THE THIRTY-FOURTH ANNUAL STATE FAIR.

FACTS ABOUT SHOW TO BE HELD IN OCTOBER NEXT.

Premium List Has Been Issued—Preliminary Announcement by the Secretary of the Society—Great Time is Expected.

[The State, 9th.]

The annual premium list of the thirty-fourth annual State fair, which is to be held in Columbia beginning on Tuesday morning, Oct. 28, and ending Friday evening, Oct. 31, has been issued and is being distributed by Col. Thos. W. Holloway, secretary of the society.

This year the following announcement is made as to the commercial display:

"For the best installed and most handsomely decorated commercial exhibit a premium of $100 will be paid. Not less than 15 to exhibit. Five dollars for floor space (15 feet front) from every exhibitor. Score points: Installation 40; decoration 60—100." This is provided to induce the merchants of the city to make displays.

All entries in all departments will close Oct. 21.

The annual special announcement reads as follows:

"The thirty-fourth annual South Carolina State fair will be held in Columbia, from Tuesday, October 28th, to Friday, October 31st inclusive.

"Entries are absolutely free, except where otherwise stated and all premiums regularly awarded are paid in full. No part of the premium money is retained by the society on any account or pretext whatever.

"The management seeks to encourage the exhibition of only such animals and products as are really meritorious and are of utility and profit to the people of the State. This is the one great object of the fair and the society is imbued with an ambition to add a new zest and a new dignity to agriculture and mechanical pursuits and secure increased influence and greater remuneration to those engaged in them.

"The premium list has been carefully revised, and the society wishes to call attention to the inducements offered that will certainly attract the best exhibits that can be shown in every class.

"The achievements of the State agricultural and mechanical society in promoting the development of agriculture and its allied industries have never been fully appreciated by its best friends; its possibilities for future usefulness in suggesting and disseminating ideas that will materialize in improved crops, live stock and from practice cannot be over-estimated.

"Not unmindful of the entertainment of its patrons, the management is endeavoring to secure a number of new and novel attractions that will both instruct and amuse. These will be announced later. All immoral shows and devices for gambling under any form whatever will be excluded from the grounds of the society; and any person caught violating any law of the State by practicing any gambling game or device will be immediately arrested.

"Realizing how large a part of the successes of the past exhibitions has been owing to the work of the fair women of the State, the society earnestly requests exhibits in the several departments.

"The large attendance at the fair offers a splendid inducement to manufacturers to make elaborate displays of their works. On all the leading railroads of the State entering Columbia excursion rates will prevail during fair week, thus extending facilities for visiting the fair to the people of every quarter of the State.

"Visitors to Columbia will find much to entertain them besides the fair. Among the places of interest may be mentioned: The State house, asylum, penitentiary, cemetery, factories, colleges, graded schools, churches, etc.

"Every effort is made by the city to entertain her visitors, who are assured that they will receive a cordial reception and spend a pleasant time. The fair is conducted for the benefit of the public at large, and their moral support and active cooperation are requested in order to make the thirty-fourth annual fair the grandest in the history of the agricultural and mechanical society."

Every effort is to be made to make the fair this year a great success, and the people of Columbia may be relied upon to do their part.

VICTORY FOR BELLINGER.

The Suit Against Alleged Trust Remanded to State Courts.

[Charleston Evening Post.]

In the United States Circuit Court today Judge Simonton handed down his decision in the case of the State of South Carolina against the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company, granting the motion of the plaintiff for the remand of the case to the State court.

The decision is a victory for Attorney General Bellinger. It will be recalled that several months ago Attorney General Bellinger brought action against the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company, in the Richland county court, under the anti-trust act, alleging that the company was purchasing and acquiring a monopoly of the fertilizer industry, contrary to law.

The attorneys for the company moved before Judge Buchanan for a transfer of the suit to the Federal court, alleging the act to be in derogation of the constitution of the United States. The judge refused the motion, but the attorneys secured copies of the proceedings and filed them in the circuit court and later Judge Simonton heard the arguments on the motion of Attorney General Bellinger for the demand.

Judge Simonton's decision is lengthy, containing many law citations. The court notes that, accompanying the records, there is no order of the State court removing the suit. "But from admissions," continues the court, "made at the bar and from the whole tenor of the arguments, it appears that the absence of the order, removing the cause, was not based upon the insufficiency of the bond, but upon the legal ground that the case made by the plaintiff, does not raise the Federal question on which alone this question involved in this discussion is grave and beset with difficulty. The State has the right to have the case brought by her, tried in her own courts, unless the constitution of the United States has secured to the defendant the right of protection in the Federal court."

Judge Simonton ruled that the Federal question did not appear on the face of the record, and he was bound to go by the record and remand the case to the State courts. The decision shows that the act of the legislature contained no mention of the constitution of the United States, and no rights, claims, privileges and immunity of Federal statutes which would bring the act into any relation or conflict with the Federal law. The court states, however, that a Federal question might be raised hereafter in the State courts, and in such an event a direct appeal can be taken to the United States Supreme Court from the State Supreme Court.

MINE DISASTER IN COLORADO.

Sixteen Men Killed and Others Reported Missing.

Trinidad, Colo. August 7.—Sixteen men are known to have been killed and some others are reported missing as the result of an explosion of gas in one of the mines of the Union Coal and Coke Company at Bowen, six miles from here, at 7 o'clock to night. The work of rescuing the bodies was begun at once and four had been taken out at 10 o'clock. No names are obtainable at this time. The mine employs about sixty men. They are all American and Irish, no Mexicans or Italians being employed. Most of the dead men are said to be married. Only meagre details have been received here.

THE STATE REUNION.

