ORANGEBURG, S. C., JULY 9, 1880.

NOTICE.—We have made arrangements with the proprietors of the News and Courier to club their mammoth Weekly with the Democrat at $3 per annum, for both papers, cash in advance.

OFF FOR THE MOUNTAINS.—Mr. J. C. Pike and family left Orangeburg for Glenn Springs on Tuesday last and will spend the summer in the up-country among the mountains and at the watering places. We wish them a pleasant time and safe return home.

INSTALLED.—The following officers of Edisto Lodge, No. 33, I. O. O. F., were installed last Friday night to serve for the ensuing term: Joseph Eros, N. G.; B. F. Pou, V. G.; J. G. Boliver, S.; A. R. Champy, T.; J. A. Williams, O. S. G.; A. Champy, I. S. G.; Julius Myers, P. G.

NEITHER failing teeth nor the peeping wrinkles of time, so forcibly tell of advancing years, as your gray hair. Ayer's Vigor restores its color and makes your appearance more agreeable to others, as well as yourself. With fresh, luxuriant hair, the infirmities of age are far less noticeable.

EDGEFIELD Co., S. C., April 9, 1879.—Dr. L. T. Hill:—I certify that I have used your Hepatic Panacea, for diseases of Liver and Dyspepsia. I can safely say that it has benefitted me more than any other medicine I have ever taken. E. P. Addison. For sale by S. A. Reeves.

BASE BALL.—Next Tuesday, we learn, is appointed for the second match game of base ball between the Camden club and the Junior's of Orangeburg. We hope our boys will give their visitors a hearty welcome, a pleasant stay and a decent thrashing. The game will be played on the Orange green.

A bachelor suffering with a cold was handed a dose of Coussens' Honey of Tar by his sister. "What is it?" he asked. "Elixir Asthmatis; it will make you feel ecstatic." He replied, "You are very sistermatic." Down went Honey of Tar and cured his cough. Price 50c. For sale by Dr. J. G. Wannamaker.

NIGHT BLOOMING CERES.—On last Tuesday night at ten o'clock a Night Blooming Cereus in the garden of Mr. N. A. Bull was found to be in bloom. The cutting was sent to a friend with all the petals open, but at twelve o'clock the blush was gone, and the flower closed its white petals without ever seeing the beautiful light of day.

STORMY.—Friends from different sections of the county report quite a number of storms or unusually severe winds accompanying the afternoon rains. The Fork, the Jamison section, St. Matthews and Lower Orange have all been visited during the week with severe wind and rain storms, damaging considerably the growing and fruiting crops.

THANKS.—We are again under obligations to Capt. J. L. Moorer; this time for one of the finest watermelons it has ever been our good fortune to taste. The seed, from which it was grown, was obtained from the Agricultural Department at Washington; and the melon itself, weighing thirty-two pounds, was of excellent flavor—unusually delicate for the size. Who can beat it?

GENERAL IZLAR.—Our nomination of Gen. Izlar for the Senatorship seems to give universal satisfaction. Our citizens, true to their nature and patriotism, appreciate true worth of character and force of mind, and in honoring Gen. Izlar will honor themselves, their country and State. Let the convention see to it that her noblest son stands at the head of the column.

CONCERT.—The concert, given by the colored people in aid of their band at the Court House on Tuesday night was quite a success. A large audience were in attendance, many of whom were white citizens, and a handsome sum was realized. We learn that the instruments have been already received and the members of the band are being instructed. We wish for them every success and an honorable competition with their white friends.

BREVITIES.—Never speak ill of your neighbor.

Beware to whom you commit the secrets of your mind.

A little wedding cake, now and then, is relished by all sorts of men.

The new organ for the Methodist Sunday School has arrived, and gives satisfaction.

Some of our young people are talking about organizing a reading club. Not a bad idea.

"Truth is stranger than fiction," and it takes some time a long time to feel at home with it.

Our gun club got flaxed in Charleston. Ditto our base ball club in Camden. We omit the score.

