

SUICIDES.

CARL TELLS OF SEVERAL DESPERATE PEOPLE.

When He Is Informed That It is a Green Game He Resolves to Get Even.

"Sergeant, mebbe I doan, understand how it vhas exactly," said Mr. Dunder as he called at the police station the other day with a look of anxiety on his countenance.

"How what was?" queried the sergeant.

"About dose suicides. Vhas it my peoness if somebody suicides?"

"Tell your story."

"Vhell, a stranger comes in my place and looks sorrowful and homesick. Pooty soon he says to me:

"Mr. Dunder, she vhas no use. I make a big figit, but I vhas beaten. I haf made oop my mind to shuffle off some mortal coils. I vhas going to die right here and now, and I like to say goodby to you who vhas always eforbody's friend. Farewell, oldt man!"

"Vhell, dot scares me, you know. I doan't like nobody to suicide in my place and haf some big pieces in der papers, and so I speak softly to him and gif him a glass of beer and feefty cents and get him outd. Der wery next day dot second man comes in and sits down and throws his hat on der floor and says:

"Carl Dunder, my wife, shildren, home and fortune vhas swept away, and I doan't like to live any longer. Please gif me a private room in which to expire, and mebbe you vhas so good shas to see dot my grave vhas kept green."

"I see," said the sergeant.

"Vhell, I can't gif dot man no private room, and I doan't like dot coroner to come around. So I fill him oop and gif him some shange, and he goes away happy. He says if he dies he vhill bless me. Vhas dot like you expected?"

"Yes—what else?"

"Der next day dot third man comes. He vhas a slim man and he vhas weeping. He goes over by a little table and cries like some shildren. By und by he looks oop and says:

"Mr. Dunder, I vhas some wrecks out dot sea of life. It vhas no more use to struggle against adversity. I make a good figit, but I vhas licked. Please gif me a leedle water dot I may take some poison and bid dis world a last adieu!"

Do I want some dead man lying around mit all dose reporters rushing in to put it in der papers? Not I speaks that man wery kindly, and I pats him on der shoulder, and in 10 minutes he drinks some beer and takes feefty cents and says he vhill go by his brother in Buffalo to expire. Vhas dot right?"

"Did a fourth man come?"

"Yes, and a fifth and a sixth. I shust get dot sixth man outd doors before I come away. He vhas a fat man, and it takes a quart of beer and some cents before he says he vhill struggle some more mit dis cold world."

"Mr. Dunder, you vhas been played again," said the sergeant.

"Vhas I taken for greenhorns and hysseds by dose men?"

"Exactly."

"Und nobody vhas going to expire in my house?"

"No. It was a sort of gum game. It's a wonder that somebody doesn't beat you out of your shirt. I vhas talked and talked, but—"

"Well!"

"Pooty queek after I vhas bottle a man vhill come in und look tired und weary und discouraged. He vhill take out some white powder in a paper and say to me:

"Mr. Dunder, I can't fight dis world no more. I vhas going to dot land where eferbody vhas an angel mit wing and sing all day long. Please gif dot my legs vhas straightened out in the coffin, und dot I hold a rose in my hand."

"He vhill say that to me, sergeant und do you know how I shall perform? I vhill catch him by der neck und flap him dis vhay und dot vhay und round like dis, und I vhill haf to dot door und kick him 17 times mit both feet at once! Dot vhas some gum game, eh? I vhas vhenher, vhas? You keep quiet! If you hear some body cry for mercy, doan't come up mit der patrol wagon. You vhill know it vhas only the helping dose weary pilgrims to shuffle off dose mortal coils und become angels so queek dot dey doan't haf time to say goodby!"

THE KICKER.

Something about the Fellow Who Is Never Satisfied.

It re's to the kicker, may his nose get quic'fer and his face lose its miserable frown: In his present moody state, just let him kick at fate as he pulls for another town.

In every city and town, these kickers abound, with their heels ever working in the air; They kick like a mule, or a cow at a stool, or a bucking mustang on a tear.

