

A House Colonial in Type.

A house that is modelled very closely upon the New England type of Colonial architecture is pictured and described in the April Delinquent. Its direct simplicity is something out of the ordinary in present-day house building, yet not in the least unpleasing. The Colonial scheme is modified to a certain extent to meet modern needs, the big living room, occupying one-half the first floor, being a radical improvement upon the best room of early times. The furnishings are in accordance with the period of architecture, contributing largely to the inviting atmosphere. It is a house that will prove suggestive to prospective home-builders.

Last Friday was the one hundred and seventeenth day of continuous sleighing in Northern New York, and winter showed no sign of abatement. The upper Hudson is still frozen solid, and there was a heavy snowfall on that day.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. P. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

SOUTHERN FARM NOTES.
TOPICS OF INTEREST TO THE PLANTER, STOCKMAN AND TRUCK GROWER.

The Poor Man's Cow.

Goats are growing in popularity in this country, chiefly on account of the fresh meat they supply. The flesh of kids is very fine. But as a substitute for milk cows they are almost unknown. The following is deserving of careful study:

The goat is the poor man's cow. The ordinary family in a city or village may have a supply of the best milk in the world at a nominal cost by keeping a goat. The animal will browse in the back yard and back alley. It will eat anything and everything. The average family throws away enough apple, potato and turnip parings, with other waste from the table, to keep a goat in good condition.

The goat must have exercise. If his range is not large a ladder placed in the back yard will serve his purpose admirably. For the best results the goat should be milked three times a day.

There is no question as to the superiority of goat's milk as compared with cow's milk. It tastes better, is richer and is the ideal milk for the infant and sick person. The odor that is reputed to attach to goat's milk is altogether the fault of the surroundings. Nothing will take up odors and impurities like milk, and if the place where the milking is done and where the milk is stored be kept clean, no odor will be noticeable.

Probably no country has brought the raising of fine milk goats to the state of perfection attained on the island of Malta. The population is about 200,000 and the people rely almost wholly on the goat. The average yield of milk from a Maltese goat is between three and four quarts per day. The Maltese goats are about two feet six inches high and often weigh 100 pounds. They are generally white, although there are many red, brown and black. None have been imported to America, but some will be brought over to the world's fair.

The Toggenburger goat from Switzerland has been imported and is reckoned as the best milk goat for America and England. A Toggenburger will yield about four quarts of milk per day. The Nubian goat is larger by half than the common species. It is sensitive to the cold, and requires a warm goat house or barn.—George E. Thompson, United States Department of Agriculture.

Composition of Cotton Seed Meal.

J. M. F. Blountville, writes: Will you tell me what cotton seed meal ought to cost, and what it ought to analyze. I am offered some for $25.75 per ton, guaranteed to analyze as follows: Ammonia, 8.00; nitrogen, 6.50; protein, 41.00; crude fat, oil, etc., 9.00. Also please tell me how many pounds must I count on to feed 900 to 1000 pound steer 120 to 150 days with corn and cob meal and plenty of roughness. I want to feed forty head of cattle and want to arrive at about the amount of cotton seed meal I will need with corn and hay, corn fodder and shucks as roughness.

If the cotton seed meal quoted to you at $25.75 contains forty-one per cent. of protein, it is all right, but no doubt you could buy it for $25 in carload lots. According to the method of feeding we have found most successful at the Station, it would be advisable to feed a 900 to 1000-pound steer for 150 days a ration consisting of two-thirds cotton seed meal and one-third corn and cob meal for the first ninety days, and two-thirds corn and cob meal and one-third cotton seed meal for the last sixty days. You should commence by feeding about four pounds of the meal mixture when first placed on feed, and increase this about one-half pound per week until a maximum of twelve pounds per head per day is reached. To feed the ration outlined, it would require between 500 and 600 pounds of cotton seed meal for each steer, or about ten to twelve tons for every forty head of cattle. Local dealers in your nearest city should be able to give you about as good a price on cotton seed meal as you can purchase it for elsewhere, and if the meal is up to the guarantee furnished in your letter, it is all right and you need have no hesitation in buying it on that basis. Pure cotton seed meal is of a bright golden color, free from specks and dirt. When specks are present it is an evidence that hulls have been used to adulterate the meal, and it thus of necessity contains less than forty-one per cent. protein, the amount which pure cotton seed meal will always contain.—Prof. A. M. Soule.

