to him was called upon to act in his stead. With elaborate ceremony it was announced that the Governor of North Carolina and the Governor of South Carolina were present and saying something to each other, and guesses as to what this conversation related to would be received. Gov. McSweeney has received many courteous attentions, as has Col. Floyd, who is at home with the veterans.

HARD ON SPONSORS AND MAIDS.

There seem to be more sponsors and maids of honor here than these Kentucky bloods can manage. An evening paper created a sensation in the fem. ranks by publishing under a scare head the announcement this afternoon that there would be a dearth of beaux at the big reunion ball tomorrow night. The men are evidently shy because of back hire and expenses, although an enterprising clothing man has let it be known that he has a thousand dress suits to rent at Confederate money ### prices. Some of the visiting girls from South Carolina are in a state of anxiety lest they should not connect with their ball dresses, then baggage having gone astray through their own or somebody else's neglect.

Seven of the pictures of generals that hung in the Reunion Hall are of men who came out of the Hampton Legion of South Carolina, which was organized by Gen. Wade Hampton. The list is as follows: Gen. Stephen D. Lee, Gen. M. C. Butler, Gen. M. W. Gary, Gen. James Connor, Gen. T. M. Logan and Gen. Pettigru. Old members of the Hampton Legion now in the city are very proud of the fact that it gave birth to so many distinguished officers.

ADDRESSED THE WRONG MAN.

John L. Sullivan would have rubbed his big hands in glee had he seen the fancy solar plexus blow landed by a Charleston man last night. This Charleston man was standing with a friend when a loaded greaser pranced up to his side. "And where are you from?" said the greaser. "From South Carolina," was the quick answer. "Well, it's a damned poor State," snorted the greaser, whereupon he caught an upper cut which sent him to the floor. He stayed there until a porter dragged him out.

WADE HAMPTON HONORED.

Tremendous enthusiasm filled the Reunion Hall this afternoon when the name of Wade Hampton was called, and amidst applause he was unanimously elected Commander-in-Chief of the Army of Northern Virginia. Gen. Walker acknowledged the honor in behalf of Gen. Hampton, who was absent.

THE BUSINESS PROCEEDINGS—SYMPATHY WITH HAMPTON—THE WOMAN'S MOVEMENT—BALL, ETC.

All the officers of the United Confederate Veterans were re-elected this afternoon by acclamation. The list is as follows: Gen. John B. Gordon, General Commanding; Lieut. Gen. Wade Hampton, Army of Northern Virginia, Department Commanding; Lieut. Gen. S. D. Lee, Commanding Army of Tennessee Department; Lieut. Gen. W. L. Cabell, Commanding Trans Mississippi Department.

speaker's stand and, addressing Gen. Gordon, who was presiding, said: "I move, Mr. Chairman, that we now proceed to the election of officers for the ensuing year."

"Second the motion," came from a dozen different directions at once. Without noticing the interruption Gen. Horner went on: "And I further move that the elections be made by acclamation. All those in favor of the motion will signify it by saying 'aye.'"

There came a fierce chorus of ayes. "Those contrary minded will signify it by saying 'no,'" said General Horner. There were no negative votes, however, and there was no need to announce the result.

The election came and was over so quickly that the mass of those in the hall hardly comprehended what had been done, and for an instant they sat silent. Then they broke into cheering, which continued for some time. It was decided that the selection of the place of the next reunion be made a special order for 11 o'clock tomorrow.

Although the morning's session was to be devoted entirely to matters of business, and there was to be comparatively no features of interest, the crowd was fully as large as yesterday.

At 10:22 General Gordon rapped with his gavel for order.

A resolution was offered by Gen. S. D. Lee, providing that a message of sympathy be sent to Gen. Wade Hampton, who is ill.

Col. Packard of Louisiana introduced a resolution providing for the erection in Richmond, Va., of a monument to commemorate the sacrifices and loyalty of the women of the Confederacy during the war.

The Hon. J. H. Reagan of Texas asked that the monument be placed in some central part of the Confederacy.

The matter was referred to a committee. Many reports were heard at the morning session.

The afternoon session opened with the reading of a statement from the Daughters of the Confederacy presented by Taylor Ellison of Richmond, Va.

After the report was read subscriptions were made for the Davis monument, and it was announced that close to $5,500 had been raised for the monument fund. Further contributions are expected tomorrow.

Immediately following this announcement was made the motion of Gen. Horner, calling for the election of officers, which has already been described.

After the election of officers and the speech of Gen. Cabell the Convention adjourned until to-morrow.

