A Gentleman From Mississippi

By THOMAS A. WISE

Novelized From the Play by Frederick R. Toombs

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY THOMAS A. WISE

Unknown to both, the door leading from the hall had opened to admit Senator Longdon into the lower end of the room. Surprised at the sight of the couple, so seriously intent on each other, he made a sudden gesture of anger, then, apparently changing his mind, advanced toward them.

"I believe you want to see me, sir," he said to Haines. "I hope you'll be brief. I have very little time to spare from my guests."

Hope's bosom fluttered timorously at the interruption. The man nervously stepped forward.

"I shan't take much of your time, Senator Langdon," he said. "There has been a misunderstanding, a terrible mistake. I am sure I can convince Senator Langdon hesitated doubtfully, half turned toward Carolina, Randolph and Norton, who had followed him, and again faced Haines.

Hope pressed her father's arm and looked up into his face entreatingly. Randolph, observing this, quickly stepped close to the senator's side, saying, "I can settle with this Mr. Haines for you."

Waving his son aside, the senator finally spoke.

"I reckon there's been too many urgent it's marked." attending to my business and settling my affairs, Randolph," he said. think for a change I'll settle a few of my own. All of you children go out and Mr. Randolph to come here." and leave me here with Mr. Haines."

CHAPTER XIX.

SENATOR LANGDON LEARNS THE TRUTH. HEN they were alone Haines faced the senator and spoke determinedly. "They told you I was not running straight," he said. The senator nodded, and the lines about his mouth deepened.

Bud Haines stiffened at the word. Every muscle in his body seemed to become rigid as he mentally vowed that he would retaliate against his traducers if it cost him his life to do it. Hope had informed him only too accurately, he now realized. Little did the senator know that what he was now about to hear would give him one of the severest shocks of his life.

"They told me you weren't running straight," said Haines deliberately. "Now, neither one of us has been crooked, but somebody else has been, and this was the plan to keep us apart."

"Norton told me you were speculating in Altacoola lands," said Langdon. "And Norton told me the same of you," retorted Bud.

The senator's face grew very serious. But my daughter, Miss Carolina Langdon, confirmed Norton's story."

Haines here faced the most difficult part of his interview. He hardly knew how to answer. His manhood rebelled against placing any blame on a woman. He revolted at the thought of ruining a father's faith in his daughter's honesty, especially when that father was the man he most admired, a man for whom he had genuine, deep rooted affection. But it was necessary that the words be spoken.

"I hate to tell you, sir," he said in a low, uncertain voice, "that it was your daughter Carolina who made me believe this story told about you and vouched for by your son Randolph."

Langdon started back aghast. He stared at Haines and knew that he spoke the truth. Then his white head sank pathetically. Tears welled into the eyes of the planter, and this sturdy old fighting man dropped weakly into a chair, sobbing convulsively, broken in spirit and wearled in body.

At length Haines spoke to his strick-

"I know it hurts," he said. "It hurt me to have to say it. Don't believe it until you get it out of Norton, but then you must do something."

Langdon came to his feet, mopping his cheeks. But there was no weakness in him now. Yes, he would do something. He would go after the thieves that had turned his own flesh and blood against him and root them all out

-show them all up.

"Oh, I'll do something," he said grimly. "I'm going to make up for lost time. Of course Norton is speculating. Who's behind him?"

"Stevens and Peabody, I'm positive," answered Haines, "and behind them is Standard Steel."

"What," exclaimed Langdon, "Stevens in a swindle like this! Are you sure? How do you know?" "A Gulf City man who couldn't carry his liquor gave me some clews, and I worked Norton into telling some " answered the secretary. "Where is Peabody?

"He's here now." "Then he hasn't got my letter yet. 1

City claims have been brought before you so strongly that you might vote for Gulf City."

Langdon was amazed.

You sent that note," he exclaimed. when you know Altacoola is the only proper place and Gulf City is a mud

The newspaper man smiled.

"Of course," he agreed, "but I had to get a rise out of Peabody. This will show where he stands." "Oh," said Langdon, "I understand.

Thanks, boy.' A servant entered with a note. "For Senator Peabody, sir, marked 'Urgent.' The messenger's been hunting him for some hours."