Cotton Seed Not For Milk Cows.

C. B. Elkton, Tenn., writes: "Are cotton seed good for milk cows? I am feeding a mixture of two parts of seed with one part of bran and meal mixed, and am giving from eight to ten pounds per day, but am not getting a large flow of milk at present, and cows will sometimes not eat feed.

News in Notes.

The people of Corea are neither Japanese nor Chinese. They are Mongolian and have a polysyllabic language, with a phonetic alphabet. They have a recorded history of disputed authenticity, which claims for them a continuous existence as a Corean people of about 5,000, the earlier part of which, of course, is shrouded in the mists of tradition and fable.

They seem to want eat corn. Is the latter good for them from a milk standpoint?"

Cotton seed are not very good for milk cows, because they contain too much oil and are, therefore, too laxative in nature. Neither do they constitute a well-balanced food. It would be much better for you to dispose of the cotton seed in exchange for cotton seed meal. You ought to get two-thirds of a ton of cotton seed meal for a ton of cotton seed. Feed wheat bran to your cows in the ratio of from three to five pounds of bran to two to three pounds of cotton seed meal, giving as much as eight to ten pounds per day, depending on the milk flow. A cow giving as much as two to three gallons of milk should be fed about ten pounds of meal, and one giving one to two gallons, seven to eight pounds of meal. By making the change suggested I think you will find your cows will do better. Ear corn is not a satisfactory food for milk cows. It is too fattening in nature, and does not contain enough protein matter to stimulate the milk flow.—Professor Soule.

Barb Wire Cut.

T. J. M., Springfield Tenn.—I have a horse that got into a barb wire fence about a week ago and cut himself very badly. His breast was cut right across and the muscles of his front legs were cut to the bone. I tried to sew him up, but did not make a very good job of it, and now all the stitches have torn out. Please tell me what is the best dressing to use on it to heal it so that it will leave the least scar.

The wound will now have to heal by the process known as granulation, but if properly attended to will not necessarily leave much of a scar. Remove all stitches that have torn loose, as they will do no further good. The wounds should be dressed once a day as follows: Bathe the places with a solution of one tablespoonful of creolin to half a gallon of water, using a clean sponge or piece of soft cloth for this purpose. After cleansing thoroughly in this manner, dust the surface of the wounds with the following powder: Iodoform, half an ounce; boric acid, one and a half ounces, mixed together. After two weeks change the above powder and use the following in its place: Acetanilid, two ounces; calomel, one ounce. If these directions are followed you will be surprised to find that an apparently ugly wound will heal with a scar that requires close observation to detect it.—Joseph Plaskett, D. V. S.

Avoid Waste.

Are you as careless as the farmers described by The Farm and Home? If so, make a note of the criticisms and turn over a new leaf at once: As I go in and out among our Southern farmers—between Virginia and Florida, or the Carolinas and Texas—the one great fact impressed upon me is the need of economy. "We should lose a large share of our business," said a big manufacturer of implements, "if the Southern farmer took half-way decent care of his tools, vehicles and machines." Neglect of implements cost many farmers a heap more than the "exactions of the trusts" but they find it easier to "jaw" about trusts than to stop the leaks on their own farms. Waste of feed, of fodder, of stubble, of grain in the stubble, loss of manure, unpainted buildings, improper care of stock—lack of knowledge, shiftlessness! Yet the example of successful thrifty farmers is everywhere to be found. It is constantly preached by F. & H., and practised by our readers. But wonderful progress has been made and there's still more progress to come. Onward, brother farmer, ever upward and onward!

Starting Keifer Peas.

The Keifer pear has been one of the standard pears of the South. Some of the readers of the Southern Agriculturist may not be aware of the fact that limbs cut from the Keifer and placed twelve inches in the ground will form roots and make a tree. Now is the proper time to do this work. Put entire length of the cutting under ground, covering the top of the twig with one inch of soil. Retarding the formation of leaves on the cuttings will be advantageous to its life. Any person can soon have an acre in Keifer pears at the cost of only a few hours' work by this process. If each cutting be stuck in a small Irish or sweet potato, moisture will be furnished to limb—enough to keep it growing during the summer.

