Children Clean Up Florence.

Florence, February 25:—In a clean up campaign directed against tin cans in the town, the children brought to the Times office Friday afternoon more than 22,000 tin cans. They had been offered tickets to a show now exhibiting here in exchange for their cans, and it is on the count of the tickets given out that the estimate of the cans is based. The children came in automobiles, trucks and wagons and brought their cans in crocus sacks, baby carriages, paper bags, express and delivery wagons, and some of them had them festooned around them in great strings. They got a lot of cans, but there are still some left for another clean up campaign if the city health authorities stir up the enterprise again. The children were delighted with the reward that they got from the carnival. The band played for them, and hundreds of people came to see the tin can parade. It was a rare and interesting sight.

WOULD NOT STOOP TO PICK UP THE MONEY.

"I Had Absolutely Lost all Interest in Everything," Says Mrs Wooten.

SHE FEARED THE WORST

Strong, Happy Woman Now, But Once Her Folks Seemed to Have Lost Hope of Her Recovery.

"I had gotten in such bad health that I did not take any interest in anything before I took Tanlac, and I often told my folks that if I should see money on the floor I would not stoop to pick it up," said Mrs T M Wooten, of 153 Morgan Ave, Greenville, as she began to tell how Tanlac had changed her condition from that of almost and invalid to a healthy, strong, happy woman. Mrs Wooten's statement follows:

"I suffered from a complete physical breakdown and the after effect of a long drawn out spell of malaria. I was very weak. So weak that I was in bed at least half of every day. My appetite had left me and it seemed that I didn't want anything to eat and couldn't find much to tempt my appetite. I could not sit up long at a time, and I had absolutely lost all interest in everything. "I had been in very bad health for two or more years and I sure was a sick person, too. I had begun to wonder if I ever would get well, or ever a little stronger, and I could tell by the way my folks talked that they had about lost hope of me ever getting well again.

"Then somebody told me to try Tanlac, and I began taking it. I took six bottles and I have gained at least twenty pounds in weight. I sure was skin and bones when I began taking Tanlac, but I am heavy enough now and I feel like a new person.

"Tanlac did me more good than all of the other medicine that I took put together, and I certainly did take a lot of medicine before I took Tanlac. The Tanlac gave me a good appetite almost from the start and soon I began to improve right along in health and strength, and now I am able to do my household and my ironing and I am strong and hearty. I give Tanlac all the credit for getting me out of bed and on my feet again, and no one can fully understand how much Tanlac did for me unless they had seen me before I took it, and I had been almost an invalid for two years before I took Tanlac and then I only had to take six bottles to get my strength back.

"I certainly can give Tanlac the highest praise, because it changed me from an almost bed-ridden invalid to a strong, happy and hearty woman."

Tanlac, the master medicine, is sold by Kingstree Drug Co, Kingstree; Mallard Lumber Co, Greeleyville; Farmers' Drug Co, Hemingway; S S Aronson, Lane; R P Hinnant, Suttons; W D Bryan, Bryan.

Hickson Predicts The Fashions.

Hickson, the best known creator of tailored suits on Fifth Avenue, makes the following fashion predictions in Harper's Bazar for March, now ready:
"Broadly speaking, the straight silhouette will continue; skirts will be noticeably narrower, jackets will be shorter, and an appearance of simplicity will be striven for. Perfect tailoring, plain cloth and tone or self-colored buttons are the striking features of nine out of ten street costumes; and even in top and motor-coats plain fabric, especially covets, are more modish than the stripes and checks of a short time ago.
