SENATOR STROM THURMOND REPORTS TO THE PEOPLE

RESPECT OUR FLAG

"The Flag of the United States is universally representative of the principles of the justice, liberty, and democracy enjoyed by the people of the United States." So states a Presidential proclamation. But no proclamation is necessary to make such sentiments evident, for every loyal citizen feels these words in his heart.

In recent months, there has been a growing tendency among some sectors of the population to cast disrespect upon the Flag, and to vent their disagreements with national policies by committing shameful acts against it. Such people proclaim their loyalty to so-called "higher principles", or they say that the Flag is being used to support actions which displease them.

No citizen can divide his loyalties for long without falling on one side or the other. Whatever the immediate cause of disrespect to the Flag—whether thoughtlessness or emotional hostility—such a person will eventually transfer his attitude from the Flag to his Country.

WHAT IS THE FLAG?

For, after all, is it the Flag itself that we honor? What is this piece of cloth, not quite twice as long as wide, seven red and six white stripes, and a blue field of white stars? The Flag is the physical symbol of our Country. It is not simply the emblem of our lands and rivers, our cities and towns. It is the tangible evidence of our pledge to the traditions and history from which we have sprung.

The Flag is the symbol of our pledge to the Constitution, and the restraints upon Federal power.

The Flag is the symbol of our dedication to personal freedom and representative government.

The Flag is the symbol of law and order, and such basic human rights as property, social independence, and the right to work for our families.

Finally, the Flag is a symbol of the courage, strength, and steadfastness of the men who have rallied around its standard in war and peace.

Whether they wish to do so or not, men live by their symbols. During the so-called "Vietnam Moratorium", the college newspaper of a famous Northeastern university printed the Viet Cong flag in full display on the front page. This adoption of the flag of the enemy cannot be countenanced.

On the other hand, the Birmingham News gave its whole front page to a full color depiction of the Stars and Stripes, in a kind of counter-demonstration. As a result, the Armed Forces recruiting officers in that city reported a great leap in the number of enlistments on that day.

NATURAL ORDER

Our respect for the Flag is part of the natural order of our loyalties—to our family, to our community, to our State, to our region, and to the Nation. It is for this reason that the Flag Code gives the United States Flag precedence over every other flag displayed on our territory.

By law, no flag can be above or to the right of the United States Flag. The United Nations flag or any other international flag is forbidden to be flown equal to, above, or in a position of superior prominence to the United States Flag.

Such regulations are carefully considered and appropriate. The code requires that the Flag fly only from sunrise to sunset. It should be hoisted briskly, and lowered ceremoniously. The law requires that it should fly near the administration building of every public institution, near every polling place on election days, and near every school on schooldays. Such ceremonies are essential to the building of proper patriotism.

Last year, the law was changed to prescribe a penalty of $1,000 or one year in jail, or both, for anyone who knowingly mutilates, defaces, defiles, burns or tramples upon the Flag. That penalty is small enough. Whoever casts disrespect upon the Flag, casts disrespect upon his country.