Langdon looked shrewdly at

Bud, then turned to the servant. Now up at the old "You keep that note until I ring for you, then bring it to Senator Pea-No matter bow body. Understand?

The man bowed.

"Yes, sir."

"Now tell Mr. Norton, Miss Langdon

The senator turned back to his secretary.

"I expect I'm going to be pretty busy the rest of the evening, Bud, so in case I forget to mention it again remember to show up at your old desk in the morning."

"I will. Thank you, sir." "You sent for us, senator," said Nor-

"I am, sir," be said.

ton, approaching with his two dupes. "You are interested in Altacoola lands," the senator angrily charged.

"And you told Mr. Haines that I was interested in Altacoola lands?"

The schemer hesitated, and the sen ator broke in on him in rage.

"Speak out, man! Tell the truth, if you can.'

"I did," admitted the congressman finally.

"Was there any particular reason for your not telling the truth?" demanded the Mississippian in threatening tone. "I told the truth," replied Norton.

"You are interested in them." For an instant Langdon seemed about to step toward him, then he controlled himself. "I didn't know it," he said.

"You have several things to learn, senator," declared the congressman.

"I have things to learn and things to teach," he said. "But go on. Why am I interested?"

"You are interested, senator," replied the trickster, making his big play, "through your son Randolph, who invested $50,000 of your money in Altacocla, and also through your daughter, Miss Carolina, who, acting on my advice, has put her own money-$25.-

000-in Altacoola land also." For a moment Langdon was speechless. It was too much at first for the honest old southerner to comprehend. "You mean," he gasped at last, "that you induced a boy to put $50,000 in Altacoola land when you knew I had to vote on the bill? And you even let my daughter put her money in the same scheme?"

"Of course I did. It was a splendid to equal suffrage. chance, and I let your son in for friendship and your daughter because she has done me the honor to promise to become my wife."

"What! You have my daughter's promise to marry you, you" "She admits it herself."

"Then I reckon here's where I lose prospective son-in-law," sneered Langdon. "But that's unimportant. Now, Norton, who's behind you?"

"I must decline to answer that." Langdon looked at him sternly. "Very well," he said. "You are too small to count. I'll find out for myself. Now you go to my study and wait there until I send for yoc. I must be alone with my children." When Norton and Haines had left them, Langdon turned sadly to the two children who had disgraced him. "Can you understand?" he said. "Do you know what you've done to me?" "What, father? We've done nothing wrong?" protested Carolina.

"They told me it was perfectly legitimate," urged Randolph. "They said ing issues everybody-Peabody and Stevens and the rest-were in it, and Peabody is the boss of the senate."

"Yes, my boy," assented the old planter, "he's the leader in the senate, should set you so miserable an exam-

Randolph Langdon was not a vicious lad, not a youth who preferred or chose wrongdoing for the increased rewards it offered. He was at heart a chivalrous, straightforward, trustful southern boy who believed in the splendid traditions of his family and loved his father as a son should a parent having writes R M James of Louellen, S C. fordsville. Jealous of his honor, he had and Blood Troubles and will preven been a victim of Norton's wiles because sent him a note and signed your name, of the congressman's position and pursenator, to the effect that the Gulf suggiveness, because this companion of by D C Scott.

his young days had won his confidence and had not hesitated to distort the lad's idea of what was right and what

Randolph began an indignant protest against his father's reproof when the senator cut him short,

"Don't you see?" said the senator. I can understand there being rascals in the outside world and that they should believe your careless, foolish old father lawful game, but that he should be thought a tool for dishonest thieving by members of his own family is incomprehensible.

"Randolph, my son, Carolina, my daughter, through all their generations the Langdons have been honorable. Your mother was a Randolph, and this from you! Oh, Carolina! And, you, Randolph! How could you? How could you betray or seek to betray your father, who sees in you the image of your dear mother, who has gone?"

[CONTINUED NEXT WEEK.]

A Dubious Welcome.

