

A FLORIDA WEDDING.

A Former Kingstree Boy Wins a Charming Bride.

Dr. Henry O. Snow of Abbott and Miss Douglass Roberts were united in marriage Wednesday night, July 30th, at the residence of Mr and Mrs. J. T. Roberts, parents of the bride. Rev. G. T. Leitner performed the marriage ceremony. The residence was brilliantly lighted and tastefully decorated with evergreens, which lent additional beauty to the charming scene. Quite a number of invited guests from Dade City and neighboring villages were present and there were a large number of wedding gifts and heartfelt congratulations bestowed upon the newly wedded couple.

The bride is one of Dade City's most charming and universally beloved young ladies. Her gentle nature, amiable disposition, her genial manner and her many and rare virtues have endeared her to her friends and eminently fit her for the noble sphere of wifehood in which she will shine as a help-mate unflinching in her fidelity and admirable in her domesticity.

The groom is a young physician of unusual talent, who is regarded by his patrons as superior to any young physician in this section by reason of his skillful and successful treatment of disease, and his watchful care of his patients. Owing to his studious habits and close application, his fine power of discrimination as a diagnostician and his devotion to his profession, the future is replete with promise. He is always cheerful, buoyant, bright and sunny, which bring hope into the hearts of his patients. He is also manly, active and energetic, which qualities insure success. He has no ends to accomplish except in direct and honorable ways; he lives in the light, loving and greatly enjoying the communion and fellowship of kindred spirits. Conscious of his own superior ability and attainments he is far above the littleness of envy and jealousy. He is an ideal physician, because he is unselfish, takes pride in his profession, is happy in serving others and is as tender and gentle as a woman. Above all he is a gentleman in the highest sense of the word.

May Heavens blessing's rest upon him and his beloved, and may many years of wedded bliss and prosperity be in store for them—Dade City (Fla.) Democrat.

When the Sun Will Fall.

The total of the sun's heat is equal to that which would be required to keep up 470,000 millions of millions of millions of horsepower, or about 78,000 horsepower for every square yard, and yet the modern dynamical theory of heat shows that the sun's mass must fall in or contract thirty-five meters per annum to keep up that tremendous energy.

At this rate of contraction the solar radius will be .01 per cent less in 2,000 years from now than it is today. According to these deductions, a time must come when the temperature must fall. This being the case, it is inconceivable that the sun will continue to emit heat sufficient to sustain animal life for more than 10,000,000 years longer.

Lawyers' Advertisements.

In spite of the prejudice among lawyers against straightforward advertising, says the Philadelphia Record, several members of the bar do advertise regularly in the newspapers. And they find that it pays. One lawyer in New York who puts $100 a week into newspaper advertising ("exclusive of the Sunday journals") tells Printers' Ink that he would not stop advertising for the world. "If I should stop it," he adds, "I should expect to be forgotten. That such advertising pays I know from long experience. The ethics of the profession are largely an illusion—a bugaboo. No lawyer is ostracized because he advertises."

Right is more beautiful than private affection and is compatible with universal wisdom.—Emerson.

WINTER IN JAPAN.

The Natives Make Little Effort to Combat the Trying Conditions.

The Japanese winter is most trying on account of its continual dampness, but the Japanese are content to remain cold. They make almost no effort to overcome it. The old "bushido" (chivalrous) idea of the "samurai" (knights) was that it was effeminate to feel cold, and such is their severe training that they do not really feel it as we do. The wearing of some extra "kimonos" and the use of a "hibachi" or brazier in which are a few tiny sticks of lighted charcoal are the only concessions to winter weather. With the "hibachi" they never pretend to heat more than their finger tips, which they hold over the coals. It is used when the house is entirely open.

The houses, as every one knows, are built of thin, light wood, and the sliding panels which serve for doors and windows have paper panes. They are as apt to be open as closed during the day. The coolies wear thin blue cotton clothes and are always paddling through the mud. The storekeepers sit out in their open booths, and the women go bareheaded about the streets. In the houses of the rich the still cold behind the closed panels is often more intense than that outside in the sunshine, where the air is stirring.

