The Sensation of the Period! Strange but True!

HARD TIMES BE CONE!

HAVING been watching for some-time past the financial pulse of the country and the ever varying events of the trading world with a view to the in-crease or decrease our weekly purchases, we are prepared to announce to our num-crous patrons that our investigation of these subjects has been perfectly satisfactory and that we have as a consequence forwarded larger orders than ever be-fore to our New York agency.

The year 1889 therefore begins with flattering prospects for farmers, mechanics and all other laborers alike. The financial pulse of the country is steadily improving and having returned almost to a hard money basis, we shall gradually but surely recover our former prestige and the so long declining prosperity of our beautiful Southern land. Being firmly impressed with the fore-shadowings of these approaching eyents we have made arrangements commensurate with the demands they will disclose.

Our Agent in New York is already in receipt of our instructions directing him to be on the alert for every sale and fail-ure as well as every house tottering on the brink of bankruptey, so that he, with cash in hand may take in every bargain and thus enable us during the present year not only to increase our own rechanging source of assistance to our friends by selling them goods far below the wholesale market of New York.

It was the credit system that paralyzed

our industries in the past and caused so many interests to droop and wither while every article needed for family consump-tion doubled in value. Thus while labor was inadequately compensated, goods of every description approached almost fabulous prices and the daily sweat of a man's brow barely obtained for himself and family the commonest necessaries of life. Too much credit will always create demands greater than the sources of sup-ply will satisfy, hence everything takes an upward tendency under its operations. On the other hand cash transactions will make the supply larger than the demand and consequently goods fall to bottom prices when this rule prevails. We long ago acopted this system and find that it works splendidly in all its bearings. If you follow it you will be sure never to buy what you do not want, and in this way keep you from the iron clutches of

We pay eash for all our goods before cave the place bought from. Hence our ability (independent of our unrivaled facilities for buying) to outstrip and un-dersell all our competitors. The mer-chant who buys on time, (and who of them doesn't) not only has to pay the high-est prices for what they get but also the additional percentage added on all credit sales. Now all this comes out of the consumer, the man who patronizes the time merchant at home. It will at once be perceived that the difference between us is vast indeed, and that the buyer on credit system cannot purchase goods at market prices, while we, by paying cash, get the most extraordinary bargains at a large discount on wholesale cash prices is therefore quite easy for us to sell below other merchants and guarantee perfect satisfaction in every case.

Our system is one of our own, and has many advantages which we shall not explain, but let it suffice that the larger portion of the benefits arising from it are reaped by our friends and patrons, and by it we have established a reputation near and dear to us. With honesty, fair dealing, quick sales and small profits as our watchwords we have conquered the demon of high prices and forced from him the acknowledgement that he has been systematically swindling and de-franding the people.

We have demonstrated to thousands in this and other counties that it is possible when dealing with a fair and honorable merchant who buys strictly for easi, to purchase goods at prices which were current before the war. To buy and sell goods does not necessarily imply that to be successful one must either be a conscienceless extortioner or a grasping Shylock, as in every other calling the merchant can dignity and ennoble his profession or he can sink it into iniquity and trail its courtly garments through cesspools of deceit, dishonesty, fraud and double distilled misrepresentations. He can be a blessing or a curse to his country. As for us we prefer a good name with a slow but steady increase in business to the gouging process which makes one merchant rich to-day and a thousand poor farmers penniless and breadless to-you avoid the Scylia of credit on the one side and the Charybdis of a lein execu-tion on the other. To trade with us is to insure satisfaction, increase your wealth and general prosperity. Week after week during the present year we shall spread daily upon our counters a stock of goods as varied as the leaves of the forest. forest. A cordial invitation is extended to every one who reads this circular to give us a call, no trouble to show goods or answer questions.

We will sell tor one dollar cash what you will pay three for in October if you buy on credit. We buy direct from the cheapest markets in America for each less the large discount, and can and will sell as low as the wholesale merchants of Charleston, New York or Baltimore, and to those who favor us with their reg-ular custom we offer as rare inducements as were ever offered in this or any other as were ever offered in this or any other community. Our goods arrive weekly and must be sold, look to your interest and call on us when you visit town.

Farmers, look to your own welfure, you who have sunk low and lower each succeeding year while the middle men around you have grown rich in comforts and wealth, you have barely lived by working from sun to sun the way record. working from sun to sun the year round, while others have added thousands to their already plethoric treasures, by selling on credit to you in the spring and collecting in October and Nobember the sweat stained profits of many a merclless bargain. Let our farmers eschew this in future and learn to watch as well as pray—let them break from the old beaten paths of credit and rain, and demand an
