

Ho for the Circus!

Peanuts and pink lemonade will soon be ripe, and the odor of sawdust tanbark will permeate the air. The Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows Combined, gayest, grandest, gladdest, galaxy in the wide world is coming to Florence Friday, October 22, for two performances.

The country for miles around is all aglow with the noisy circus bills of purple and gold and the downtown billboards at Florence are the Mecca upon which thousands of eyes feast their gaze.

All through the long months of winter agents of the Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows have been scouring the continents of the earth securing novelties and features. The performance this year will be entirely new.

Performances will be given at 2 and at 8 p. m. Doors to the zoological paradise will be opened an hour earlier.

Bryan-Thompson.

Bryan, October 12:—The social events of the season came to a beautiful climax Wednesday evening, 6th inst, when Miss Lucile James Bryan, the lovely young daughter of Hon and Mrs W D Bryan, became the bride of Mr Claude Joseph Thompson of Kingstree.

The contracting parties and the circumstances leading up to the happy event made the occasion one of unusual and State-wide interest.

The old and the young have watched and waited with eagerness as words grew into sentences and sentences into interviews and then the same "sweet old story".

The wedding took place at the palatial home of the bride's sister, Mrs B A Brown. The whole lower floors were thrown en suite and presented a picture of rare loveliness.

The guests felt upon entering as though they were being ushered into an enchanted garden where beautiful flowers, entwined in long garlands, soft music, fair maidens and gallant knights lived as if by magic.

The aisles leading out from the arch were converted into bridal paths, being laid with carpet of snowy whiteness. One path made its way through the sitting room, and at the opposite side of the parlor the other path gracefully entered the reception hall and up the winding stairs, from which came lovely Lucile, the bride.

Immediately preceding the ceremony, with the dainty little Miss Frankie Nesmith at the piano, Miss Elma Hinds sang in an unusually sweet manner, "I Love You Truly" and "O, Promise Me".

Next came Master James Thompson, the baby brother of the groom. He also marched along the bridal path bearing the wedding ring in a golden chrysanthemum, then taking his place beside the minister.

Then came the maid of honor, Miss Minnie Bryan, carrying gold and white chrysanthemums, wearing a beautiful gown of white satin charmeuse and lace drapery.

The bride entered upon the arm of her father, Hon W D Bryan, carrying a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lillies of the valley, intertwined with narrow white satin ribbon upon which there were myriads of tiny white satin bows, which fell in graceful folds to the bottom of the wedding gown.

The groom entered the parlor at the same time as the bride but on the opposite side, through the sitting room, in the other bridal path, with his brother, Mr Franklin Thompson, who was best man.

During the ceremony Miss Nesmith rendered very softly "Nocturn", by Chopin. The party then marched out in reverse order. After receiving congratulations Mr and Mrs Thompson left in an auto for Lanes, where they took the train for an extended tour South.

Mrs Thompson is a young woman of many graces of mind and person, who is capable of filling the home she will adorn with happiness and will prove to be truly a helpmate and companion to the husband she has chosen to honor with her hand.

After the wedding a charming reception was tendered the guests, who numbered about 150. Delicious fruit punch was served by Miss Nell Blakely and Mr W D Bryan, Jr, the only brother of the bride.

Among the guests were: Mr and Mrs L T Thompson, Mr and Mrs J G Hearsey, Mr and Mrs David Silverman, the Misses Jacobs, Misses Elma and Hallie Hinds and Nell Blakely, Kingstree; Mrs — Thompson and Miss Cora Thompson, Chicago; Mr J P Davis, Mullins; Mr and Mrs J A McCullough, Mr and Mrs N W Cook, Mr and Mrs — Heinemann, Andrews; Mr and Mrs James A Ferrell, Mr and Mrs J H L Chandler, Salters; Mrs F Nesmith and daughters, Misses Salena and Frankie, Georgetown; Mr and Mrs H N Shepard, Mr and Mrs W D Bryan, Bryan; Mr S Edwards, Dillon; Mr Cuttino Bryan and sister, Miss Geneva, Bingham.