But few men can handle a hot lamp chimney and say there is no place like home at the same time.

An adjourned meeting of the Young America Steam Fire Engine Company will be held next Wednesday evening.

"Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." Watch the movements of the Radicals and beat them at every point.

Mr. C. Mayhew, of Columbia, contemplates starting a Marble Yard in Orangeburg. We think it will be a success.

"It requires a man of good sense to fall in love with a plain woman." But any fool can fall in love with a pretty woman.

We hear of several of our friends who are going to the mountains to "recreate." We hope they will have a pleasant time.

FARMERS are being blessed with excellent seasons and we hope the fears indulged in week ago as to the crops may be removed.

We regret to learn of the illness of Mr. L. W. Hydrick and hope he may soon be restored sufficiently to be out and attending to business.

"They say" that a clerk in one of our stores is to be married soon. Let the brave young man step to the front and we'll promise not to tell.

The Methodist Church is to have a large eight burner chandelier suspended from the centre of the ceiling, also two new lights for the pulpit.

A line in a Welsh poem reads: "Mi ganabi chwi ganu amfy rwyrtn Pete." We advise Pete to do nothing of the kind. It would be injudicious.

The Empress of Russia loved cats and the Czar hated 'em, and that was what caused their estrangement. A wife ought always to give in on the cat question.

Rev. Thomas Phillips, colored, died last week from an attack of paralysis. Worse men have lived in this world than this black man, and he will be a loss to his race.

List of consignees for freight un-called for at South Carolina Railroad July 8: S. J. Brantley, A. R. Phillips, J. S. Belin, E. Rickenbacker, W. H. Dantzer, A. Webster.

The ladies are specially invited to witness the game of base ball next Tuesday afternoon between the Camden club and the Juniors of our town. Seats will be provided for them.

Messrs. Julius Meyers and Samuel Spiegel left for New York on Wednesday evening last; the former on a pleasure trip, but the latter with a view perhaps of changing his home.

Caleb Gholston, a colored man in the employ of Mr. W. M. Sain, was kicked by a horse on Friday evening last, from the effects of which he died on the Saturday night following.

The political cauldron will soon begin to boil vigorously and the voice of the politician will be constantly heard in the land, warning the dear people to flee from the wrath to come.

Our fellow-townsmen, H. Riggs, Esq., has in his possession one of the first sewing machines ever made. It was bought thirty years ago, costing $125, and has been doing good service ever since.

Dr. Wallace Bland, of Edgefield, who was shot sometime ago in a personal difficulty in that town died last Monday. He was buried by the Knights of Honor, of which organization he was a member.

Two or three ambitious young men have been to this office and given us full descriptions of the luscious peaches and watermelons they have had at their house. But, gentlemen, this won't do. The editor's a selfish man.

The lonely vigils of the night are terrible, especially by the bedside of the sick, and it is just the thing to have a bottle of Coussens' Honey of Tar to cure their coughs, cold, croup, etc. Price 50c. For sale by Dr. J. G. Wannamaker.

We learn that it is extremely probable that arrangements will be made to have the Gun Clubs of Charleston, Columbia and Augusta visit our town some time in August next as the guests of the Orangeburg Club. Our citizens may prepare for a lively time and a spirited contest between the clubs.

NINETY-SIX, S. C., April 14, 1879.—

Dr. L. T. Hill.—I have been suffering from indigestion and dyspepsia for some time; had no appetite, and was very restless at night. I purchased a bottle of your Hepatic Panacea, and was surprised how rapidly I improved after taking a few doses. I used one bottle, and now I rest well at night and have a good appetite. B. J. Spratt. For sale by S. A. Reeves.

COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU, composed of buchu leaves, dandelion root, acetate potash, juniper berries, paeiza brava, and calinsonia root. All of which are highly valued diuretics, kidney stimulants and depurants. The failure of the actions of the kidneys is a source of many distressing diseases. This medicine produces a hearty action of the kidneys, removes from the blood the urea and uric acid, which if allowed to remain and accumulate would induce rheumatism, gouty affections, pains in back and loins. This valuable medicine is for sale by Dr. J. G. Wannamaker. Price 75 cents per bottle.

