

FILLING THE NEEDS OF THE SITTING HEN

How to Use Hatching Pen and Nest Boxes and How to Manage The Fowls.

The care of sitting hens is made easier and successful hatches more certain when the sitters are confined in a pen away from the layers. The floor of this hatching pen should be earth, dug up and moistened. Nest boxes should be placed about the sides. There can be from 25 to 30 sitting hens in a pen. For the nest a box 12 to 15 inches square and about the same in height is suitable. Remove the top, front, and bottom of the box. Cover the top with a burlap sack to provide ventilation and nail a wooden strip 4 inches wide across the front at the bottom. Have a wide board to lean against the open front and a brick to keep it in place when it is necessary to confine the hen.

Remove the sitting hen to the new nest at night. Dust her with yellow insect powder or grease a small space on the skin below her vent with a piece of 33 per cent mercurial ointment about as large as a pea. This is for lice prevention. Place the hen quietly on the nest and shut her in. The next evening, when it is growing dark, dishes of whole grain and water should be placed in front of the nest and the hen removed to feed. Leave her alone and do not return until night. If the hen is then on her nest and contented, she may be given the sitting of eggs you have selected for her.

Feed sitting hens at the same hour every day. Give them whole grain (whole corn is best) in a dish, letting them eat all they desire. Even under the most favorable feeding conditions, a hen will lose about three-fourths of a pound in weight during the three weeks of incubation. If there are many sitters in the pen, it is best to feed seven or eight together, removing any that do not leave their nests. Replace the hens after 20 minutes. The doors of the nests are closed except at feeding time. Examine the nests while the hens are feeding and if any eggs are broken wash the other eggs in warm water and clean the nest. Moistens the earth about the nest frequently. On the eighteenth day of incubation, immerse the eggs for two minutes in warm water (106 degrees F.). This softens the membranes inside the shell and results in the hatching of a greater percentage of chicks.

WORK WEARS ON THE THE KIDNEYS.

Doan's Kidney Pills Have Done Great Service for People Who Work in Kingstree.

Many Kingstree people work every day in some strained unnatural position—bending constantly over a desk—riding on jolting wagons or cars—doing laborious housework; lifting, reaching or pulling, or trying the back in a hundred and one other ways. All these strains tend to wear, weaken and injure the kidneys until they fall behind in their work of filtering the poisons from the blood. Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys, and bad backs. Their effective work is convincing proof of merit.

C R Rutledge, engineer, A C L R R, 212 S Gilliard St, Florence, S C, says: "The jar and jolt of the engine caused my back to ache, and my kidneys to get out of order. I was sore and lame at times. The kidney secretions passed irregularly. I also had symptoms of kidney trouble. I finally used Doan's Kidney Pills and they relieved me."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr Rudledge had. Foster-Milburn Co, Props, Buffalo, N Y.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly falling to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J.