The good people of Lake City and efforts to get a new county, now talk very small majorities for the disvery strongly about coming over into Florence. This is a mighty good lature at its next session will pass a section of country, and mighty good | State-wide prohibition law. The people, but did you ever hear of a will of the people of 36 counties out household and proving an entering the remaining six counties su. liamsburg had better stay around their rule. own hearth and fireside except when they come up as company .- Florence

The September American Magazine.

"Hill against Harriman-The Story of the Ten Years' Struggle for the Railroad Supremacy of the West" is the leading feature of the September American Magazine. Its author, George H Cushing, says "Hill has worked in the tomorrow of things. Harriman today. Hill has won by projecting an idea ahead of him and working up to it. Harriman thinks in present profits and crashes through opposition with the weight of his financial support. Hill's is the success of brain; Harriman's of mon ey and organization." The article gives a surprising glimpse into the inside workings of great railroad

Ray Stannard Baker writes about 'The Faith of the Unchurched' and tells why it is that of the one billion dollars that has been given away by Americans during the past ten years for various philanthropic purposes, comparatively little has gone to the "Woman and the Occupatious," by Prof W I Thomas, shows how women are entering the trades and professions from the top and bottom, and that they are therefore entitled

"The Evolution of a Train Robber," by Edgar Beecher Bronson, is the story of a good cow-puncher who went wrong, and Walter Pritchard Eaton describes where and how moving pictures are made.

High grade fiction is contributed by Inez Haynes Gillmore, Mrs L H Harris, Fielding Ball and James Oppenheim, while intervening reading is offered in "A Servant on the Servant Problem," "Margarita's Soul," "The Pilgrim's Scrip" and "In the Interpreter's House."

An important editorial announcement is made in this issue of the American Magazine which will awaken much curiosity and lively interest in the October and succeed-

Washington's Plague Spots

lie in the low, marshy bottoms of the and that's the shameful part of all this | the Potomac, breeding ground of that a man of his high standing malaria germs. These germs cause chills, fever and ague, biliousness, jaundice, lassitude, weakness and general debility and bring suffering C Scott's. or death to thousands yearly. But Electric Bitters never fails to destroy them and cure malaria troubles. "They are the best all-round tonic and cure for malaria I ever used," They cure Stomach, Liver Kidney Typhoid. Try them, 50c. Guaranteed

ELECTION AFTERMATH

As Viewed by Harpers Correspondent— State-wide Prohibition the Thing.

Harpers, August 23:-The exciting elections both on the whiskey question and that of the formation of Rutledge county have passed quietly into history. The people of the county have made their will known at the ballot box and their wishes should prevail.

It is reported here that Rosemary precinct, in Georgetowic county, will be contested. Georgetown county gave the dispensary only 80 votes majority, and ninety-nine votes at Rosemary were cast for the dispensary. If this poll be thrown out it would leave a majority for pro-

We note that all the "wet" Scranton, being disappointed in their counties, except Charleston, have pensary and we hope that the Legisnew member being adopted in the of the 42 has now been expressed and wedge to break up the family? That also be made to come under the law. happens so often that we are inclined Those six counties should not to be a little cautious. We would have the right to sow the seed of love to have that member of our the devil; let them be governed by household if we had any assurance the majority of the counties of the that they would stay with us. Flor. State. If allowed to retain the ence is a mighty good county to dispensary those six counties will come into, a good family to be con- create almost as much evil in the nected with, a family that believes in State as though every county was respecting the rights of all of its selling rum. I hope our law-makers members and giving them as much will see the importance of passing a liberty as is consistent with the fam- State-wide prohibition bill next ily safety. Our friends down in Wil- winter. Let the wishes of the people

SUBSCRIBER.

THE STATE'S FINANCES.

Statement from Comptroller General Showing Cash on Hand in Counties.

Although the State is to porrow another $100,000 next month to meet current expenses, bringing the total so far borrowed this year up to the statutory limit of half a million, and practically all the counties are more or less heavy borrowers, a statement issued by the comptroller general today as of June 30 shows total cash on hand to the State and county treasurers of $1, 495,239.38. This looks like bad financing somewhere, but it is explained that in the first place the statement as of datr June 30 shows quite a different e e of affairs than statement whi n might be gotten up of conditions existing right now, although the State was borrowing money heavily at the former period. The statement of the comptroller general shows cash balances for the State treasury of $267,798.10 to the credit of the general fund and $241, 116.49 to the credit of special funds, a total of $408,914.59, but since then, it is explained, a seminual interest bill of $145,000 has been paid and a number of big items as well.

