FRIDAY, AUGUST 15, 1879.

Orangeburg.

In a material point of view Orangeburg has made rapid strides since the war, and has kept well apace with her sister towns in the State. Phoenix like, she has twice risen from her ashes, and stands forth grandly to day as an exemplar of energy and enterprise.

Where but a few years ago the honest toiler drove his plough and plied his hoe, spacious streets are rattling with the bustle of trade, and the smoke of happy cottages gracefully curls towards the heavens. Within our recollection Amelia street has been extended to the depot, and Cedar street has connected Broughten with the railroad. The Fair Building stands as a modest but substantial monument to the industry of our farmers.

Besides these improvements, an incalculable impetus has been given to trade and industry by the suc cessful establishment of Messrs. Straus, Street & Fowles, and the manufacturing enterprises of Messrs. Doyle, Riggs, and Wiles, to say nothing of the public_spirit of our merchants and citizens generally.

And now comes the Sugar Refinery of Mr. Cornelson, which is destined to exercise a powerful influence in the development of our resources, and the prosperity of our town and County. · Euch is only in part what has been accomplished for Orangeburg in a material sense. But what else do we need? We answer combined efforts, and the provision of all the facilities for the intellectual advancement of the rising generation.

All the efforts in this line in our town have been individual, but the fostering care of the town to itseduca tional institutions is always more conducive to stability and success. In this respect other towns are ahead of us. There is hardly one but what has its academy building; and in most cases the school is under the control of Trustees appointed by the town, and is either wholly or partially supported by municipal taxation. Special legislative enactment is generally made, as it is not always advisable for the town to deliver its educational interests entirely over to the State.

Charleston has its High school. Winnsboro' its Graded school. Greenville teems with its intellectual atmosphere emanating from its classic walls.

Why should not Orangeburg be likewise favored with municipal educational provisions? We only throw out the suggestion that our people may think, and look to their interest. It can be done, if we are in excast. At some future time we will resume the subject.

The True Issue.

The letter of Mr. Dix, a leading Republican of Massachusetts, to Mr. Hill of Georgia, together with the "national idea" evolved from Mr. Sherman's speech, and the numerous straws of Grantism, every where visible, point out clearly and distinct ly the real issue between the two great national parties.

It is consolidation and nationality on the part of the Republicans, and constitutional checks and limitations on the part of the Democrats.

The constitution is in the way of the Republicans, and they want to destroy it, obliterate all State lines, and establish one consolidated nation on this continent.

Mr. Dix is honest enough to con fess that "the main duty of the Republicans, after the war was over, was to destroy the constitution of the United States," and establish a nation al constitution, in which the States, with all their courts and other machinery, shall be wiped out.

This is doubtless the real feeling behind Republican policy, but so monstrous a change can only be accomplished by degrees, and they are aiming at it in this way. Such a government would be the natural empire of Casarism, and this is the ultimate aim of Grant and his followers.

It is, what has been predicted by our best statesmen for years, and would be a certain result of the elimination of Democratic teaching, if such a thing were possible. This alone keeps it in check. The Democratic party is the great conservator of the coun-

A White Race in Africa.

Maj. Pinto, a bold Portuguese traveller, has discovered in the centre of Africa, a race whiter than the Caucasian. In the place of hair, their heads are covered with tufts of short woo!.

The supposition that they are Albines is out of reason, from the fact that the Albino is rather an abnormal product of nature than a separ ate species.

The fact is in perfect accord with the established theory of physiologists that climate I as little to do with

The suggestion has been made that this strange race is the offspring of some Goth or Vandal tribe forced here centuries ago, and compelled to keep tegether for self preservation.

Maj. l'into's lectures in Europe upon his travels into the interior of A frica are exciting intense interest every where.

Farmers in Council.

The State Grange and Agricultural Society is now in joint session in Chester, Col. J. N. Libscomb and Hon, B. F. Crayton presiding.

The attendance is larger than usual, and great interest is manifested.

Addresses have already been delivered by Gen. Johnson Hagood on stock raising, Col. A. P. Butler on fish culture, and Maj. T. W. Woodward on general topics.

Col. McMaster also made some interesting statements in regard to oatmeal as a most wholesome article of human food. Orangeburg is represented.

The Barien Canal.

The opening of this canal through the isthmus of Darien, thus connecting two oceans, and shortening the distance of travel between the Contineuts, must be powerfully feit upon the trade of the world, and should be universally encouraged.

The route has been adopted as proposed by Licut. Wyse; and Mr. L. DeLesseps, the famous engineer of the Saez Canal, will be at the head of the company. Books are now open for subscription, which we hope will soon be filled, as the enterprise must prove an incalculable blessing

The Hon. James S. G. Richardson an eminent lawyer of Sumter, and for many years reporter of the Sapreme Court of this State, died on the 11th inst., at the Rockbridge Alum Springs in Virginia, in the 64th year of his age.

Stephen D. Lee, a distinguished and venerable educator of North and South Carolina, was killed near Ashville a few weeks ago by a fall from his buggy.
