LIGHT IS ENERGY.

If the Rays Are Not, Absorbed They Will Travel opa Forever.

If one could get an inclosed room with perfectly mirroring walls and light an electric bulb in it for a second and then suddenly annihilate the bulb the light would go on reflecting back and forth forever. So if one could look into this room a year later he would see the lighted McLaurin and every one in this secbulb, which no longer existed, mir- tion of South Carolina that wishes rored in all the walls of the room. to hear this distinguished son of

Washington, D C.

Pietro Caracali was deliberating on a plan to extort money by sending a threatening letter to some one who could afford to hand over the cash to avoid trouble, when chance gave him a fine opportunity. He was walking one night about 11 o'clock when he espied a light flash among the trees

Pietro was of an enterprising turn of mind, arguing that one can never tell when a secret may be picked up which may be turned into money. The the sun shining on it and no clouds worn cotton grower and dependent flash had revealed to him something that he had not expected to see at that time of night in a rich man's grounds-namely, a gentleman carrying a small oblong box under his arm. Moreover, Pietro got a glimpse of a lady moving beside the gentleman. some favorable action nationalizing Both were young, and the lady was beautiful.

> Pietro did not need to be the adept he was at theorizing to feel sure that this young couple were going to bury the body of a child contained in the box they had with them. If the little one had died without mystery there would have been no need of their interring it at this time of night and in this secret manner. Stealthily he followed the couple, who stopped at an from the American Government at open space in the shrubbery. The man dug a grave and, having put the box in it, shoveled in the earth and smoothed the surface, while the lady, holding the lantern, stood by, a picture of melancholy. A big dog stood by the lady, viewing the burial with evident interest. When it was finished and the couple were about to return to the house the dog pricked up his ears and gave a low growl. Pietro beat a hasty retreat. The dog dashed toward him, and Pietro got over the fence just in time to save himself from a pair of powerful jaws.

Pietro believed that he had a valuable secret. If he was right in his inference that the body of a child had been buried those who had interred it would undoubtedly give a large sum commercial grades, in even weight for the preservation of the secret. sacks for the local and away markets. Pietro was a methodical rascal and would have visited the grave, dug up delphia. Thus, if the son is called Fudle Aliah, "God's bounty," the father will henceforth be known as Abu Fudle Allah, "father of God's bounty." In like manner the husband, Prof Nathaniel Gist Gee, mother would become known as and three children, is on a visit to Em Fudle Allah, "mother of God's bounty." This custom is not merely one of common speech, but extends to all occasions and even to legal documents. Still more strangely, even when a man though married has no son the courtesy of oriental society demands that he should be addressed as Abu Salim or Abou Mahmoud, after an imaginary son whom politeness confers upon him.

What Intermittency Means.

Intermittency is that form of irregularity in which the pulse appears to drop a beat occasionally. In some instances it occurs regularly and two or three times per minute for several hours. Sometimes also it is very irregular and is noted a number of times within a few or more. This peculiarity generally causes much uneasiness. Yet, while it may be a very serious symptom and associated with grave and incurable disease of the heart, it often signifies merely a functional disturbance which is in nowise dangerous.

Pietro thought of going to the house and making inquiries of the servants that would help him in determining what the secret burial meant, but he was farseeing and looked forward to a possible future arrest, in which case to be identified as having prowled around the place, the denizens of which he proposed to bleed, would prove a great disadvantage to him. He determined to proceed on the theory that there was something to be concealed. He learned the name of the owners of the place, then wrote a note mentioning what he had seen and offering to keep the secret on payment of $5,-000, giving an assumed name to be addressed at the general delivery of the postoffice. In a week's time he received a note written in a feminine hand imploring him not to divulge what he had witnessed. The money to pay for his silence was being got together, and as soon as it was ready he would be notified. A fortnight later, not having heard King anything further in the matter, he Stre wrote again, demanding immediate Gern payment or the police would be noti-Sink fied that a crime had been covered up. This looked to Pietro like a bona CH fide offer. He had not thought that the parties would likely provide against being called on for blackmail in future. He accepted the proposition and appointed a meeting at a certain day The and hour at a street corner near the scene of the burial to receive his first payment. He would wear a brown suit and would carry a book in his left hand. Any attempt at treachery Willi Willi would result in the death of his would be captor.

Pietro admitted that he was, and the other put his hand into his inside coat pocket, took out a fat pocketbook and was about to hand it over when several men started from different points near by, one of whom clutched Pietro from behind before he could make any defense. Then he was taken to a police M H station. RW

Pietro, instead of having provided for his freedom for five years, had provided for his board at the expense of the state for an exact term. No explanation was made as to the secret of the burial, for none was needed. The lady's poodle had died in the evening, and she and her husband were to go on a journey early the next morning. The night burial was therefore necessary.
