

CLEMSON COLLEGE NOTES.

Auspicious Opening—Building Improvement.

Clemson College, September 26:—In the history of Clemson College the session just opening promises to be the greatest. Over 800 students were enrolled and after standing examinations nearly that number are still here. The new course known as the "Work-boy Course," which enables a boy to work and attend classes alternate weeks, is proving very popular. Twenty-seven boys are now pursuing this course.

Great improvements have been made to the college property during the summer. In addition to the improvements of barracks the new dairy bulletins have been completed and equipped, two large concrete silos have been built, and the farm barns are now under construction.

The encampment at the State Fair this year will rest largely with the boys. If they want to go, the trip is virtually assured. The decision will be made by the president of the Board of Trustees and the president of the college.

We have a large number of boys from our county for this session. They are: H T Prosser, A C Turbeville, A F Rogers, T B Rogers, J McCullough, J H Brockington, C L Chapman and T Harper. We regret very much that one of our most popular members, Mr J C Epps, Jr, did not return for this session.

Knowing of the wide-spread trouble that the fungus boll rot of cotton is giving in the State, we have asked Professor H W Barre, of the Experiment Station corps, to give us an article on the subject. A C T.

In Memoriam.

Died, near Cades Saturday, September 9, little Laura May, daughter of Mr and Mrs H J McFaddin, aged four months and twenty-three days. After all that loving hands could do to prolong life, God, in His all-wise Providence, saw fit to take her. It brought untold sorrow to our hearts to give her up, still we know, "God doeth all things well," and such being the case, we know that should we live righteous lives, we will again meet her, never to be separated any more, which should console us. God sent her for only a short while and then took her to heaven to walk the golden streets, where they have neither sickness nor death and where they are forever at rest.

All that medical skill could do was done, but she left us to be among the angels in heaven; therefore, our loss was their eternal gain. Sleep on, little Laura, we hope to meet thee in heaven. Truly—

"God moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform. He plants His footsteps on the sea And rides upon the storm."

The Wisdom of Solomon.

The Queen of Sheba once paid a visit to King Solomon, of whose wisdom she had heard so much. She made up her mind to see if the king was really as wise as they said he was.

She brought with her from her home some beautiful pots of flowers. Some were real and had grown in her own garden; but some had been made by her maids and looked so real that it was almost impossible to tell them from the real ones.

One day she had all these pots of flowers brought before the king, and she said: "Your Majesty, it has been said that you are wisest of men! If you are so wise, I pray you tell me which of these flowers are real and which have been made by my maids!"

For some time Solomon looked at the flowers without being able to tell which were real and which were not, because the colors were so natural and the perfume so beautiful. His face brightened as he suddenly went to the window and threw it open. In a few minutes the bees began to fly into the room, and they settled on the real flowers to get their honey, but they did not go near the others.

Solomon then said: "Your Majesty, with the help of the bees, I have answered your question. Can I serve you further?"

"King Solomon," said the Queen of Sheba, "rightly do men call you the wisest of men!"

An Editor's Love Letter.

"Dear darling delinquent! Our precious subscriber in arrears! You are so shy. Do you think we have sold out and gone? No, little sugar plum, we could not get away if we wanted to. We are still at the same old stand dishing out the advertisers on sweet promises and bright expectations. They make an excellent diet, darling, with a little pudding, flavored with a word of encouragement to serve as a dessert. We are waiting and watching for thee, our turtle dove. We long to hear thy gentle footstep on the stairway below and to hear the merry ring of the happy dollar within our office. Dear one, we feel unusually sad and lonely without you, dear. Now, little pie crust, will you come? Do we hear you answer in a voice so sweet and beguiling, I'm coming; or is it only the cold winds that around our office roar? We pause for further development."—Ez.

After paying taxes examine your receipts and see if all of your property is covered; if not, see about it at once.