Domesticated Ferns.

The lover of ferns will find it an easy matter to domesticate many of the most attractive varieties if he or she will be content to take young plants. They should be removed from their native haunts with a good amount of soil adhering to their roots. Give them, if possible, a shady place to grow in, and make the soil as light as that in which they originally grew. It is well worth while to get a wagon load or two of soil from the woods for the especial use of these plants. In lifting them wrap each in a deep basket, applying enough water to saturate the soil clinging to the roots. Do not plant them in the border until after sundown. If the next day is sunny, shade them well and shower them frequently. In some instances most of the old fronds will die off, but if care is taken in lifting and planting and the necessary amount of shade and water is given few of the leaves will be lost.—Eben E. Rexford in Lippincott's Magazine.

Man Eating Wild Men.

In the celebrated "Travails" of Edward Webb (1590) are dozens of stories that would make Munchausen turn green with envy. One of the most celebrated of these is his story of the wild men of Prester John, which is as follows:

"In the court of Prester John there is a wild man and another in the high street of Constantinople whose allowance is every day a quarter of raw mutton, and when any man dyeth for some notorious offence then they are allowed every day a quarter of man's flesh. These wild men are chained fast to a post every day, the one in Prester John's court, the other in the high street of Constantinople, each of them having a mantle about their shoulders, and all over their bodies they have wonderful long hair. They are chained by the neck lest they speedily devour all that cometh within their reach."

The Human Voice.

Of all the marvelous and mysterious things about the human body the voice is perhaps the most wonderful. No one has ever seen it, and no one can tell what it is.

The soprano pours from her throat notes of the sweetest melody, reaching chords so high it seems something must surely snap. The basso drops his voice till it goes so low as to make you wonder how he does it. The baby cries. The orator and the actor move people to mirth or sorrow.

By contracting or expanding the muscles of the throat and by inhaling and exhaling air the throat produces the thousands of sounds that we call "voice."

Desperate Partings.

It is no uncommon thing in Suffolk to see on some country platform a girl starting for her first place in service, with the whole family assembled to see her off. There is bitter weeping and much expenditure of kisses, of maternal injunctions and presentation of flowers. If you watch the inexperienced traveler, you will probably find that her destination is no farther than the next station, a distance of perhaps five or ten miles. To go beyond London is considered the world's end.—Eastern Counties Magazine.

SHATTERS ALL RECORDS.

Twice in hospital, F. A. Gullidge, Verbena, Ala., paid a vast sum to doctors to cure a severe case of piles, causing 24 tumors. When all failed, Bucklen's Arnica Salve soon cured him. Subdues Inflammation, conquers Aches, kills Pains. Best salve in the world. 25c at D. C. Scott's drug store.

Every moment you now lose, says Chesterfield, is so much character and advantage lost, as on the other hand, every moment you now employ usefully is so much wisely laid out, at prodigious interest.

ALL WERE SAVED.

"For years I suffered such untold misery from Bronchitis," writes J. H. Johnston, of Broughton, Ga., "that often I was unable to work. Then, when everything else failed, I was wholly cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. My wife suffered intensely from Asthma, till it cured her; and all our experience goes to show it is the best Croup medicine in the world." A trial will convince you it's unrivaled for Throat and Lung diseases. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at D. C. Scott's.

Some men are madly over-praised, some have been made martyrs, but their spoken word passes onward, and if not in their own day, in that to-morrow which is the to-day of other men, the truth of their harvest is garnished and bound up in sheaves.

LOOK PLEASANT, PLEASE.

Photographer C. C. Harlan, of Eaton, O., can do so now, though for years he couldn't, because he suffered untold agony from the worst form of indigestion. All physicians and medicines failed to help him till he tried Electric Bitters, which worked such wonders for him that he declares they are a godsend to sufferers from dyspepsia and stomach troubles. Unrivaled for diseases of the Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, they build up and give new life to the whole system. Try them. Only 50c. Guaranteed by D. C. Scott, Drugist.
