

The Devil and his Lawyer.

The devil came up to the earth one day, And to a court house wended his way— Just as an attorney, with a very grave face, Was proceeding to argue the points in the case.

Now a lawyer, His Majesty never had seen, For in his denunciations none ever had been; And he felt very angry, the reason to know Why none had been sent to the regions below.

'Twas the fault of his agent, His Majesty thought, That none of those lawyers had ever been caught.

And for his own pleasure he felt a desire, To come to the earth and the reason inquire.

Well, this lawyer who rose with a visage so grave, Made his opponent a consummate knave; And the Devil was then greatly amused, To hear the attorney so loudly abused.

But as soon as the speaker had come to a close, The counsel opposing him fiercely arose And heaped such abuse on the head of the first, As made him a villain—of all men the worst.

Thus they quarreled, contended and argued so long, 'Twas hard to determine which one was wrong, And concluding he'd heard quite enough of the fuss, "Old Nick" turned away and soliloquized thus:

If all they have said of each other be true, The Devil has surely been robbed of his due; But I'm satisfied now that it's all very well, For these lawyers would ruin the morals of hell.

They have puzzled the court with their villainous cavil, And I'm free to confess that they have puzzled the Devil,

My agents are right to let lawyers alone, If I had them they'd swindle me out of my throne.

A young gentleman from St. Louis was walking along the shore at Lake Michigan with a Chicago girl, when he saw on the sand what he supposed to be a devil-fish, with its long tentacles spread out upon the submerged soil of Illinois. He was awakened from his dream by the young lady, who said: "I have just dropped in my glove!"

The difference between the Democratic and Republican parties is, that the Democrats are continually doing foolish things, but commit no crimes, while the Republicans are guilty of countless crimes, but commit no foolish mistakes. The result is that the party of shrewd knaves is hard to defeat.

The unseen, and therefore unexpected is what surprises us when suddenly developed. It is for this reason that, unlike the obvious bark of a tree, the sudden bark of a dog startles us so, especially of dark night.

No matter how often a young lady's hat is lost, it is almost certain to turn up—either behind or at the side.
