Much of the credit for the desirable conditions which now exist at Kinards and the strides it has made is due to Messrs. Smith Bros., J. W., J. M. and P. C. These gentlemen are large holders of real estate in the vicinity of Kinards and Independence and who have an abiding faith in the development of this rural section have expended their means liberally to the promotion of various enterprises, and with speaking of the progress made by Kinards the name of Smith is always associated with it. They first began merchandising at Independence in 1853, and a year later established a store at Kinards. They still conduct these establishments in which they carry a huge stock of general merchandise and plantation supplies.

During 1859 they erected at Kinards a 50 barrel roller mill which is equipped with all the latest improved appliances and the "Perfection" and "Fitz Lee" flour have already secured a high reputation and a large demand. The building of this mill has proved of incalculable benefit to the farmers of the western part of the county and has done much to promote and foster the growth of wheat as the farmers can now secure New York prices for all the grain they can grow and that right at home. Messrs. Smith also erected in 1899 a Lowery Cotton Compress, which has been largely patronized by the planters to whom it has been of inestimable advantage. Briefly summarized, Kinards and vicinity has the best farming lands in the State.
