THE CALDRON BOILS

The First Guns of the New York Campaign Fired.

THE ENEMIES OF THE TIGER CONFER.

Good Government Clubs Adding to Their Strength and Membership—Political Returns to Their Wards in the City.

New York, September 5.—This week signals the formal opening of the political campaign in this city. The politicians are hurrying back to the metropolis from their summer outings, ready and eager for the fray. Mayor Gilroy has sailed for home on the Trave. He is expected to arrive Saturday. Ex-Sheriff O'Brien has returned from his Saratoga sojourn and assumed personal charge of the anti-Tammany democracy. Ex-Mayor Grace and ex-Secretary Whitney are preparing to cut short their European tours.

The first real gun of the campaign was fired last night when a conference of anti-Tammany organizations was held to talk over a basis for a union ticket. The conference was called by the good government clubs. It was attended by representatives of the O'Brien faction, the Grace democracy, the German-American reform union, the independent county organization and other organizations. The regular republican organization was also represented.

Great activity prevails among the good government clubs. The monthly meeting of the council of confederated good government clubs was held yesterday afternoon. Matters of importance came up in addition to the routine business, among them the admission of several new clubs to representation in the council. The municipal reform club met last night. This organization is a new one. The leading spirits in it are ex-Alderman Horatio Harris, who severed his connection with Tammany hall some time ago, and William E. Lowe, formerly of the defunct Massachusetts club.

Strike May Result from Using Iron from the Eagle Works.

New York, September 5.—A big strike, it is said, threatens Contractor Condon, who has the contract for building the new Roman Catholic church at 167th street and Franklin avenue, this city. It is alleged that the contractor is employing non-union men and securing his iron work from the Eagle iron works of Williamsburg, where non-union men are said to be employed. It is expected that the board of walking delegates and the building trade section of the central labor union will support the iron molders' conference board in any fight against the use of material from the Eagle iron works.

The contest over the correct boundary has been in progress for almost a century, and many bloody conflicts have occurred.

New York, September 5.—Citizen George Francis Train is in constant attendance and in all his glory at the big crank convention now being held at an Eighth Avenue museum. The suicide crank, the horse racing crank, the spiritualistic crank, the political crank, the women's rights crank and a half dozen others of both sexes and all tenets are there haranguing and arguing. Every crank tells a pet tale to the audience.

ATLANTA, September 5.—In this city, September 5th, a meeting of tobacco manufacturers and tobacco raisers of the United States has been called, and indications are that the convention will be largely attended and enthusiastically determined to make the exhibit one of the most notable of the exhibition. The local organization of tobacco men, with Mr. Eugene Christian at the head as permanent chairman, and Mr. J. E. Maddox, secretary, first entertained the idea of a tobacco building. The idea was fully discussed and resolutions looking toward that end adopted.

The Cotton Field Negroes Demand Fifty Cents per Hundred Pounds.

COLUMBIA, S. C., September 4.—The negroes in Georgetown county, on the Santee river, are being organized into clubs for the purpose of demanding fifty cents in cash for every one hundred pounds of cotton they pick. All members pledge themselves to abide by this rule and to thrash any other negro who do act otherwise. The fields all around are almost groaning with cotton bursting from the bolls, but the negroes have been so stirred up by secret agents travelling about that they will not touch the cotton, although they are in want, except for fifty cents cash.

The counterfeiters consisted of dollars, halves and quarters, and are the best that were ever made. Several thousand dollars of the spurious coin were circulated in southwest Arkansas.

It is estimated that from 22,000 to 25,000 men were in line, marching behind the American flag, and with their hundreds of handsome banners leading color and brilliancy to the scene. All of the offices and institutions closed and there was a general suspension of business.

THE HALF ONLY TOLD

The List of the Dead in the Northwest Increases Hourly.

RELIEF PARTIES AND THEIR LABORS.

The Story of Lost to Life and Property Increases in Magnitude as the Work Progresses—Heavy Rainfall has Extinguished the Fires.

DULUTH, Minn., September 5.—Not a single human habitation has been left standing except a section house at Miller in a stretch of territory twenty-six miles long and nearly as wide; and in every part of the track of the flames, bodies of men, women, children, horses and cattle were found. The position of every body found outside of Hinckley shows that shelter of some kind was sought by the agonized sufferers, and the dead are found in holes, behind overturned stumps, trees, marshy depressions, and in every water course.

