SENATOR TILLMAN INTER-VIEWED AT HIS HOME.

NION ON VARIOUS MATTERS OF BLIC INTEREST – HIS DAILY AVOUA TIONS-RE HANDLES THE PITCHFORK.

Trenton, March 27:-One gets a pretty fair idea of old-fashioned, unaffected Southern hospitality at Senator Tillman's home near Trenton. It is very delightful because of its simplicity. The guest during his stay is made to feel that he is one of the family, and so he is not weared by conventionalities nor oppressed by too many polite attentions. He is left free to follow his own inclinations. If he wants to he is at liberty to walk about the beautiful plantation or stroll out into the froat yard, where flowers and shrubbery are beginning to burgeon beneath the warmth of the spring sun, or go to the nearby village, or sit and read in the Senator's well-filled library, where he will always find some choice book to his liking.

When at home from Washington, especially at this season of the year, Senator Tillman is a very busy man and one's only chance of interviewing him is to spend a night under his hospitable roof. This is what the writer did at his suggestion. Both he and Mrs Tillman made the visit a very pleasant one.

A REAL HOME.

The night was quite cool, and before a cheerful log fire, that made the shadows dance on the walls of the roomy library, we sat till rather late in the night and conversed about various things, the lady of the house, busy with her needle, occasionally taking part, for she and the guest listened more than they talked, as the Senator had the floor most of the time. Many subjects were introduced and discussed. The verdict in the Cooper trial, the fight in the Senate against Crum's nomination, Mr Taft as President and his friend ly attitude toward the South, the recalcitrant Democrats of the lower house of Congress, Mr Tillman's trip abroad last summer, the servant question and the growing untrustwethiness of the negro as a laborer.

THE COOPER CASE.

When asked what he thought of the verdict of the jury in the Cooper case, Senator Tillman said it was with their fellow members by joining the insurgent Republicans to down Cannonism, when they had the opportunity given, Senator Tillman expressed himself in strong terms. He said they were traitors to their party's platform and ought to be read out of the party.

Senator Tillman gave a racy description of his trip abroad and of the countries and places of interest he visited, with shrewd comments on the manners and customs of their people. In this part of the conversation Mrs Tillman joined, setting him right when she thought he was wrong about some date or occurrence, which gave rise to pleasant badinage between the two that was very enjoyable. He stated that in some things the Europeans are ahead of us; in others far behind. In Spain and Italy, for instance, he said the farmers have few or no improved agricultural machinery. They plow with the crudest sort of plows and reap their grain with old-fashioned scythes. He made another statement, which to most of us will be information, namely, that in no part of Europe he visited did he see any red soil or clay such as is found in many parts of this country.

CALISTHENICS.

Before retiring for the night, Senator Tillman gave an exhibition of some exercises with dumb bells. which he has found of great benefit to his health, which, by the way, is excellent by bringing into play muscles rarely used. He recommends such a regimen of exercise, claiming that it is beneficial to one even after he as passed at the age of sixty. He has toughened his muscles considerably, and no doubt, he would be able to compete with the strenuous Mr Roosevelt in a horseback ride. South Carolina's senior Senator and some of his neighbors have gone into the culture of asparagus. His private sceletary, Mr Knight, is very enthusiastic about raising it for the Northern market. There is a ten acre field of it on the Tillman farm, and the next morning everybody on the place was busy cutting and getting it ready for shipment. No finer can be grown on the truck farms around Charleston. It brings about $12 a crate.

THE PITCHFORK.

The last thig this scribe saw bemore than he expected, as he felt fore his departure to take the evealmost convinced that it would end ning train was Senator Tillman busin a mistrial. It seemed to him ily engaged in putting a new handle from the evidence that the killing to a pitchfork. One can imagine the question that naturally arose in the mind, but which was not put for that Sharp, although escaped from obvious reasons: Whether it was to be used on the farm or in the Senate, who can tell? But he had put handles to other things besides hoes and shoyels and rakes. The last thing, however, that was seen to be rehandled was surely a pitchfork .-Columbia Record.

A few 3 later the deception was discovered. Arrest and conviction tollowed. A tew months ago a number of men were elected to Congress on the platform, "let the people rule." They said they were Democrats. They declared they were the employes of the people; that they would serve the people. What they wanted was some goods. The people delivered the goods in the shape of votes and these men were tent to Congress. On March 17 twenty-three of these men stultified themselves, disgraced their party and proved themselves to be the possessors of goods fraudulently obtained.

The poor fellow who lied in order to keep his wife and little ones from hunger is now in jail.

What should done with twentythree men who have admitted the'r guilt-not the guilt of lying in order to get bread, but the guilt of having betrayed every promise and pledge, ally is, subscribe to the Thriceof having deceived the people who trusted them, in order to get committeeships and serve corporations ry other day, except Sunday, and Departure of Passenger that are gripping at the throat of the nation?

Does it look fair that the one should be in jail and the other twenty-three parading down Pennsylvania avenue?

of Senator Carmack was a deliberately planned assassination, and lack of evidence, had knowledge of the conspiracy against Carmack's life. He spoke in high terms of Senator Carmack, regarding him as one of the South's ablest and most brilliant leaders, and above all a tighter. "Fighters," said Senator Tillman, "are needed by the Democratic party at Washington," which was an intimation that he regretted Mr Carmack's enforced retirement from the Senate.

THE CRUM CASE.

As to the fight against Crum, Senator Tillman said he went into it it as a "forlorn hope," He got no encouragement from any of the Democratic Senators excpt Senator McLaurin, of Mississippi, who promised to stand by him and did help in every way possible. On the contrary, his fellow Democrats, gave cold comfort to the undertaking, saying that it was useless to make the fight, but he persisted, and when at last the tide of sentiment began to turn they all rushed forward bravely to his assistance.

Senator Tillman seemed to think President Taft will come nearer being President of the whole country than any occupant of the White House since the war. He regards him as a man of large and liberal 23, 1909, at 11 o'clock a m. views, one who will carry out his policy in the matter of appointments J T FRIERSON, Sect'y. in the South; but the Senator expressed no opinion as to what effect it would have in splitting the whole vote of the South. Five Years of Heart Trouble Cured by Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy

"Before I began taking Dr. Miles' Hea Remedy I had been suffering from heart trouble for over five years. I had pains in my left side, and under my shoulder blade, could not sleep on the left side, and was so short of breath the least exertion would bring on the most distressing palpitation. I had scarcely taken a half bottle of the Heart Reinedy before I could see a marked change in my condition. When I had taken six bottles I was cured."

C. GORKEY, MRS. C. Northfield, Va.

If there is fluttering or palpitation it is an indication of a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the heart. It is not necessarily diseased-just weak from over-work. The heart may be weak just the same as the eyes, stomach or other organs. You can make a weak heart strong by taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy. Get a bottle from your druggist, take it according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.
