

By Doris Armfield

The need for a traffic light at that College-Harrington street intersection is more evident now with the weather we've had recently. I went to get the car the other day and the inside temperature must have been 120 degrees since it had been in the sun all day. I drove up Harrington Street to College and sat there and waited and waited to get across. And I wasn't the only one. There was one car in front of me and several lined up behind.

Will City Council please do something about a traffic light for that corner? Please?

I have been worried for some months now because after one of my trips away from Newberry, I came back to find that the "Pink Church" had turned white. I am speaking, of course, of St. Luke's Episcopal Church which has been, and I think should continue to be pink.

Today I passed there and the church is getting a new coat of paint. It looked erudite, but I'm hoping it might get back to its original color yet.

I don't often get "commercial" and this is entirely voluntary endorsement. I noticed that Smith's Drug Store is this week advertising Dial Soap. I ran into a bar of it a few weeks ago, and have been urging it on my friends ever since, the way I always do when I'm enthusiastic about something. You can take my word for it—this is one soap you can use and never have to worry, to quote Gabriel Heatter, about being "half safe." It's wonderful!

I've heard babies quoted as saying "da!" and that is one of the things I've wondered about—if they say it as frequently as they are given credit for saying it. I know now they do, and the proof I have is my nephew, Billy. From early morn until he retires, I'm sure he says it at least 369 times daily.

The next time when I'm reporting a hearing and the Examiner says "Miss Reporter, will you look back the last question?" I'll probably answer, "DA!"

For years I have heard of the furniture market at High Point and at last I got in the midst of one. I wasn't there to buy furniture, but when you go to High Point during furniture market, you are in it whether you want to be or not.

I had to take a hearing there Wednesday, and when I arrived at the Hotel in the hardest part of a cloudburst, I sat down in a comfortable looking chair to rest. From out of nowhere came a pleasant looking gentleman and introduced himself. I found to my dismay he was a furniture salesman, and I was sitting on one of his exhibit chairs, and he thought I was a prospective customer. He wasn't the only one mistaken, however, because I thought he was one of the lawyers on the case to be heard that day. So, for a while, we chatted unintelligently until we both discovered our mistake and he went to look for greener fields while I gathered my weary self from his shiny leather chair and went to my room for further relaxation and to avoid a chance of leaving High Point with a load of furniture for which I had no use.

Kendall Profits Show Decrease

Boston — Reporting on operations of the Kendall Company and its consolidated subsidiaries for the 24 weeks ended June 18, 1949, H. R. Lane, president, said only recently that price decreases and conservative trade buying, particularly in cotton textiles, have reduced sales volume and forced lower production schedules in many of the companies diversified activities at its 18 domestic and foreign plants, two of which are the Mollohon and Oakland Mills at Newberry.

Sales were $32,553,276 and the net profits, after provision for preferred dividends, were $2,231,362 as compared with sales and profits of $40,202,659 and $4,421,544 for the corresponding period last year.

Mr. Lane pointed out that the company's program of plant rehabilitation is progressing satisfactorily. Installation of new machinery at its Pelzer Mills (S.C.), completed early this year, has made possible anticipated cost reductions. Similar machinery replacement is currently being made at the company's Oakland Mill in Newberry, S. C.

The working capital position of the company continues strong and inventories are being kept in balance with current and prospective demand. The use of the last-in-first-out method of costing, Mr. Lane continued, has minimized the effects of declining prices on inventory valuations.

The Kendall Company's three operating divisions manufacture and distribute surgical dressings, cotton textiles and allied products.

Mayor Proclaims Third Army Day

Whereas, August 1, 1949 has been designated by the Governor of the State of South Carolina as Third Army Day to commemorate the outstanding contributions of the winning of World War II of the famous United States Third Army; and Whereas, the city of Newberry, South Carolina is within the Third Army area; and Whereas, in its brilliant and victorious drive across the continent of Europe it materially assisted in the liberation of those people and nations which had been enslaved by the ruthless coalition of Axis aggressors; and Whereas, the sacrifices of life and limb made by the members of the Third Army in the accomplishment of this mission enabled this nation to remain free and enjoy its priceless and traditional heritage of liberty for all citizens;

Therefore, I, A. P. Salley, Mayor of the city of Newberry, do hereby officially declare August 1, 1949 as Third Army Day and call on all our citizens to honor the United States Third Army on this day as foremost defender of those inalienable rights we cherish as American citizens and as a part of the United States Army which is dedicated to the defenders of our nation and to world peace.

PARTIES BEGIN FOR BRIDE-ELECT

One of a series of parties scheduled to honor Miss Anne Carpenter, popular bride-elect of August, was held Saturday afternoon by Mrs. L. F. Fischer at her home on College street. Three tables were set for bridge in the rooms of the Fischer home, which were colorfully decorated for the occasion with mixed garden flowers and tinted Queen Anne's Lace. Miss Carpenter's place was marked with a corsage of gladioli.

Out of town guests invited for the occasion were Mrs. C. A. Fischer of Orangeburg, mother of the groom-elect, and Mrs. Frank Weeks of Lone Star. Miss Katherine Kirkland was high scorer for the afternoon, with Mrs. Weeks taking the bingo prize.

A salad course and iced tea were served at the conclusion of the game. A tray of kitchen shower gifts were presented to the guest of honor.

Guests invited after cards were Mrs. E. A. Carpenter, mother of the bride-elect; Mrs. J. W. Smith, Mrs. J. T. McCrackin and Mrs. George Handy.

OLD NEGRO CITIZEN DIES

One of the city's oldest and most respected negro citizens died Monday afternoon at a Columbia Hospital where he had been a patient for a week. He was John Rutherford, known better around Newberry as by his nickname, "Jack." He was 76 years old at the time of his death.

Jack was retired from the Southern Cotton Oil Mill five years ago after fifty years of loyal and faithful service there. He has continued to stay around his former place of employment being useful where he could. Before going with the Oil Mill, he was a houseboy in the home of Mr. J. H. Summer.

His wife, who is past 70 years of age, survives him, along with seven of his fourteen children, eight grandchildren and one great granddaughter.

Jack took much pride in the home he owned on Hunter Street. He was a member of the board of trustees of Bethlehem Baptist church on College street.

Newberry Mills Starts Work 8th

An announcement was made Monday that the Newberry Mills, Inc., which have been closed for several months, will resume operation on Monday, August 8.

A working agreement was reached between mill officials and local union No. 120. An agreement was signed about 1 o'clock Monday afternoon when the issues between the company and union was resolved.

James E. Britt, manager of the mill stated that in spite of adverse economic conditions in the textile industry, the new owners of the mill have agreed to commence operations on the assurance that the utmost cooperation on the part of all personnel may be expected, so that the mill may be run in the most efficient and economical manner possible.

The management will endeavor to give everyone work wherever practical and as long as possible, a full 40 hour week. The mill ownership changed during the time the mill was closed down.