THE YOUNG AMERICANS.—The Young Americans with their pet steamer, Uncle Joe, were out Tuesday afternoon on their monthly parade. Both men and steamer in their performances maintained fully their former reputation. Indeed the firemen rather surpassed their record by making a run of one hundred and fifty yards with reel and throwing water in fifty-nine seconds. Uncle Joe holds his own. He is as securely grounded in the affections of the men and holds their confidence as firmly as ever. We have not yet seen in the State a finer or prettier engine and naturally feel a commendable pride in the excellency of Uncle Joe.

DIME READING.—The dime reading announced by the Young Men's Christian Association came off at their rooms Monday evening and proved to be quite an interesting occasion. Capt. John A. Hamilton read a most interesting paper entitled "Reminiscences of a Trip Across the Atlantic," which was not only enjoyable, but instructive to every one who heard it. The style was faultless and the reading excellent. Quite an interesting feature of the entertainment was the performance of Prof. Van Orsdel upon the zitter, an instrument which gives forth the sweetest melodies under a master's hand, and the Professor's music charmed the audience. It is a source of regret that so few of our citizens attend these readings, and especially this occasion, to get entire get up of which was complete and afforded pleasure for the most refined and delicate taste.

DEATH OF MRS. HUBBELL.—With the deepest pain we announce the death of Mrs. Mary Hubbell, which occurred at the residence of husband, Mr. T. C. Hubbell, on Monday evening last at 9 o'clock, and was buried in the Presbyterian grounds on Wednesday morning. Her funeral services were largely attended by our citizens, both male and female, attesting the high appreciation in which the deceased was held by the entire community. Mrs. Hubbell was about sixty years of age and had spent the greater part of that time in labors of love, going in and out among her neighbors, exhibiting all the while a blameless Christian life and stamping indelibly upon those with whom she came in contact the stern worth of her own virtues. Gentle of disposition, affectionate in her attachments and true to every relation and duty of life, she leaves behind her a devoted husband and loving children to mourn their loss and a host of friends to hold her life as an example in precious memory.

BOLIVER MAKING SPEECHES.—Last Monday Mr. George Boliver gathered around him in the Independent Engine Hall thirty-five or forty colored people many of whom were women and delivered himself of a speech eminently characteristic of the man and the occasion. He protested that he was a friend of the colored people and was the only white Republican who had stood by them in their greatest danger and trials. The speaker called on his corporal's guard of hearers to witness how true he had been to the party's principles and the colored man's interest. Here our reporter left the scene to obtain pencil and paper to make a true report of the speech and when he returned said, "the best of the gravy had been spilt." This is sufficient, however, to show that the irrepressible Boliver is again upon the trail and is not likely to leave it, so long as there is the faintest glimmering of a fat office in the distance. Our colored citizens know this and are therefore content to drink free lager and listen to buncombe speeches. Boliver, as a Radical politician, is dead, and his influence cannot command a corporal's guard of colored votes.

DEATH OF MRS. STROMAN.—The announcement of the death of Mrs. Mary Stroman, wife of Jacob Stroman of the Fork, will be received with regret by her many relatives and friends. Mrs. Stroman was struck with paralysis about three months ago and died last Friday at her home in the Fork of the Edistos. Her life was a useful one, a constant manifestation of traits of character that won the love of all who knew her. To the bereaved we tender our sympathies.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH.—Sunday, the Fourth of July, was appropriately celebrated by the Edisto Rides by attending the Methodist Church in a body. At half past 10 o'clock the company under the command of Lieutenants, G. W. Brunson, F. S. Dibble and P. G. Cannon, entered the church and filed down the aisles in single ranks to the reserved seats, their beautiful uniforms presenting a strange but pleasing contrast with the solemn surroundings. The pastor, Rev. O. A. Darby, preached a most excellent sermon from II Timothy, 11 chapter, and 3d verse, in which he portrayed the Christian duty of our citizen soldiery with marked effect upon his congregation. Monday afternoon business was generally suspended by the merchants closing their stores and everybody felt free to enjoy the afternoon in the most jolly way possible. The Edistos were out on dress parade which would have been ten fold more enjoyable had the band accompanied the movements with martial music. After marching and counter-marching the command was marched up before the office of their old veteran Captain, now Gen. Jas. F. Izlar, and after giving three cheers and a call for the General, were invited by him to Eros' Ice Cream Saloon to cool off. Here Gen. Izlar addressed the corps in one of his finest efforts, and, following the inspiration of the previous day, nicely blended the moral with the military as regards young men in discharging their duty to the country. Those who heard it will long entertain a pleasant recollection of the speaker and speech.

