Grandma's Sayings

I ALLUS SAY there ain't no harm in bein' headstrong, so long as ye're headed in the right direction.
—said Mrs. Melissa Winkler, Springfield, Ky.

LAND SAKES! I jest can't keep up with "Table-Grade" Nu-Maid! Now it's better 'n ever. Yep. They've improved my favorite spread... made it even better tastin'... more smooth spreadin'. And new Nu-Maid's got a brand new package to keep that sweet, churned-fresh flavor sealed in!
THERE'S LOTS o' folks jes' like pennies—you can't change 'em no matter how hard you try.
—said Christine Trost, Hickory, N. C.

IT'S PLAIN to see the difference in cakes 'n pies when you bake with a top quality shortnin'. And that means new, improved Nu-Maid—the better-than-ever margarine that's good tastin' in itself.

BROADWAY AND MAIN STREET
If the Brakes Don't Work
Just Hit Something Cheap

By BILLY ROSE

A fellow tried to sell me a helicopter the other day. He told me I could hop from the roof of my theatre to my place in Westchester in 20 minutes, and added that it was as easy to drive as a car. I told him I wasn't interested because I couldn't drive a car. How come? Didn't I ever try and learn? Just once. And here's what happened...

One day several summers ago, my wife said, "I wish you'd learn how to drive. Every time you want a paper or a pack of cigarettes, I've got to stop what I'm doing and chauffeur you into the village."
"Okay," I said, "if you'll play teacher."

Next morning I crawled into the car beside Eleanor. "Just turn this jigger over," she began, "push in this d i n g u s, pull out this doohickey, step on this windoole, press down on this thing—a m a b o b, and you're all set to go."

"What's this gizmo?" I asked.
"The hand brake," she said. "You throw it on quickly in case of emergency."
"What happens if the brakes don't work?"
"Hit something cheap," advised my spouse.

A MOMENT LATER the car went hiccupping down the road. Then for a mile it went smooth as you please. A feeling of confidence came over me, the same feeling all new drivers get just before the lights go out. I pressed down on the gas.

"The pistons seem to be knocking," I said professionally.
"Pistons nothing," said Eleanor. "Those are my knees."
Everything went fine until we got to the traffic light in the village. I forgot to press the hickey-madoodle on the gillooley and the car stalled. The lights changed from green to red, and from red back to green. A cop came over. "What's the matter?" he asked. "Haven't we got any colors you like?"

After switching the radio on and off, I suddenly pressed the right thing. In the order of the way it happened, I grazed the cop, skidded through the safety zone, clipped the fender on a bus, and came to rest with my bumper against a fire plug. The cop stalked over, took a handkerchief out of his pocket and dropped it in front of the car.

"Lookit, Gene Autry," he said. "I wana see you do that all over again, and this time pick up the handkerchief with your teeth."
Eleanor gave him the smile that used to make the front cover of "Life." "He's learning to drive," she said.

"No kidding!" said the cop. "How long is this class going to last? Some other drivers would like to use this road when Sonny Boy gets through with it."
"What did I do wrong?" I asked the officer.
"Didn't you hear my whistle? Didn't you see my signal?" he demanded.

I shook my head.
The cop sighed. "I'd better go home," he said. "I don't seem to be doing much good around here."

The
Fiction THANKSGIVING TURKEY

By
Richard H. Wilkinson

Corner

IMOGENE sat at the kitchen table and listened stary-eyed while Tony read the letter. "Dear Tony and Imogene: I was sorry to hear about Tony's ill luck down there in Carolina, and know you must be having rather a hard pull. But things are bound to straighten out. Under separate cover I am sending you a turkey for your Thanksgiving dinner. Please don't acknowledge its receipt, as your Aunt Sara might read the letter. She doesn't know I'm doing this, and I doubt if she'd approve—you know how she felt when you two got married and started out on your wild venture. My love to you both, Uncle Rufus."
Tony pulled off the last wrapper and grinned happily. Within the cardboard box there nestled a handsome, fat turkey; a delicious, palatable turkey. Tony's mouth watered at sight of it.