They kick up a dust, when told that they must move up a peg or two; But a hitch in their belt is all that is felt, and a little more kicking is all that they do.

They kick at the press, their dead level best, and swear that it is bought with gold; But they kick not enough, to destroy the relish for a puff from the columns that have been sold.

They kick at the preacher, and call him a screecher, who howls at the prevalence of sin; They think him unwise, and his warnings all lies, and wonder why he raises such a din.

They kick at the laws, and without any cause, while they wink at the reign of crime; They are half ready to faint, at the idea of restraint, that keeps them from enjoying a bully good time.

They kick at the schools, the teachers are fools, who don't understand what they teach; Their children run wild, under discipline so mild, and learning is utterly out of their reach.

They kick at the town, when the investor is around, and they dampen the ardor of all; They give it as their belief, that there can be no relief, and solid institutions must go to the wall.

They kick at the State, both early and late, and wait at the passage of sumptuary laws; They sigh for old times, when dollars were as dime while they vainly listen for applause.

They kick at honest labor, with the keenness of a sabre, while bemoaning the hardness of fate; They dislike to rustle or to get up and hustle, but just jog along at a comfortable gait.

They kick at old death, with their verry last breath, and thoughts of the hereafter are far from sweet; As they obey the last call, which must come to all, they respond by kicking both feet.

They kick when they awake, in that botanomics lake, where the temperature is so uncomfortably warm; But as they kick and roll, old Nick will shovel coal, and their fancy can do no harm.

They kick higher, but it don't destroy fire, and old Nick smiles with glee; As the kicker begins to burn, he gives him a turn, and says "please kick a little harder at me."

Oh kicker take warning, or else some fine morning you may awake in sulphur and flame; Just rest up your legs and move up your pegs, and remember the devil knows you by name.

Austin, Texas, H. C. A. McEARCHER.

He Got Away.

"Be you the man who keeps the Marriage book?"

The voice was sharp and high and the manner in which the inquiry was delivered caused the busy clerk in the department of vital statistics to drop his pen and wheel about.

"Great Scot! What a libel on beautiful woman met his eye. This creature was gait and tall He long and bony hands and wrists were strong and dirty, and her ginger-hair was wadded on her head. She looked formidable.

"I say, mister, I want to know if you keep them marriage books, and be spy about it, 'cause I don't wantter waste no time."

The creature was the possessor of a set of uneven, snakelike teeth, which she was constantly digging at with her finger while talking, and when assured that that was the place to find the books she mumbled:

"Kin you find out when Ed Galpin was married?"

A search brought to light the fact that a person was married about a weeks previous.

"Umph!" she grunted, "married Lize Waters, didn't he?"

"He did," answered the clerk.

"Well, I'm Lize," said the woman. "an I jest drapped in to tell you that he's escaped."

In old times it seemed to be thought that a medicine must be nauseating to be effective. Now, all this is changed. Ayer's Sarsaparilla, one of the most powerful alternatives, is agreeable to most palates, the flavor being by no means medicinal.

Johnson's Oriental Soap imparts a delicate odor and leaves the skin soft and velvety. Sold by Dr. J. A. Hoyd.

Do you want the best household sewing machine on the market, then buy the "New Home" No. 9 or Standard of Blackwell Bros.

Sufferers from chills a fever, who have used quinine as a remedy, will appreciate Ayer's Ague Cure. This preparation, if taken according to directions, is warranted a sure cure. Residents in malarial districts should not be without it.

AYER'S Cathartic Pills

A friend speaks through the Booth-bay (Me.) Register, of the beneficial results he has received from a regular use of AYER'S Pills. He says: "I was feeling sick and tired and my stomach seemed all out of order. I tried a number of remedies, but none seemed to give me any relief until I was induced to try the old reliable AYER'S Pills. I have taken only one box, but I feel like a new man. I think they are the most pleasant and easy to take of anything I ever used, being so finely sugar-coated that even a child will take them. I urge upon all who are in need of a laxative to try AYER'S Pills. They will do good."