The colored citizens gave themselves up to frolic and fun, and, until a late hour, the merry sound of laughter and the dance were heard at the Independent Engine Hall. With no politics to disturb or a pirant after office to direct them, the day was one of unusual hilarity excited by social pleasure, picnic and the dance.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—On last Friday morning a young man calling himself Edgar Flash informed Sheriff Livingston that his partner on a tramp to Columbia, Walter Flood, had been killed about one o'clock Thursday night about six miles above here by the down freight train on the South Carolina Railroad. Deputy Coroner Aiken was immediately notified, and by ten o'clock was at the scene of the accident with a jury of inquest. The evidence before the jury gives us the following history of the accident: Edgar Flash was engaged as a driver in the service of a Mr. Lee, living ten miles above Charleston, and in that capacity went to Charleston on the Wednesday preceding the accident for a load of groceries. While in the city he met the young man, Flood, whom he had known for a number of years and with whom he had always sustained intimate and friendly relations. Flood proposed to Flash to undertake a tramp to Columbia in order to accomplish an enterprise they had set on foot. Flash agreed to go with him, and Flood returned on the wagon with Flash to Ten Mile Hill on Wednesday night. That night they boarded the train and rode as far as Georges' Station before they were found out and put off. They walked to Branchville, waited for the next train, and, getting on the sleeping coach, rode to Rowesville, when they were again put off. From Rowesville they walked to Orangeburg and remained in the town during the day. That night they boarded the ten o'clock train and rode about two miles when they were put off for the third time. It was then agreed that they should walk to Jamison and try to "beat" a ride on the next train. They walked about two miles, when they sat down to rest. Flood placed a bundle of shirts on the rail and laid down. Flash put his coat under his head and also laid down, neither intending to go to sleep, but after talking for some time, and being tired and suffering from loss of sleep from the previous night, they were soon in a deep sleep, from which Flash was awakened by the approaching train when within thirty feet of him. Bewildered with fear and the sudden waking he sprang from the track, and endeavored to scramble up the steep embankment of the cut. In a minute the train thundered by, and its fatal work had been done. Flash returned and laid down for a few minutes before he was conscious of the situation. He then called his partner, and getting no answer put his hand on him to shake him. As he did so he felt the warm blood gushing from his wounds. Stricken with terror at his ghastly surroundings, Flash, gathering up his coat, ran down the road until he came to the house of Mr. Richards. Here he called out Mr. Richards' sons and acquainted them with the horrible details of the accident. They returned with him and found the body of Flood lifeless. An examination of the body by the surgeon revealed a fracture of the lower jaw and extensive fractures of the skull on the right side of the head. It is probable that the unfortunate young man never awoke from his slumbers to realize his danger, and as death was, from the nature of his wounds, instantaneous, the horrors of such a death are somewhat mitigated. The verdict of the jury was in accordance with the above facts.

The Sensation of the Period! Strange but True!

HARD TIMES BE COME!

HAVING been watching for some time the financial condition of the country and the ever varying events of the trading world with a view to the increase or decrease our weekly purchases, we are prepared to announce to our numerous patrons that our investigation of these subjects has been perfectly satisfactory and that we have as a consequence forwarded larger orders than ever before to our New York agents.