Accompanying the bird were vegetables galore, nuts and fruit and a real plum pudding ready for heating. It was a complete, old-fashioned Thanksgiving dinner.

At length Imogene stirred. She turned and looked through the window and there was something queer about the expression on her face. Tony saw the look and he came and sat down on the table and took her hand in his.

Imogene looked at him squarely. "I was thinking, Tony, about the Santrells. I can't help it, with this big turkey here in front of us."
Tony's hand tightened its grip. "Precious," he said gently, "you're a dear."

He was silent, then, staring thoughtfully out into the yard. The Santrells, he reflected, had probably never had a turkey for Thanksgiving. It was doubtful this Thanksgiving if they'd have anything to eat. They were poor, dirt poor, and there were eight children in the family. Mr. Santrell was sick half the time; he couldn't work, even if work were available. Their plight was pitiful. They had been too proud to ask for help; had reached a state of near destitution, when the town discovered their condition.

PRESENTLY TONY turned. He said: "Listen, sweet, as far as I'm concerned, I'd like to live through one Thanksgiving without a turkey. I've had to eat one every Thanksgiving since I can remember. It will be a welcome relief. Besides, Thanksgiving down here doesn't seem to call for a turkey. And we still have the smoked shoulder we'd planned on."

And Imogene smiled in prodigious happiness and began re-wrapping Uncle Rufus's turkey. "Darling," she said, "I've been trying to figure out one good reason for marrying you since our wedding day. And now I've found it." Whereupon she kissed him and Tony held her tight in his arms.

And so they marched over to the Santrells and undid the package on Mrs. Santrell's kitchen table and watched with a curious tugging at their hearts as the eight Santrell

The Brave of Earth

STRONG with the shining shield of their high purpose,
Brave with the silver armor of their prayer,
We see them face the day, their unseen-crosses
Almost too heavy for their hearts to bear.
Yet uncomplainingly they live the hours,
And patiently they face the lengthening years,
With none but God, himself, to know their heart-break,
And none but God to mark their unshed tears.

The hurt of earth! How ably they dissemble!
They bear with courage grief they never tell:
Self-conquerors they go, the strong, the valiant,
The brave, who smile and say that all is well.
When all awards for courage have been given,
Surely the highest will be theirs in Heaven.

GRACE NOLL CROWELL

I THREW THE CAR into reverse and backed away from the fire plug. "If you're going to drive much," yelled the cop, "I'd have the car painted red on one side and blue on the other, so the witnesses will contradict each other."

I had only one more mishap getting home. I scraped a guy's fender. He was pretty nice about it. "It's my fault," he said. "I saw you coming, I should have driven into the fields and avoided you."

There are two stone posts flanking the drive, which leads up to our home. I got past them without a scratch—also without the rear bumper. That did it.

Since then, I've never been behind a wheel. When Eleanor and I go driving I sit in the back seat and read the Burna Shave signs. The only concession I've made to the Automotive Age is to learn how to fold a road map.

JAN MINER admits that it is a rather odd distinction — she seems to have received more wedding cakes than anybody else, although she's not married. She has been wed eight times on the air, and each time fans have sent her wedding cakes. Currently starring as "Beth Lambert," alias "Carol Brent," in "Road of Life", Jan looks forward to the day when she can retire to her home in New Hampshire. The farm is on a strictly commercial basis, except for a few of her pet animals, one a horse, "Dr. Malone".

Rosalind Russell will be lured to the Broadway stage, if playwright George Kelly can do it. He wrote "Craig's Wife", one of her most successful movies and recently outlined his new play to her on the set of "Tell It to the Judge."

Randolph Scott credits the late William S. Hart with launching him on the road to screen success. Hart visited him when the star of Columbia's "The Nevadan" was working in "Roberta". "Randy," said he, "Why don't you get out of that monkey suit and into a western outfit? There's gold in them thar picture hills." Scott recently said he'll make nothing but Westerns now.

