

The Attractive Bank Account

When you start an account you will be pleased to find what a convenience it is to have a safe place for your money, and know that you can get at it, in case you need it, at once. It beats any other method of disposition of your funds.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Cotton is quoted to-day on the local market at 14 cents; seed $30 the ton.

Christmas is just around the corner.

The Civic League met at 4 p. m. yesterday.

The cold wave came on schedule time Tuesday.

Have you paid for your paper? If not, why not?

Jenkinson Bros have a message for you. See their big ad.

See ad "Among the Breakers," Johnsonville Graded School.

Owing to the pastor's absence attending conference, there will be no preaching in the Methodist church next Sabbath.

To the several hundred subscribers who owe us nothing or are paid in advance, our appeals are not directed. But, sad to say, they are in a minority.

Don't overlook Dr H D Reese's invitation to those afflicted with poor eyesight or defective eyeglasses. He will be in Kingstree at Watts & Watts, Jewelers', December 5-10.

Our collections this month on subscription have been barely enough to pay freight on print paper, without which of course no paper could be produced. What is the matter with our subscribers, anyway?

Our Christmas issue will be published next week, the 15th inst. Advertisers will please let us have copy as soon as possible. A lot of work is required to get up this paper and we must have time on it.

A small want ad in the Record brings results, as many who have tried our classified column will attest. Of course, the bigger the space the bigger the results, if the ad reads right and the advertiser keeps faith with the public.

It looks hard to be borrowing money to keep this paper going when we have about a thousand dollars owing us in little dribbles of one to five dollars, that could we collect it would put us on "Easy street." Why don't you come up like men and do the right thing?

Attention is called to the five bank statements published in this issue. They speak for themselves and indicate, more forcibly than any other argument, the prosperity of our county. Time was when the man who had "money in the bank" was the exception; now he is the rule.

The members of Kingstree Camp No 27, Woodmen of the World, enjoyed a supper at Meyer's cafe Monday evening. The "Choppers" and their guests numbered thirty-two, we understand, and the occasion was "a feast of reason and a flow of soul" in the best and truest sense.

To send out 1,000 statements will cost us $20 postage, not counting the labor of writing and mailing them. At a dollar a year there is but a small margin of profit on the paper we send out, anyway. Now, friends, don't put us to all this trouble and expense when all you've got to do is to look at the label on your paper to tell what date your subscription expires.

The Woman's Missionary society will have a "Praise Meeting" in the Presbyterian church, on Friday evening, December 16, 7 o'clock. Dr P F Price, of our mission to China, will address the meeting, to which everybody is invited. Come and hear a live, magnetic speaker from the firing line. He will enlist your interest in the greatest enterprise in the world.

Friends, don't ask us to do impossible things. Our limit for receiving articles of length is Tuesday noon. That is the final limit. When you ask us to make an exception to this rule you put us in an embarrassing position: we want to be obliging and yet to accept belated "copy" throws the paper late and subscribers complain, as they have a right to do. Be reasonable; it's hard work and takes time.

In sending us news of the death of a relative or friend, please don't wait a month or two, when it ceases to be news. We charge one cent a word for obituaries regardless of when sent in; death notices are published free when they come as news—not a month or a year after the funeral. Obituary poetry, or extracts from the hymn book, are printed only at one cent a word. Please don't ask us to deviate from this rule.

The ladies of the Civic League have at considerable expense employed a man to clean the streets and side-walks of unsightly debris and rubbish. On behalf of the ladies who are striving to make the town cleaner and more sanitary we ask all merchants and shop-keepers to cooperate with the league by making an effort to keep their premises clean and not allow trash and by-products to accumulate, especially in front of their places of business.

Master Wilmot Scott Allen was "at home" to his friends yesterday afternoon, 3:30 to 5 o'clock, the occasion being his third birthday. The little folk played out-doors till they were full of enjoyment, then they filled themselves to repletion with ice-cream and cakes and other appetizing delicacies. The hospitable young host bore off the honors of the occasion with grace and courtesy and received many tokens of remembrance from his youthful associates.

The president of the county teachers' association wishes us to announce that President "Haynes", of Columbia (as near as we could get it over the long distance "phone") would be present at the next meeting of the association to be held here December 10. The alleged long distance service here is a joke, to put it mildly. We lost several hours Tuesday trying to get this message and finally, six hours after the call first sounded, some kind of message got through, but the sound is transmitted so imperfectly that it takes half guess-work to understand anything.

We are indebted to our thoughtful young friend, Master David Nexsen, who lives near town, for a nice bunch of partridges presented us last week. They are the first we've eaten since last fall and to say they were enjoyed to the utmost would but faintly express our appreciation. This kind friend says that he had sent us a bigger string a few days previously, but before they were delivered somebody "swiped" them from his messenger. To lose a gift of nearly a dozen quails when they come our way so seldom, would have been little short of a calamity but for the consolation derived from the second gift.

GALE & GALE

For many years we have allowed the use of our columns for advertising money-raising enterprises, such as hot suppers, church fairs, festivals, etc. Not only did we receive no money for this service, but sometimes when we failed to give big type or a conspicuous position the promoters actually became offended. Very few times within our recollection have the beneficiaries of such favors thought it worth while even to thank us for the service. Just a single time last winter a friend showed appreciation by bringing the editor a nice piece of barbecue the day after the affair. He, by the way, had previously offered to pay for the service. Now, we give fair notice: Any announcement of fair, hot supper, entertainment or other money-raising enterprise for any purpose will be charged for at the rate of one cent a word each insertion. Count your words and send stamps or coin. The other papers of the State charge for these notices and we can't afford to run them free any longer. If it's worth having it's worth paying for.

music, spent the week-end here as guests of Mr Hugh McCutchen's family.

Dr W E Brown of Manning died Monday night after a lingering illness. His wife, who with three children survives him, is a daughter of the late Junius E Scott, Esq, formerly of this county. Mrs Brown has the sympathy of a large circle of relatives and friends in Williamsburg.

Mr J V Wallace, manager of the Cable Company's office in Charleston, met with a serious accident while out hunting Tuesday near Summer-ville. His shot-gun was discharged accidentally and wounded him severely in the hand. Mr Wallace is a brother-in-law of Dr R J McCabe of Kingstree.

After an absence of some months Mr W I Nexsen, of Kingstree and Asheville, is here for several weeks looking after his business affairs and seeing his friends as well. Every time he comes he seems to be bigger, though Mr Nexsen says that his tonnage is no greater than when he was here last time. Anyway, our friend's embonpoint has assumed quite aldermanic proportions.

Yesterday morning Mr John T Eddy was taken off the train here for medical treatment, being too ill to continue the journey to his home, which is near Leo. Our information is that Mr Eddy was returning from Charleston and while on the train was stricken with something like apoplexy. As soon as possible after arriving here, Dr Kelley was brought to the aid of the suffering man, who at last accounts was resting easy.