The year 1880 therefore begins with flattering prospects for farmers, mechanics and all other laborers alike. The financial pulse of the country is steadily improving and having returned almost to its former money basis, we shall gradually but surely recover our former prestige and the so long declining prosperity of our beautiful Southern land. Being firmly impressed with the fore-shadowings of these approaching events we have made arrangements commensurate with the times to increase our former prices and our Agent in New York is already in receipt of our instructions directing him to be on the alert for every sale and failure as well as every house tottering on the brink of bankruptcy, so that he, with cash in hand may take in every bargain and fairly out of the market, so that this year not only to increase our former resources, but to become also a never changing source of assistance to our friends by selling them goods far below the wholesale market of New York.

It was the credit system that paralyzed our industries in the past and caused so many failures to drag out a wretched existence every article needed for family consumption doubled in value. Thus while labor was inadequately compensated, goods of every description approached almost fabulous prices and the daily sweat of a man's brow barely obtained for himself and family the commonest necessities of life. Too much credit was at our disposal demands greater than the sources of supply will satisfy, hence everything takes an upward tendency under its operation. On the other hand cash transactions will make the supply larger than the demand and consequently goods fall to bottom prices when this rule prevails.

We pay cash for all our goods before they leave the place bought from. Hence our ability (independent of our unrivaled facilities for buying) to outstrip and undersell all our competitors. The merchant who buys on time, (and who of them doesn't?) not only has to pay the highest price for his goods, but he has to pay an additional percentage added on at every sale. Now all this comes out of the consumer, the man who patronizes the time merchant at home. It will at once be perceived that the difference between us is vast indeed, and that the buyer on credit cannot purchase goods at market prices. In fact, by paying cash, he gets the most extraordinary bargains at a large discount on wholesale cash prices. It is therefore quite easy for us to sell below other merchants and guarantee perfect satisfaction in every case.

Our system is one of our own, and has many advantages which we shall not enlarge upon here, but it is such that a large portion of the benefits arising from it are reaped by our friends and patrons, and by it we have established a reputation near and dear to us. With honesty, fair dealing, quick sales and small profits as our watchwords, we have conquered the demon of high prices and forced from him the acknowledgment that he has been systematically swindling and degrading the people.

We have demonstrated to thousands in this and other counties that it is possible when dealing with a fair and honorable merchant who buys strictly for cash, to purchase goods at prices which were earlier sold at credit. Honesty, truth and double distilled misrepresentation, do not come as a blessing or a curse to our country. As for us we prefer a good name with a slow but steady increase in business to the going process which makes one merchant rich to-day and a thousand poor farmers penniless and breadless to-morrow.

One is the true plan, by adopting it you avoid the Scylla of credit on the one side and the Charybdis of a lean execution on the other. To trade with us is to insure satisfaction, increase your wealth and general prosperity. Week after week during the present year we shall spread daily upon our counters a stock of goods as varied as the leaves of the forest. A cordial invitation is extended to every one who reads this circular to give us a call, no trouble to show goods or answer questions.

We will sell for one dollar cash what you will pay three in October if you credit us, and we will give you the cheapest markets in the country for less than the large discount, and can and will sell as low as the wholesale merchants of Charleston, New York or Baltimore, and to those who favor us with their regular custom we offer as rare inducements as were ever offered in this or any other community. Our goods arrive weekly and must be sold, and to your interest and call on us when you visit town.

Farmers, look to your own welfare, who have sunk low and lower each succeeding year while the middle men around you have grown rich in comforts and wealth, you have barely lived by working from sun to sun the year round, while other have added thousands to their already plethoric treasures, by selling on credit to you in the spring and collecting in October and November the sweet stained profits of many a merciless bargain. Let our farmers recieve this in future and learn to watch as well as pray—let them break from the old beaten path of credit and ruin, and demand an equivalent for their money. Let them aspire to higher and greater achievements.

To this end we therefore cordily invite our friends to give us frequent calls and we guarantee that not one in a thousand will ever leave our counters dissatisfied. Respectfully yours,
