

MILLINERY and DRESS GOODS OPENING

Thursday and Friday

OCT. 3 & 4

KINGSTREE DRY GOODS COMPANY,

KINGSTREE, S. C.

Local and Personal.

We are sending out a number of statements to subscribers in arrears. There are now on our books nearly 2,000 subscribers, many of whom have paid nothing in a year or longer. We ask all these delinquents to settle up as soon as possible. Each account is made out up to the nearest year or half year. It may be that some who get these statements have already paid; if so just call our attention to the fact and we will cheerfully make the correction. All we want is what is due us and not a cent more. But we do want that.

See list of jurors.

Mr C L Burgess was in town Tuesday from Mouzon.

Mr A J Parsons of Suttons was a visitor in town Tuesday.

Rev J O Caraway of Salters Depot was noted on our streets one day this week.

LeBoy Lee, Esq., was in Georgetown several days this week on professional business.

Mr S W Gowdy of Lake City was in Manning during the week on business—Cor. Columbia State.

Rev J W Bishop, who has recently undergone a tedious illness, is able to be out, to the gratification of his many friends.

Miss Lila Hammet has gone to Marion to take a position with the Marion County Lumber Co. as stenographer and type writer.

Mr Chas Myers, formerly of Kingstree but who now resides at Latta, was here Monday and paid THE RECORD a pleasant call.

The many friends of Mr W E Snowden of Benson were pleased to see him able to come to town last Monday after his recent severe illness.

Mr R D Gamble of Indiantown was in here Monday to see his family, who have moved to Kingstree in order to enjoy the excellent advantages of our graded school.

Miss Nena Brewington of Baltimore, the new milliner for the Kingstree Dry Goods Co., came in Wednesday of last week and will be pleased to get acquainted with her prospective friends and customers.

Miss Odessa Montgomery of Kingstree is making Manning her temporary home this season. Miss Montgomery belongs to one of the best families of Williamsburg county—Cor. Columbia State.

The six banks in Williamsburg county make a remarkably fine showing, and notwithstanding one disastrous year the fact is impressed upon us that the grand old county is far from "busted" yet.

The scholarship for the Citadel Academy from this county was won by Mr J H Woodberry of Johnsonville, and not by Mr J H Floyd, as the daily papers stated it. Mr F R Hemmingway is the alternate.

Dr E T Kelley, who has been associated with Dr W L Wallace during the summer months returned this week to continue his studies at the Medical College of Charleston. Dr Kelley will graduate next year and probably hang out his shingle in Kingstree.

Come and see my line of Tyson & Jones, White Star and Rock Hill buggies for sale cheap—they are going fast. F C Thomas, Kingstree, S. C.

Death of Mrs Janet Ann Wheeler.

Mrs Janet Ann Wheeler died Thursday morning, September 19, at the home of her son, Mr J P Wheeler, of Kingstree, after a long illness, the result of a stroke of paralysis, which she suffered some weeks ago. Mrs Wheeler was the widow of the late Gen. Coffee Wheeler, who died in service near Charleston during the Civil war. She was a daughter of Mr John C Fulmore, who lived near the present town of Cades. Mrs Wheeler was seventy-six years old and was the mother of three children: Messrs J P Wheeler of Kingstree, C E Wheeler of Florence and West Wheeler of Columbia. Her remains were interred at the family burying ground at Bethesda church, near Cades, the funeral services being conducted by Rev. S J Bethea. The funeral was largely attended by people both from Williamsburg and Florence counties.

Mrs Wheeler was a devoted Christian and a lifetime member of the Methodist church. Her death is a sad blow to a large number of friends and relatives in the community in which she lived.

Death of Mr W M McCrea.

On Thursday, September 15, 1907, Mr William Marcellus McCrea passed away at his home near Indiantown postoffice. He was stricken with paralysis about a year ago and his death was the result of another stroke. He was interred at the family burying ground near Central church, Rev E E Ervin conducting the funeral services. Mr McCrea was sixty-nine years old and his wife and eight children—five girls and three boys—survive him.

Mr McCrea was a gentleman of the old regime—a type of those knightly souls that made the "Old South" the admiration of the whole world. Endowed with unusual native ability, enhanced by culture and refinement, he lived his life a modest and unassuming country gentleman, when by right of birth and intelligence he might have aspired to be a leader among men. He was a polished gentleman and ever held a strict sense of justice in his dealings with his fellow-man.

Besides his immediate family Mr McCrea leaves one sister, Mrs Josina Chaudler, the last surviving member of an erstwhile large family circle.

We tender our sincere condolences to the bereaved ones and may they be comforted by Him who tempers the wind to the shorn lamb.