Joe DeBona, winner of the 1949 Bendix air race, has been signed by producer Lindsay Parsons for a leading role in "Smoke Hunters", the story of parachuting fire-fighters. The U. S. Forestry Service will cooperate on it.

Since a pre-view audience stood up and cheered him at a showing of "The Hasty Heart", young Richard Todd is being hailed around Warners' as the screen's newest star. An Englishman, he was one of the first British paratroop officers to jump into Normandy on D-Day. As a boy he was bedridden for three years because of rheumatic fever, regained his health by playing football.

Unaccustomed as she is to roles in which she doesn't sing, Doris Day has been given a chance to branch out; Jack Warner has assigned her to a straight dramatic part as Ginger Rogers' married sister in "Storm Center".

Add a different flavor to potato salad by marinating the chopped onions in lemon juice for an hour before mixing with the other ingredients.

Before adding the batter, drop a teaspoon of peanut butter in each muffin pan to give muffins a delicious, nutty flavor.

To retain the greatest amount of flavor in fruits, place them in a covered saucpan and cook them as fast as possible without scorching the fruit. Also do not overcook the fruit.

As a salad for children, use celery stalks filled with peanut butter. Cut the stalks into half-inch pieces and place them on shredded lettuce with banana slices of the same length. Serve with mayonnaise.

Place leftover vegetables in layers in a casserole, add cream sauce, sprinkle grated cheese on top and bake.

A two-faced darning egg is a sight-saver. Paint half the egg black and the other half white for mending dark-colored hose, and the black for light hose.

The widow probably would have been better off if she had stood over the stone-cutter as he chiseled the epitaph on her late husband's tombstone. But she was terribly grief-stricken and gave him a slip of paper with the wording she wanted on the stone.

Instead of making two separate lines he ran two sentences together with not even a comma separating the thoughts so that the epitaph read:
"Thou art at rest 'til we meet again."

Triple Return

An American comedian had just completed a tour of English theaters. The actor was asked how he liked playing before the English audiences.

"Splendid," he enthused. "I prefer them to American audiences."
"Why is that?"
"When the English audience hears an amusing story it laughs first to be polite, then it laughs again when it hears others laugh, then it laughs a third time when it gets the point of the story."

"Oh, I've bin in business," explained Abie. "I found a nice partner with lots of money and ve opened a grocery sturr."
"Naturally. You've had a lot of experience with grocery stores. Then what happened?"
"We dissolved a year later. I had the money and he had the experience."

PINK PERFECTION CAKE
Quick-method recipe

Sift together in mixing bowl:
2 1/4 cups sifted cake flour 1 tsp. salt
3 1/2 tsp. double-action baking powder (4 1/2 tsp. single-action)
Add: 1/2 cup Snowdrift (Emulsorized—quick-blending)
3/4 cup milk

Mix enough to dampen flour. Beat 2 minutes. If by hand, count beating time only. With electric mixer, use "low speed"; scrape bowl often; scrape beaters after 2 minutes.

Add: 4 egg whites (unbeaten) 1/2 cup milk
few drops red coloring 1 tsp. almond flavoring

Beat 1 minute. Turn into 2 greased 8" layer pans lined with plain paper. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) about 25 minutes. Cool and frost with—

FILLING AND FROSTING

1/2 cup water 1 egg white (beaten)
1 tsp. light corn syrup 1 tsp. almond flavoring
1 cup sugar 1/2 cup chopped figs
1/4 tsp. cream of tartar 1/2 cup chopped nuts
1/4 tsp. salt 1/4 cup raisins

Combine first 5 ingredients; cook and stir until sugar dissolves. Pour syrup gradually over beaten egg white, beating until icing "peaks". Add almond flavoring. Remove 1/2 of icing; fold in fruit and nuts; use as filling. Frost cake with plain icing; decorate with chopped nuts.
