REFORM! REFORM!

Our radical exchanges teem with virtuous promises of reform; That is a catch word, and should read with a stress on the first syllable, RE form to plunder again. It has been reform for the past six years, and the grab was bigger each time. Judging by the past if the radicals have another reform they will leave nothing behind but the 'savor of their virtuous deeds.' A shepherd can afford to lay claims to a lamb without suspicion; but when a wolf prowls around, his reputation stands against him. Reform by studying and practising the decalogue; then raise whatever cry you will, it may three white and six colored, the scholars excite some attention. Until then do not insult the public ear with the word reform.

THE BANK OF THE STATE. We have before us the cat that has so long been hid in the meal tub; the explanation of the sudden, and to many of us expected change of front in the "Moses" trial, and we are the more confirmed (if that be possible) that from Governor to henchman, all through, the principle of party rules everything even justice trickles out of the party spiggot, as party influence chooses to statements from one of the Trustees dispense it. The man is a fool who admits any influence, that conflicts with, or liasses justice; the man is a knave that uses any such influence, to defeat justice, in strengthening vice. How far favor, fear, or other consider- 11 mills to be appropriated for this am of the same opinion. I want it to ation affected the Ccurt in the late Moses farce, may find some explanation in the report submitted by the committee (Messrs. Miles, Jones, Hagood and Bratton) on behalf of the taxpayers convention. It was evident that Moses base as he is, was being took the chair and turned the meeting used to pull nuts out of the party fire, into one for public speaking. Mr. S. and that his degraded position was a Dibble was then called on for a speech, step stone to some adventurer who if he first begged to be excused; but after he did not aid to trip him, is not a whit awhile reflected, and in his usual forci- to the church by him of two lamps and more virtuous than the creature he | ble and graceful style made a few re- one lantern. calls governor, and whom he fawns upon only to stab. Moses was guilty nominated for Congress, and about of larceny, as he is guilty of a thousand that time I left and went home about crimes that degrade his office, yet the my. same party lash that herded his constituents to make him a Governor is cracking over the head of the Court | Dear Times: which is the creature of the party. Moses and his constituency, the assembly and the Courts, are all a ring, and the throne above the conclave is "the party." "The party" is corruption. Why should the Court contrive to keep Moses from the meshes of law? Is it compatible with the purity of its deportment? Why should it protect Moses from a trial? It would seem to any candid mind that he should court an investigation of the charges, if as stated in his late disclaimer he is the "meek Moses." It is very evident that there were outside considerations, that smothered justice, and the casual reader may discover them in the loose, nay criminal conduct of the Judge who manipulated for the benefit of Moses the party and others the assets of the Bank of the State. So low have the affairs of public life sunk in the abyss of debauched morals, that even a judge in the discharge of duty can be blackmailed, and silenced. Chamberlain writes "I confess that I am astonished that Judge Graham should have permitted the loans made, after spending five years in collecting the assets of this bank, and just upon the eve of a final decree, these assets are being scattered here and there upon securities not a what better than those which were the cause of so much loss heretefore to the bank" * * * "If this thing is continued I wash my hands of it, and I now protest against it as wholly unwarranted in law and good policy. The State is unquestion-ably liable for all debts of the bank not paid by these assets, and I cannot sit by and see them scattered in this most ruinous manner." A people

ORANGEBURG, S. C., June 27, 1874. A meeting was called at 12 o'clock to-day for the purpose of levying a School Tax for this township. A motion was made that Mr. H. Riggs should act as chairman and Mr W. K. Crook secretary. Mr. Samuel Dibble asked for information, "how many Public Schools are in this Township." Mr. T. C. Andrews made a report of nine, of which numbered about 1200. Mr. Andrews made statements showing how this Township stood in finance. A motion was then made that a committee of three be appointed to find out what amount would be required to carry on the schools for the coming year; the motion was put before the house and lost. After considerable debate a motion was made that the tax of 1! mills be levied for the purpose of carrying on the Public Schools of this township, one mill to be appropriated for school purposes and the half mill to pay the past indebtedness. Mr. Sam'l Dibble's showed that 11 mill would be sufficient; his remarks on the subject were very appropriate, however the vote of tax of 12 mills was lost, and the amount of 2 mills was substituted in its stead, colored man to stop, I will say that I year's school purposes and 1 mill for stop; but give us our rights first in the the past indebtedness. A Letter from Greenville.

Since writing my last the "Mountain city" has been the scene of a good deal of excitement. This is commencement week, and has brought up friends of the institution to witness these pleasing exercises. The students have had quite a happy time, the most of them have by this time reached home, some however, will remain over until next week, in order, to attend the commencement exercises of Wofford College.

On Weenesday morning the regular commencement of the University took place in the chapel, which was well decorated by the kind ladies of Greenville. Certificates of distinction were awarded the young men who passed their examinations, and addresses were delivered by four young men who were declared graduates. On Thursday morning Gen. L. M. Ayer, formerly of Barnwell, delivered an address before the young ladies of the Greenville Female College.

This is also court week, his Hopor Judge T. H. Cooke presiding. The Greenville Daily News (Democrat) compliments the Judge highly for his promptness in dispatching business. Honor to whom honor is due.
