NEWBERRY, S. C. TUESDAY, JUNE 17, 1902.

TWICE A WEEK. $1.50 A YEAR

MONEY MAKES THE MARE GO! PRICES WILL MAKE GOODS GO! Tomorrow Morning, Wednesday, June 18th the Big CUT PRICE SALE Begins.

MY AIM is to turn the big stock of Merchandise into cash, let it bring what it will. No half way business here. I would not enjoy the largest Dry Goods, Millinery and Shoe patronage in this section if I did not deserve it. My business is carried on along broad progressive lines. No catch penny schemes indulged in. My transactions are on open books to all. I don't do business on kinship or friendship but on a basis of dollars and cents. It's a fact I advertise what I have and have what I advertise. Anybody who is a judge of goods can see at a glance that my prices are 15 to 25 per cent. cheaper than any other store. You all know the reason, knowing how and where to buy, having plenty of cash to pay with.

Dress Goods and Silks.

My entire line of Black and Colored Dress Goods and Silks thrown on the market at actual first cost. Now is your opportunity to buy a fine dress for a little money. It will pay you to come a hundred miles to the BIG SALE.

Millinery Department.

I have sold thousands of dollars worth of Millinery this Spring. Now in order to reduce the surplus stock I offer every article in my Millinery department at a big reduction. If you want a hat or bonnet now is your chance to buy one for a little money.

GOVERNOR MCSWEENEY NOT A CANDIDATE.

TO RETIRE FROM PUBLIC OFFICE
AND ATTEND TO PRIVATE DUTIES.

Has Done His Duty Well to His State,
His Party and to Himself--To Retire
With Regrets on the Part of His Many Friends.

Columbia Special to News and Courier, 16th.

Gov. McSweeney has finally decided that he will not be a candidate for any office in the approaching primary. He has now nearly filled his two terms in the executive chair and feels that he has done his full duty to his State, his party and himself. It may be added that Gov. McSweeney does not avoid entering the primary from any fear of defeat, because he has been assured that his friends would take care of him; but that is neither here nor there, and of course it would have had to be tested at the primary whether he could have won or not. It may be remarked incidentally that Gov. McSweeney has never yet offered himself for any public office in this State and been defeated.

It may be mentioned that a large part of the success of Gov. McSweeney's administration has been due to his absolute confidence in and co-operation with the people of the State through their representatives. He has not ignored county delegations, as has been so often done by previous governors, but, on the contrary, he took the people into his confidence and counsel through the county delegations. And another source of the Governor's success, probably the most marked, has been his successful business training. When he went into the office of Governor he took with him his strict and orthodox business ideas, and whatever went into his office was disposed of with the utmost dispatch and publicity.

His administration, therefore, was exceedingly satisfactory to the business interests of the State, especially as he undertook no radical measures, but was satisfied to encourage the momentum of prosperity that he found in South Carolina, and he has the very great pleasure of knowing that at no period in the history of South Carolina has there been greater industrial development than during the nearly four years of his administration, and it is a source of great gratification to him to know that the wave of industrial prosperity and progress is now higher than it has ever been in South Carolina and that he is told by many business people that this has been largely due to his conservative administration and to his fostering the era of good will and good feeling on the part of all of the people.

When Governor McSweeney was asked about his not being a candidate he replied:

"I have been asked a good many times in the past few months what I intended to do politically. A great many of my friends have showed a very kind interest in my future and seemed anxious to know what I intended to do. I have invariably replied that I had not fully determined my plans and, therefore, could give them no definite answer. Many of my friends in different parts of the State have urged me to become a candidate for re-election to the office of governor. I appreciate more than I can say their kindly interest and voluntary offers of support and especially their commendation of my course as Governor. During my term of office I have endeavored to discharge my duties faithfully and conscientiously, and my purpose has always been so to act in all matters presented to me that I would feel right about whatever action I might take. Any man in public office, especially in the position of Governor, may expect to have his actions criticised. There are always those who find fault, and I have never objected to honest, legitimate and fair criticisms. I have given to the press every official act, whether it was the granting of a pardon or a commutation or the refusal of one;

whether it was the issuing of a proclamation of any kind or the appointment of an official, for I have held that the people were entitled to know what was being done by their servants. I have had no secrets, but my official acts to have been an open book to the people, whose servant I am and to them I am always ready to render account.

"In regard to the race for Governor, while I have been elected to one full term, I served nineteen months of Governor Ellerbe's term, and, while it is not forbidden by the Constitution, yet I realize that it is an unwritten law that one man shall not have more than two terms, which I have practically had. Therefore I have decided not to enter the race for re-election as Governor."

Governor, it has been intimated that you would probably be a candidate for the United States Senate to succeed Senator McLaurin."

"My friends in different sections of the State have been kind enough to urge me to make that race and, while I am not unmindful of their consideration and appreciate their good will, I have decided to retire and give my time to my private interests, which of necessity, have been sorely neglected and need my attention. I shall continue to take a lively interest in public affairs and shall at all times stand ready to contribute what I can, as a private citizen, to the upbuilding and progress of the State I love and whose people have honored me."

This decision on the part of Governor McSweeney will no doubt give a good deal of satisfaction to some of the candidates.

DR. WOODWARD IS RETIRED.

No Longer President of South Carolina College.

Columbia, June 12.—The board of trustees of the South Carolina College, after having been in session almost continuously for two days, adjourned this afternoon about 3 o'clock. As a result of the deliberations Dr. F. C. Woodward has been retired as president of the institution by a unanimous vote, it is said.

For some time the matter has been developing it seemingly being impossible for Dr. Woodward and the faculty to get along without friction and there being considerable friction between the president and the student body. It was brought before the board at this annual meeting, and after putting certain questions to members of the faculty, the board determined that Dr. Woodward's usefulness as president had ended and proceeded to retire him. Nothing in the records of the meeting reflects in any way upon Dr. Woodward's character.

Prof. Ben Sloan has been requested to act as chairman of the faculty discharging the duties of the president until the board casts about and at a later meeting, to be called, elects a president.

Dots from St. Phillips.

It is very dry in this section. We have not had any rain yet, and the crops are suffering very much.

Our debating society will meet the fourth Saturday night in June. Our subject is: Resolved, That the South will Excel the North in Manufacturing. The public is cordially invited.

The Cedar Springs Institute will close the twenty-fifth of June. The exercises will begin promptly at eleven o'clock, and the pupils will return to their homes the 26th.

I was told by one of the visitors to the exposition at Charleston that they saw the exhibits of that institution. It showed to the people what the deaf and the blind can do.

Among the number of merchants we have a new one now. Mr. W. L. Kibler has recently opened up at his home. We hope that he will prosper in business.

We thought the fruit crop was going to be fine, but insects got on the trees and has caused a lot of it to fall off.

There is a great deal of sickness in this community. Mr. Levi Kibler has been quite ill, but I am glad to say he is improving.

The barbecues will soon start and the candidates will thunder out their speeches. We are glad to know that old "Job Trump" is in the race.

I will close for this time as news is scarce. With much success to The Herald and News. Feather Top. June 8, 1902.