Four Thousand Confederates in Line in Greenville.

[Charleston Post.]

Greenville, Aug. 7.—Special.—The second day of the reunion opened bright and pleasant. The veterans were early on the streets, about four thousand being in the parade from Chocora College to Greenville park, where a barbecue and picnic were held. There will be an entertainment tonight at the Greenville Female College.

The reception of sponsors and maids of honor which took place last night was attended by about 150 young ladies.

ATTORNEY GENERAL IN AN ENCOUNTER.

HOW HON. PHILANDER KNOX RESENTS INSULTS.

Says he Was Uncivilly Treated—Got His Lady Companions Out of the Way, Returned to Cafe and Faced His Man.

Oyster Bay, August 8.—Attorney General and Mrs. Knox arrived here today to be the guests of President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

To a representative of the Associated Press, Mr. Knox confirmed the report that he had had a personal difficulty with a party of men in Atlantic City last Wednesday night.

"It was one of the disagreeable incidents," said he, "that sometimes occur in a restaurant or other public place. Accompanied by Mrs. Knox, my daughter and two or three friends, including District Attorney Youngs, of Pittsburg, I was dining in the restaurant of the Garden hotel. A party of men, none of whom I knew, seated themselves at an adjoining table. Their conduct was unseemly and boisterous. They talked loudly, and their comments upon members of my party and upon me were insulting, to put it very mildly.

"In the circumstances, accompanied as I was by the ladies, I could not resent their actions or their words at that time. They were evidently seeking trouble, so without attracting any more attention than possible. I got my party out of the restaurant."

"Then I returned," continued Mr. Knox, with a smile, "to see if the men really was looking for me. I think they were, for scarcely had I approached them when they sprang up. One of them aimed a blow at my stomach, but it failed to reach me. I have no idea who he was. What happened to him I am not prepared to say. Those things occur very quickly. I am quite satisfied, however, that he does not feel today as I do. You will note that I am looking first rate."

"You do not know who were in the party of your assailants?" the attorney general was asked.

"Not positively. I understand that Chas. T. Soeans, of Philadelphia, and one of the Cramps, also of Philadelphia, were in the party, but I am not at all positive.

"What actuated them I do not know.

A newspaper of today said that it had something to do with my attitude on the trust question, but that seems to be entirely unlooked for. As they sat at the table they made no mention of my action against certain so-called trusts. Their remarks were personal to me and to my family, and of such a nature that I could do nothing but resent them.

"I understand that after I left the restaurant at the conclusion of the difficulty, the waiters suppressed the crowd with some energy."

The attorney general evidently was not in the least injured by his assailants, and as he chatted about the trouble did not seem to regard it very seriously.

BOGIEING THE PISTOL LAW.

Ingenuous Scheme Said to be Practised by Some Merchants.

It was hardly to be expected that pistol dealers would comply fully with the law, because no law is ever completely observed. Hence there is no surprise that schemes are devised to avoid it.

In Charleston, and perhaps in other parts of the State, ingenious merchants have hit upon a clever method of getting around the new pistol law. It is strictly against the recent act to manufacture or sell fire arms that are less than twenty inches long and which weigh anything less than three pounds, but no provision was made for the renting or leasing of the weapons. Several hardware dealers in the upper part of South Carolina are doing a lively business disposing of shooting irons for a period of ten years, which, of course, amounts to the same thing as selling them outright.

In order to effect a transaction of this kind legal contracts are drawn up and properly signed, according to the laws of the State. A pistol worth ten dollars under the old law will now rent for ten years for about the same sum. There is a sort of silent agreement between the dealer and the customer that the ten year lease about settles the transaction.

The First Bale.

The first bale of new cotton was put on the market yesterday by Mr. A. G. Clarkson, of Eastover. It was bought by Mr. T. H. Wannamaker, of this city, who is a member of the New Orleans cotton exchange, and 9 cents was paid.—Columbia Record, 7th.

"I WILL NOT."

Such is the positive Declaration of Mr. Bryan.

Muscataine, Ia., Aug. 8.—William J. Bryan settled for all time the rumors that he will be a candidate for president in 1904, in an interview today while on the way to Danville, Ill., where he was to speak tonight. Col. Bryan, when shown yesterday's reports that he might again be a candidate, was much settled, and expressed himself in no uncertain manner. He said he wanted the matter settled right now so there could be no further question. The Mason City interview, he said was unreliable.

"I will not be a candidate for president in 1904," said Mr. Bryan.

"While I would not promise never to be a candidate again under any circumstances, I have no plans looking to the future nomination for any office. I am perfectly content to do my work as a private citizen and enjoy my editorial work. I shall continue to advocate with tongue and pen reforms which I believe to be necessary."

TILLMAN OBEYED.

His Order to Defeat Von Kolnitz Will be Carried Out if Possible.

Charleston, S. C., Aug. 7.—The state senatorial fight was still further complicated here today by Mr. F. H. McMaster announcing that he would enter the race. Mr. McMaster has served a term in the lower house and was a candidate for re-election, but he has now determined to oppose Mr. Von Kolnitz for the senate. The fight hinges upon the charge that Mr. Von Kolnitz worked for McKinley and applied for office under him, and that consequently he cannot be considered a Democrat.

ON COUNTY TICKETS.

The Names of Congressional Candidates Will Appear.

[The State, 9th.]

Much discussion has been indulged in over the fact that the names of the candidates for congress are not printed on the State tickets supplied by the executive committee. The custom is, however, that each county must print their own tickets for congressman as there would otherwise have to be seven sets of distinct tickets, corresponding to the seven congressional districts. The names of the senatorial candidates are included in the State ticket as they are voted for throughout the State.