Money in Sheep.

A Tennessee farmer reports that he has raised Cotswold sheep for the past ten years and has made more than 100 per cent. on every dollar invested in them for the past five years, and 50 to 70 per cent. on the five years previous. This shows that sheep can be successfully raised in the South.

Minor Matters.

In speaking of the House committee's investigation of charges of the use of "influence" by Congressmen in securing increased salaries, advantageous leases, etc., under the Postoffice Department, it is said some were technical violations, others censurable and still others "in harmony with the rules of the department." Census figures were introduced in an effort to impeach the testimony of Mormon President Smith concerning plural marriages since 1900.

NO APPETITE --- EMACIATED --- NERVOUS.
Many Women During the Spring Months Suffer From Extreme Lassitude, Loss of Appetite and Nervousness--What They Need Is PE-RU-NA, THE GREAT TONIC

Miss Bertha M. Rush, 5425 Kincardine street, Pittsburg, Pa., Superintendent Junior Society of Methodist Protestant church, and leading soprano of the choir, writes: "Words cannot describe my thankfulness to you for Peruna. I was a sufferer from systemic catarrh for years and was in a very much run-down condition. I was extremely nervous, and had the most foolish fears over nothing. I was thin and emaciated. My physician advised me to leave this climate, but as it was not convenient to do so at this time, I took the advice of a friend to use a bottle of Peruna. I took it faithfully, and when the first bottle was gone I felt so much better that I bought six more and took them faithfully, after which I looked like a new woman. I gained in flesh, my appetite returned and all my old symptoms had disappeared. I am more than thankful to Peruna."—Miss Bertha M. Rush.

I AM TIRED.
Everybody is Tired--Spring Weather Does It--Every One Should Be Cautious.

Depression of the nervous system at the approach of spring is the cause. General lassitude, dull, heavy sensations, continual tired feeling, with irregular appetite, and sometimes loss of sleep. Peruna meets every indication and proves itself to be perfectly adapted to all their varied peculiarities. Peruna invigorates the system, rejuvenates the feelings, restores the normal appetite and produces regular sleep. That tired feeling which is the natural result of the depressing effect of warm weather immediately after the invigorating cold of winter quietly disappears when Peruna is taken. Thousands are daily testifying to its priceless benefits. Mrs. H. Kassatt, 1209 W. 13th street, Des Moines, Ia., writes: "I am happy to give my endorsement for your valuable medicine, Peruna, as I consider it a valuable medicine to take when the system is run down from overwork. About two years ago I felt that I must take a long rest, as I had been unable to work for over a month and could not regain my strength. I could not sleep at night and was in a very nervous, high strung condition. I decided to try what Peruna would do to build up my strength, and am pleased to say that I began to improve very shortly, and in less than two months I was able to take up my work, and felt better than I have for years. I take it now twice a year, and find that it keeps me in perfect health." Mrs. Kassatt was for over ten years the manager of a plant furnishing ladies' wear and employing hundreds of women.

Tired, Nervous Women. There are thousands of them everywhere. A few bottles of Peruna would do them untold benefit. As a tonic and nerve invigorator it has no equal. It builds up the nerves, it gives strength to the circulation and at once restores the appetite and digestion. No feeble woman should be without Peruna.

HAPPY WOMEN.

Wouldn't any woman be happy. After years of backache suffering. Days of misery, nights of unrest. The distress of urinary troubles. She finds relief and cure? No reason why any reader should suffer in the face of evidence like this:

Mrs. Almira A. Jackson, of East Front St., Traverse City, Mich., says:

"For twenty years I never knew what it was to have good health. Every physician consulted said I had liver trouble, but their medicines did me no good. Just before I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I was almost paralyzed. I could hardly stand on my feet because of the numbness and lack of circulation. Had a knife been thrust into my kidneys the pain could not have been more intense. My sleep was disturbed by visions of distorted figures. The kidney secretions were annoyingly irregular, and I was tortured with thirst and always bloated. I used seven boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills. The bloating subsided until I weighed 100 pounds less, could sleep like a child and was relieved of the pain and the irregularity of the kidney action. My circulation is good and I feel better in every way."

A free trial of this great kidney medicine which cured Mrs. Jackson will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists; price 50 cents per box.
