In Harness Again.

After an absence from the office for one month the editor of THE RECORD is back at his desk with renewed energy and determination to endeavor to give the people of Williamsburg a better county paper than ever they have had before. By reason of illness and "that tired feeling" incident thereto, the editor has not penned a line for the paper, nor has he seen a single business or other communication that came to the office during his absence. He is trying to gather up the more or less tangled threads of the business department as soon as possible, so as to get matters adjusted satisfactorily where misunderstanding exists. We ask any and all our friends who have cause for complaint to write us at once stating the circumstances plainly and we may be depended upon to correct any mistakes that may have been made prior to or during our absence. In the nature of things it is to be expected that there would occur mistakes in the office when the head of the business has been so long absent. So grant us charitable indulgence and aid us in adjusting all matters as speedily as possible.

To our good friend, Rev J E Mahaffey, we are under great and lasting obligation for the admirable manner in which he has conducted the editorial column of this paper, as well as for other favors rendered. We also are indebted to our clever young friend, Judge Wallace, for valuable assistance in filling our columns with readable matter.

Last, but not least, we return grateful and appreciative thanks to our office force, under the able direction of Mr J W Cargile—the accomplished and versatile foreman of the mechanical department—for the faithful and excellent work they have performed. On Mr Cargile the burden of responsibility has been particularly heavy, he being local editor, business manager, proof reader, job printer and having innumerable duties that the public never suspects play a very important part in the making of a newspaper. Any mistakes he may have made are lost in his zeal and loyal service rendered when most needed.

We would be guilty of gross insensibility did we not give expression to the deep appreciation in our heart for the warm welcome given us on our return home and the many kindly offers of aid in the management of the paper during our enforced absence. Words are futile to convey the depth of our feeling and we hope to give practical form to our gratitude by striving more than ever to aid in making Williamsburg the greatest in all our galaxy of counties, and Kingstree the bright particular star in constellation of county capitals. C. W. W.

The Columbia State seems to be making a strenuous effort to read the Charleston News and Courier out of the Democratic party.

Among the towns in the "Low Country" that were villages a little while ago, none has grown more rapidly than Kingstree.—News and Courier.

And the old town is still a-growing, contemporary. With Black river opened up for navigation and a few industrial enterprises now on the tapis, the next few years will see indeed a new and greater Kingstree.

Health Hints.

The observance of a few simple rules will add much to the much to the health and comfort of those living in a warm climate like ours during the summer. Avoid the use of meat as much as possible, especially old meat. Besides being a he-ducer and hard to digest, it is calcareous matter and is su-bring on premature old age, r-matism and general decrep-It lays the foundation for ma-diseases that might otherw-never have gained a foot-hold i-the human system. Nature never intended the stomach to be used as a cemetery.

Eat plenty of sound, ripe fruit and vegetables and home butter, and drink good, fresh buttermilk. It's strange to us that there are so few good cows in this land of Goshen, and so few that know how, or are willing, to take care of one. A good cow is worth $97.50 to any family outside the health considerations.

Frequent bathing is great for hot and cold weather. I don't mean like an alligator takes it. A good sponge bath that can be taken in a few minutes is better than to roll around in the river an hour or two hours. All you want is to keep the skin clean and the pores open. A good basin of water on the washstand and an empty tub to stand in is a very good outfit. Wring the towel and scrub with it to finish. Make it your business to drink plenty of artesian water fresh from the spout. It is just the right temperature for health as as nature furnishes it. You do not need to put ice in it.
