

A RACE UNIVERSE.

Held in Every County Would Condition to Better Relations, Says a Contemporist.

We will the race question cannot be resolved until another race is brought in. We have no history of our own country in the States, which is reported. In our last issue we are of the opinion that tasting good would come of it to the two races. We believe the good colored people should put themselves on record at all times as opposing all that is vicious and bad in the worst elements of their own race; that they should at all times drown down and denounce the law-breakers among them and at no time shield any such people. We know there are many good and honorable colored men in our community, and they should avail themselves of every opportunity to make themselves known to the community in which they live. It would do them good and the white race will be much influenced thereby, to see us to live together in this old Southland for all time to come. The sooner a thorough understanding is reached between the two races the better it will be for all concerned. Let's drown down the law-breakers and the vicious element in both races. The color of this skin should not be allowed to stand in the way of a man's right to success.

The Regular Fee.

A physician, who has an interest in a medical school, sent me a copy of the "Medical Weekly" of Boston, in regard to his practice. The author, in his article, said the physician, who sent him his pen and wrote on a sheet of paper that his former servant was reliable, punctual and polite companion. Taking the paper in his hand and handing the writer for it, the man turned to leave. But the physician called him back and said, "I beg your pardon, sir, yet my terms for a consultation are £ guinea." —London Times.

A Preachment to Money Maniacs.

You money-maniacs drive bad bargains. I know this, though I am only a dreamer. Though landless and homeless, I would not exchange estates. Keep your acres; I am content with continents. Keep your fishponds, I appropriate the seas. Travel; visit Italy; price it; yet it is I who shall have on American soil the true Italian sunshine in my heart. Employ servants; yet all the generations of the past serve me. Buy wine, yet I shall drink better beverage from the wayside spring. Grow corpulent upon rich meats, yet I shall find more nourishment in my crust of bread. In vain shall you buy books that you do not read, talk inanities that induce ennui, expound philosophies that you do not understand and theories that you do not believe. There is but one end—you shall come to doubt the veracity of your own soul. Then turn to me. You shall find me in the castle of dreams, on the river of Tranquility, where the sunlight coins the fair earth into golden bloom, ay, where laughing sunbeams turn to goldfinches and sing ceaselessly in the lilac hedges of pleasant thoughts. I shall lead you back to the gentleness of simplicity. Though you have consort with the insincere, I shall make you companion to unchanging immortals; though you have paid for happiness and purchased pain, I shall provide you freely the joy of a love unending; though you have reviled with lepers, I shall lead you to banquet with gods. The finest things of this world are priceless. Whatsoever you have that gold has bought is less than you might have had for the taking.

WHOOPING COUGH.

How to Handle This Disease and The Lesson of Life That is Imparted in a Time of Distress.

It is a disease that attacks the lungs and heart, and is often fatal. It is a disease of children, and is caused by a virus that is transmitted through the air. It is a disease that is often fatal, especially if it is not treated early.

Home treatment is a series of remedies prepared by the many of the qualities in all their pristine loveliness and richness, that we have learned to look for in the earth and the finer Raphael.

On the ground lies the knight asleep. Near him stand two female figures, the one offering a flower, the other a book, while in the background one sees one of those lovely little Italian landscapes that are half the charm of the old pictures.

The flower or the book, the primrose path of dalliance or stern wisdom, the tale of this choice runs through all our history. Hercules has the same tale attached to him.

Meditating in a solitary place, alone, upon what use to put his marvelous strength to, two women appear to him, Vice and Virtue, each representing the advantages to be gained by choosing herself. It is easy to lose sight of how competely life is at all points a matter of choice, a daily—nay, an hourly—renewing choice.

Which shall it be, a definitely directed will or an easy drifting, cast the decision? We decide it also, open our eyes on the daylight every morning.

Life is directed, life that is not well nigh to an ideal, an object over and beyond the grasp, is the feather in the cap that makes bold on all occasions, gaudily, gaudily, until what is attained is near and to the heart to the end.—Harper's Weekly.

FLUE CURING IMPROVES TOBACCO LIKE ROASTING IMPROVES GREEN COFFEE

Flue Curing Develops the Stimulating Aroma and Taste Found in Schnapps that Satisfies Tobacco Hunger

There are three ways used by farmers for curing and preparing their tobacco for the market; namely, sun cured, air cured and flue cured. The old and cheap way is called air cured; the later discovery and improved way is called flue cured. In flue-curing the tobacco is taken from the field and suspended over intensely hot flues in houses especially built to retain the heat, and there kept in the proper temperature until this curing process develops in the tobacco the stimulating taste and fragrant aroma found in Schnapps tobacco, just as green coffee is made fragrant and stimulating by the roasting process.

Only choice selections of this ripe, juicy flue cured leaf, grown in the famous Piedmont country, where the best tobacco grows, are used in Schnapps and other Reynolds' brands of high grade, flue cured tobaccos.

Hundreds of imitation brands are on sale that look like Schnapps; the outside of the imitation plugs of tobacco is flue cured, but the inside is filled with cheap, flimsy, heavily sweetened air cured tobacco; one chew of Schnapps will satisfy tobacco hunger longer than two chews of such tobacco.

Expert tests prove that this flue cured tobacco, grown in the famous Piedmont region, requires and takes less sweetening than any other kind, and has a wholesome, stimulating, satisfying effect on chewers. If the kind of tobacco you are chewing don't satisfy, more than the mere habit of expectorating, stop fooling yourself and chew Schnapps tobacco.

Schnapps is like the tobacco chewers formerly bought costing from 75c. to $1.00 per pound; Schnapps is sold at 50c. per pound in 5c. cuts, strictly to and 15 cent plugs.
