

To Our Customers:

There Are Many of You.

That we appreciate your patronage, your loyalty and steadfastness fully as much as you appreciate the help we have at times been able to furnish you, goes without saying.

However, we want to take this public method of thanking you for past patronage and, with full confidence that this patronage will continue, we pledge you our best endeavors in the future as you have had them in the past.

Wishing you an increased measure of happiness and prosperity for the year 1910, we are

Sincerely yours,

PERSONAL.

Mr M F Heller got in a big drove of horses last week.

Mr W T Sports of Greelyville was here Thursday on business.

Mr J M Sturgeon of Lake City was noted in town Monday.

Mr J B Prosser of Leo was noted on our streets Friday of last week.

Mr L A Rogerson of Harpers paid us his respects while in town Tuesday.

We were pleased to have a visit Saturday from Mr J Y McGill of Benson.

LeRoy Lee, Esq., was called to Florence Monday on professional business.

Mr J M Cook of Salters Depot favored us with a brief but pleasant call Saturday.

Col B Wallace Jones of Lake City spent the day in town yesterday on business.

Mr J L Nexsen, one of our suburban residents, called to see us Saturday while in town.

Mr A D Wilson, of the Indian town church section, was a welcome guest at our sanctum Monday.

Messrs S B Poston and Walter Poston, of the Johnsonville section, gave us the pleasure of a visit yesterday.

Our ever-welcome, friend Mr W C Wilson, of the Cades section, paid The Record a pleasant visit Saturday.

Mr J M Williamson of Vox called to see us Monday and joined the small army of "Record" subscribers.

Miss Hannah Gale left for Baltimore Sunday night to purchase Gale & Gale's stock of spring millinery.

Mrs M E Pipkin has returned from an extended visit to relatives in Williamsburg.—Manning Cor Sunday News.

Mr B Wallace Jones, Jr, one of Lake City's deservedly successful young business men, paid The Record an agreeable visit Monday.

Miss Mollie Epps has accepted a position at Gale & Gale's millinery establishment, where she will be glad to see her many friends.

Mr J A Reed of Lake City was here Saturday and told us he had decided to read The Record the ensuing year, presenting the wherewithal to ensure its weekly visits.

Mr J W Umstead, who has been manager of the Kingstree Insurance, Real Estate & Loan company, left last week to take a similar position of larger responsibility at Rockingham, N. C. Mr Umstead, during his residence in Kingstree, gained the esteem of all with whom his relations brought him in contact either in a social or business way. In common with his host of other friends here we wish him success commensurate with his energy, industry and moral character.

Mr W H Kinder, whose home is a few miles from town, has been extremely ill for several months. His condition became so serious that on Wednesday of last week Dr D C Scott, the attending physician, took him to Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, where the finest surgeons in the United States have made a thorough examination and diagnosis of the case. Dr Scott has returned home and says that Mr Kinder is doing as well as could be expected considering the serious nature of his disease. We hope soon to hear a favorable report of his condition.

Meadow Brook Farm.

When the curtain rises on the first act of "Meadow Brook Farm" at the Thomas Opera house on Monday, February 7, those who have been fortunate enough to secure seats will experience a most pleasing effect. The scene is on a New England farm in the vicinity of Cathedral Hills, in the State of New Hampshire. The smell of the new-mown hay, the singing of the birds, and the perfume from the blooming roses, are all so discernible as to cause one to forget for the time being that he is in a theatre.

Si Holden and his wife, Jane, are two lovable characters, who will remind you of your father and mother or grandparents, as you remember them. Incidentally, Sim Smith and Tim Slocum, the town Constable and Justice of the Peace, and Polly Bird, who was born tired, and Billy Bates, the circus bill-poster, will drive away all dull cares and cure the worst kind of a case of the blues.

The company headed by Lou Streeter are especially selected to fit the various characters. W F Mann has in "Meadow-Brook Farm" a play that is bound to live long in the hearts of American people.

Sore Lungs and Raw Lungs.

Most people know the feeling, and the miserable state of health it indicates. All people should know that Foley's Honey and Tar, the greatest throat and lung remedy, will quickly cure the soreness and cough and restore a normal condition. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar.

THE RECORD has printed up a number of promissory note books, fifty notes to the book, that we are selling at ten cents each.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Mr M H Jacobs has been elected town clerk and treasurer.

Next Wednesday will be Ash Wednesday, the beginning of Lent, which will continue until March 27—Easter.

As we go to press we learn that Mr Luther Wilson, of the Indian town section, died last night of pneumonia.

The Trio Farm Supply Co., of Trio has been chartered with a capital of $10,000. The company will do a general mercantile business.

We are now printing up a lot of notes and mortgages of crops which we will have ready for our customers by Monday. If in need of any these blanks, call on us.

Efforts are being made to build a telephone line between Workman and Kingstree. This will include the Pudding Swamp section and will be mutually convenient to town and country people.

The members of Kingstree Lodge, No 46, A F M, will attend service in a body at the Methodist church next Sunday morning, when a special sermon will be preached by the pastor, Rev W A Fairy.

Mr B E Clarkson, the popular manager of the Kingstree Telephone Company, has recently had patented a contrivance to be attached to telephone instruments to protect them from lightning. We hope that Mr Clarkson's invention will be a profitable one.

We hereby give notice for the last time that every subscriber to this paper to whom a statement has been sent, who has failed to respond, will be cut off our mailing list after this week. If you want the paper continued let us hear from you promptly.

Unless we hear from them by next Thursday a number of people who have been receiving The Record for a year or longer will no longer get the paper. We hate to part company with these friends, many of whom have stood by the paper for years, but we can't disregard the law out of personal considerations.

The Fable of the Two Brothers.

William and John were two brothers who differed very widely in Temperament (see Dictionary). William was always kind and good, and had been ever since he was born. John was bold and bad, and would be until he died. When William reached Man's Estate (which was the only Estate he ever did reach) he fell in love with a Beautiful Maiden and married her. John also fell in love and married, which was the only time in his life that he followed his brother's example.

As time went on, William rose in the Business World until he became a Bookkeeper for a wholesale Grocery Firm at a salary of Twelve Dollars a week. John found it necessary to struggle along on a modest stipend of Six Thousand a year, for he was only a Broker, William, however, couldn't be any Broker. William proved a model husband, and permitted his Better Half to absorb eleven-twelfths of his earnings, whereas John made his wife keep house on $4.75 a week, and beat her regularly every Tuesday. After a while, the World was surprised to hear that William's Better Half had run away with a male Person who wore his hair long and played the French horn with a strong German accent. John's wife still adores him, and Rumor says that she has requested Her Husband to beat her hereafter on Fridays as well as on Tuesdays.

For such is the way of Woman!

Esau and Aesop.

President Hadley of Yale, visiting a children's school in Bridgeport, once asked a little boy who Esau was.

The lad's reply was astonishing: "Esau," said he, "was the author of a book of fables; he sold the copyright for a bottle of potash."—Exchange.

HUNTING CREEK CORN WHISKEY

Hunting Creek Corn Whiskey is the finest piece of goods that the science of distilling has ever produced, this is a very broad statement but we are willing to back it by our reputation.

It costs more to make HUNTING CREEK CORN now than it did when we first began but, it was the best that could be made then and so it is to-day—in spite of the increase in cost.

HUNTING CREEK CORN WHISKEY is very mild, mellow and palatable with a flavor all its own, which all imitators have failed to produce. Its unquestioned purity makes it, when needed, the doctors favorite prescription.

The same QUALITY ALWAYS—It never VARIES.