And among the counties it is known that in spite of the fact that several show large cash balances, many of them have been borrowing to meet current expenses. In the case of Clarendon, for instance, which according to the comptroller general's statement had $27,745.05 on June 30, and is now on a strain for cash to such an extent that a few days ago a claim for less than $5 against the county commissioners was turned down because there was not cash enough on hand to meet such claims.

The comptroller general's statement of county cash balances on June 30, 1909, shows Williamsburg to have cash on hand $16,260.11, of which amount $659.10 was in the office and $15,601.01 in banks.

The Crime of Idleness.

Idleness means trouble for any one. It's the some with a lazy liver. It causes constipation, headache, jaundice, sallow complexion, pimples and blotches, but Dr King's New Life Pills soon banish liver troubles and build up your health, 25c at D

FOR SALE.

Brick in any quantity to suit purchas er. The Best Dry Press Machine-made XBRICK.X Special shapes made to order. Correpondence solicited before placing your orders,

W. R. FUNK.

P. P. P.

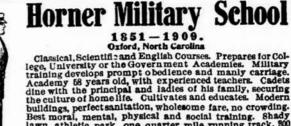

Makes Marvelous Cures in Blood Poison, Bheumatism and Scrofula.

P. P. purifies the blood, builds up the weak and debilitated, gives strength to weakened nerves, expels disease, giving the patient health and happiness, where sickness, gloomy feelings and lassitude first prevailed.

In blood poison, mercurial poison, malaria, dyspepsia, and in all blood and skin diseases, like blotches, pimples, old chronic ulcers, tetter, scald head, we say without fear of contradiction that P. P. P. is the best blood purifier in the world.

Ladies whose systems are poisoned and whose blood is in an impure condition due to menstrual irregularities, are pecultarly benefitted by the won-derful tonic and blood cleansing properties of P. P. P., Prickly Ash, Poke

F. V. LIPPMAN, SAVANNAH, CA.

Oxford, North Carolina
Classical, Scientificand English Courses. Prepares for College, University or the Government Academies. Military training develops prompt obedience and manly carriage, Academy 58 years old, with experienced teachers. Cadets dine with the principal and ladies of his family, securing the culture of homelife. Cultivates and educates. Modern buildings, perfect sanitation, wholesome fare, no crowding. Best moral, mental, physical and social training. Shady lawn, athletic park, one quarter mile running track, 800 acres. Ideal climate, helpful environment. In the social atmosphere of refined Christian people. The town noted for over a century as an educational centre.

Catalogues ready for distributing

HORNER MILITARY SCHOOL

HORNER MILITARY SCHOOL Col. J. C. Horner, Principal, Oxford, N. C.

Banner Warehouse,

Kingstree, S. C.

We solicit the patronage of farmers of Williamsburg, Clarendon and adjoining counties. We have ample storing and grading room for Tobacco, with sufficient capital to protect our customers. We know what buyers want and know every type of Tobacco that is sold. We are going to give our customers the benefit of our experience and with hard, honest work and fair dealings, we can guarantee top prices on every pile Tobacco sold with us. A trial is all we ask to convince the seller that we know our business and that it is to his advantage to sell his Tobacco at Banner Warehouse. Come to see us.

SLAUGHTER, EPPS & BAKER; PROPRIETORS.

J. L. STUCKEY,

Lake City, S. C.

EXCLUSIVELY LIVE STOCK.

A nice bunch of HORSES and MULES always on hand. Don't buy or sell or trade your stock without giving me a show.

Yours for business.

J. L. STUCKEY.

AT KINGSTREE, S. C.

WATTS & WATTS. We have opened up with an extra fine stock of Watches, Diamonds, Clocks, Silverware and Novelties, Wedding Rings, Wedding and Christmas presents of all kinds in the Jewelry line. We are also prepared to do all kinds of

WATCH, CLOCK and JEWELRY WORK ALL WORK WARRANTED

