Scranton Snap Shots.

Scranton, July 1.—We are having intensely hot weather.

Crops still look promising, but are needing rain.

Tobacco curing is the order of the day—and night—with the growers of the weed.

Eugene Johnson has been and is still very sick with fever. Dr. Lynch is attending him.

Messrs. P. S. Wall and W. Eugene Cooke went to Florence last Thursday to attend the senatorial campaign meeting.

Rev. W. P. Gause, of High Hill, brought a wagon load of very fine watermelons to town Monday morning—the first of the season. The writer was the recipient of a large, luscious one, which he very much enjoyed. Mr. Gause is a successful planter and a big hearted man.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Cannon are comfortably domiciled in their new residence on Lamar street, having moved in last week. They have a cozy and convenient home.

Mr. J. P. Grimsley went to Mars Bluff Monday to attend the funeral of his father-in-law, Mr. W. B. Summerford, who died Sunday of heart disease.

Mrs. Lizzie Graham and her daughter, Miss Ida, arrived here Monday morning, where they will spend some time with Mr. N. M. Graham's family.

We were pleased to greet our whilom friend, Dallas Jones, of Charleston, on our streets Monday morning.

Messrs. P. S. Wall and Henry Collins spent Monday at Kingstree.

Mr. W. E. Nettles was initiated into the mysteries of the Esquire degree of Pythianism last Friday night. He rode the goat admirably, although he appeared to be somewhat dubious at times. Messrs. W. S. Kennedy and C. A. Ray received the rank of Knight, having successfully, though reluctantly, passed the test.

Dr. J. D. Lewellen, a rising young physician of Friendfield, was happily married last week to one of Augusta's fairest daughters. We extend felicitations.

Dr. R. J. McCabe was here several days this week practicing dentistry.

Slaughter-sale prices haven't struck meat markets yet.

Importunity is simply holding on till you get what you want.

Bennett Swamp Bubbles

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bradham visited relatives on Black River Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Timmons visited the home of their mother, Mrs. J. A. Bradham, Sunday.

Misses Essie and Lila Spann, of Greeleyville, spent last week with Mrs. J. A. McGhee.

Messrs. Joe and Ben Richburg, of Clarendon, are visiting the home of Mr. White Gist.

Miss Cora Harmon, of Fairfield, is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Mamie Baxter.

Wednesday night of last week the young folks of this section enjoyed an ice-cream festival at the residence of Mr. J. A. Baxter. All seemed to enjoy themselves.

On her way to the festival above mentioned, accompanied by her youngest brother, Leon, Miss Mellie Ferrell narrowly escaped injury by the horse running away and throwing her from the buggy. Fortunately she was not hurt. The run-away occurred at Bennett Swamp bridge.

Messrs. Julius Gist and R. M. Lawrence visited in this neighborhood Sunday.

Cholera, or something similar, is playing havoc with the swine in our community. Mr. R. E. McKnight lost six head of hogs last Tuesday night.

The finest crop of corn I have seen is that of Mr. J. A. Bradham, who is one of our best citizens and with all a wide awake farmer.

Good luck to you, Mr. Editor, and to THE RECORD.

WILD VIOLET.

Cades Chronicles.

M. D. Nesmith went to Charleston Saturday night and remained over until Monday. He also visited his sister, Mrs. Steele, in Summerville.

Miss Myrtle Sauls, who has been attending school in Charleston, returned Saturday, greatly to the delight of her friends, whose name is legion.

Misses Mamie and Carrie Smith, two attractive young ladies from near Kingstree, were here a few days ago.

A young stranger of the feminine persuasion has taken up its abode in the home of Capt. Ed. Wheeler. The genial Captain is of course all smiles.

Miss Ida McElveen is visiting friends here.

Mr. Webber, of Chester county, was here Saturday.

Brainard Joyner, who has been clerking for A. A. May, has returned to Lake City for rest and recuperation. A. J. Tomlinson is filling the vacancy caused by his temporary absence.

Mrs. E. L. Payne is quite unwell at this writing.

Mr. — Grieg, of Salem, while working on a building here recently, accidentally fell, but, fortunately, was not much hurt.

Decatur Wall returned to Scranton Sunday after a visit to LeRoy Payne of this place.

J. P. Wheeler has gone to Georgetown to take a lucrative position.

From Coleman Road.

Rev. J. Richburg is conducting a week's preaching at the Mulberry school house. A great deal of interest is evidenced in the meeting, which I hope is an earnest of good results.

Miss Cora Harmon, of Richland County, is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Baxter.

Rev. Mr. Mills preached at Corinth church Sunday morning to a large and attentive congregation.

Mr. Copely Burgess of Black River attended services in this neighborhood Sunday.

Mr. Clarence Montgomery spent Saturday and Sunday with his parents in this community.

Greeleyville base ball team defeated Manning Friday, June 27, by a score of 8 to 6. Greeleyville reports that Manning's pitcher was knocked out of the box in the 5th inning. Manning had better bring a pitcher when she tackles Greeleyville.

Crops are finer in this section than they have been for years.

Several of our farmers are eating ripe watermelons.

Mr. J. L. Lesesne visited Santee yesterday.

BUNCH OF ROSES.

Seen at Smiths

Capt. A. J. Smith's many friends are glad to learn that he is improving from his recent illness.

Misses Maggie and Stacia McKenzie, who have been attending the institute for the deaf, dumb and blind at Cedar Springs, are home for vacation. Miss Maggie has already taken the regular eight years' course, and is now pursuing a postgraduate course.

A few days ago Newton Coker, while out hunting, killed a cat squirrel that was as white as a gander. There may be other white squirrels, but this is the first that this writer has ever seen.

Charley Osborne, of Shiloh, Clarendon County, visited friends here Sunday.

Samuel J. Smiley and Preston McAllister, of the Pergamas section, were in our community Sunday. There seems to be some attraction.

Crops are fairly good, but needing rain.

Best wishes for THE RECORD and its editor.

Nox.

Death of Mrs. Player.

Mrs. Sallie Player was buried at the Williamsburg cemetery at 7 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Rev. H. J. Cauthen officiating. Mrs. Player, who was about 70 years old, lived with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Dora Player, in the Smith neighborhood. Her death occurred Tuesday evening at 9 o'clock.