The general shape of the fire-swept district is like a huge cigar, with a southwestern end about Mission creek and the upper terminal a few miles east of Finlayson or Rutledge.

Settlers and Their Homes Gone.

From this number of branches extend northward to beyond the tracks of the Eastern Minnesota railway. The work of the flames has been complete and cyclonic in character. Where the fire held sway not a single tree is standing except as a blackened stump. Thousands of overturned trees are lying prostrate and the roots were burning fiercely up to last evening, when the welcome rain fell. A careful canvass reveals the fact that seventy-two settlers' homes, outside of towns, fell. As near as can be learned about 500 people were in these homes. At Brookdale, a little town on the Eastern Minnesota railroad, south of Hinckley, about ninety persons took refuge in the water of a small creek. Out of this place sixty-seven dead bodies were taken and buried and some thirty living persons were rescued, some badly burned.

Hundreds of people, including those of the very highest social standing in the city, have been working day and night since Saturday night, having organized thoroughly into all needed sub-committees, and have, in a systematic way, taken care of men and women, children and babies.

The County Thoroughly Canvassed.

S. A. Thompson, who went out on the burial train yesterday, has returned. All the way down the trainmen wished to throw people off who almost had to go along and take in the grave sights. At Finlayson a party headed by Ed Finlayson dropped off and went east several miles, visiting among other places the Billedeau farm, where the bodies of three children were found. The rest of the family had gone to Sandstone. A party headed by Fred Reynolds dropped off near Skunk lake, and got the bodies of Mrs. Lind and five children, whose home was a half mile west of the track. The train picked up the bodies of Little and Elder, two operators of the North American telegraph company, who had been sent out to the scene of the trouble. The train picked up eleven bodies, including that of General Passenger Agent Rowley, of the Winnipeg road, near the track.

It was learned that Pine lake, a settlement seven miles west of Finlayson, was untouched, but nothing has been heard of Sand lake, a settlement away from the railroad, and it is feared it has gone up in smoke.

The burial train reached Hinckley at 6 p. m. The coroner of Pine county said there were 271 bodies already picked up in Hinckley alone, with more to follow. They were piled up in boxes and coffins near the track like so much cord wood.

BACK TO LEGAL DEATH.

Hoke Secret Flays the Insanity Dodge but is a Hardened Criminal.

COLUMBIA, S. C., September 4.—B. E. Gray, alias Hoke Secret, a white man from North Carolina, was released from the state penitentiary yesterday after serving a term for assault and battery, and immediately thereafter he was "jugged" by an officer from North Carolina, who carried him to what will probably be his legal death.

Twelve years ago Secret went to Union, in this state, and married a young girl. The pair boarded the train at once and after they had reached North Carolina, scarcely twelve hours after they were married, Secret took his child bride into the woods and killed and buried her. Twice was he tried for murder and convicted, but each time he played the insanity dodge successfully and each time he escaped. After the first escape, he came to this state and served two years in the penitentiary for larceny. After being tried again in North Carolina for murder, and after again escaping from the insane asylum, he went to Spartanburg, S. C., where he was confined for three years for his inhumanity. He got another term in the stone hold on the Congress in this city, and yesterday his term expired. During his term in the penitentiary here he showed no signs of insanity, but as to all appearances a hardened criminal.

Jackson was shot in the head, in the thigh, and in the leg. He tried to reach a shot gun but was weak and could not. The burglar jumped through a window to a roof and climbed down a fire escape. The convention passed resolutions unqualifiedly endorsing the administration of Cleveland, the "people's president," and closed with the following: "We commend him for his unflinching integrity; his bold adherence to the right, his uncompromising fealty to his party and his country; we look forward for such results from his administration as shall secure the fulfillment of our party's pledges of republican misrule."

A negro politician named Jenkins told the Gaston crowd that he was deluded. Gaston and his lieutenants got mad at Jenkins. Last night there was a pitched battle between the two forces. Gaston was shot in the head. Six others were wounded but none dangerously.

THE WAR AGAINST HIPPOLYTE.

Flooting Against the Present President With the Purpose of a Change.

There is much discontent at the methods of President Hippolyte and his enemies are continually plotting against him with the hope of placing Mangant at the head of the government. The latter is at Kingston, penniless, and dependent wholly upon the bounty of his friends.