The big Reunion Hall, bare of chairs and adorned with special decorations, was given over to night to the young men of Louisville, who were the hosts at a ball in honor of the sponsors and maids of honor. Mrs. Margaret Jefferson Davis Hayes and her daughter, Miss Varina Jefferson Davis Hayes, the daughter of Jefferson Davis, arrived this morning and are the guests of Col. and Mrs. Bennett H. Young.

WORK OF THE SONS.

By a Decided Majority they Vote to March Under the Flag of their Father's Only. The Subject of Yankee School Books Discussed—Pensions for Veterans.

Louisville, Ky., May 31.—By a vote of 101 to 68 the Sons of Confederate Veterans this afternoon refused to lay on the table a motion offered by W. H. McLaws, division commander of Georgia, that only the Confederate flag be carried in the Sons of Veterans was held today. The Convention was called to order by Commander W. W. Davies, of John A. Broun's Camp of Louisville. An address of welcome from Brisco Hindman and an address by Commander Colquitt completed the opening exercises.

Fraternal greetings were sent to the Confederate Veterans.

At the afternoon session the report of the historical committee was read by W. F. Jones, of Elberton, Ga. The report expressed regret at what it calls indifference on the part of many Southern people of today as to histories of the civil war in use in public schools which are partly untrue and not just to the Southern side. The fact is cited that in twenty-five counties of Georgia a history is used that does not mention the name of Alex. H. Stevens, the Vice President of the Confederacy.

James Mann, of Nottoway, Va., made an elaborate address, citing points of ante-bellum and civil war history that, in his opinion, should be impressed upon pupils of Southern schools.

E. Leslie Spence, Jr., of Richmond, Va., chairman of the relief committee, reiterated in his report the recommendations made at Charleston last year as to helping indigent veterans and working for State pensions for veterans. Other reports will be heard tomorrow.

J. L. McAllister, of Virginia, secretary of the Stonewall Jackson

Memorial Association, brought to the attention of the Convention the movement to preserve the Chandler house in Virginia, in which Stonewall Jackson died.

The Sons expect to end their annual meeting tomorrow morning. Tammany's Pap Controls for the Nebraska-National Meet. 2—Also said to be Assured to Him.

NEW YORK FOR BRYAN.

New York, May 31.—The Herald says W. J. Bryan is practically nominated for President when the Democratic State Convention of this State meets in this city on Tuesday. There will be no opposition worth the name and overriding all precedents of the convention newly all of the delegates are instructed to support the Nebraska candidate. All plans for opposing Bryan in the national convention were founded on the hostility of the New York delegation and this having been removed the convention is assured to him in advance.

The conferences held by the opponents of the plan to instruct the delegates showed that a majority of the State Convention were against them and they gave up. With Tammany's vote and the delegates from the interior of the State who have been instructed for Bryan, his friends claim 275 of the 425 delegates in favor of instruction.

In Brooklyn the statement is made unequivocally by machine leaders that the Democrats of that borough would join Tammany in voting for instructions for Bryan. They said Kings county could not afford to antagonize Tammany unless for good cause, because of the control of the Mulholland organization over the city patronage.

Important to the Public.

THE NAVAL STATION WILL GO TO CHARLESTON.

This is the News Received from Washington—Charlestonians are Jubilant.

(Special to The State.)

Charleston, May 29.—A dispatch from Washington received here this evening states that the naval appropriation bill had been called up in the house today and the report was agreed to relative to the removal of the naval station from Port Royal to Charleston. The news was received with much pleasure and Senator Tillman and other members of the South Carolina delegation, as well as the local promoters of the project, are being warmly commended for the efforts in Charleston's interest. The passage of the bill is a clean victory for Charleston and makes the construction of the station here a certainty. The next step will be for the appointment of a committee of naval officers to come to Charleston and report upon a site for the station.

(New York Times.)

Heroism of a peculiar but higher admirable sort was displayed in Philadelphia last week by William Wood, a switchman employed in the Reading subway. A train was approaching the tower where Wood was stationed, and he had to move a certain switch to prevent a disastrous derailment. The action of the lever revealed to him that something was out of order and, hurrying to the switch, Wood found that a pivot bolt had dropped out and disappeared. The train was moving rapidly, and to save it a substitute pivot was instantly and absolutely necessary. Wood thrust his middle finger into the empty hole, signalled to a companion in the tower and the switch moved. Then Wood found himself fastened tight, so close to the track that a second's delay meant his death beneath the coming train. He did not delay—he gave one hard pull and walked away, leaving his finger behind him. The improvised pivot served the intended purpose, and the train passed safely.
