Mrs. Leroy Lee and Miss Serena Lee spent two days in Charleston last week.

Misses Valerie Trotti and Brown Lee Rice spent Saturday shopping in Sumter.

Miss Pearl Marcus leaves on Thursday morning for a weeks visit in Charleston.

Miss Pearl Woodham was called home Friday on account of the illness of her father.

Mrs. L. J. Brockington and Miss Louise Epps spent the week end with relatives in Sumter.

Little Miss Mary Arrowsmith gave a party on Saturday afternoon for a number of her little friends.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Shackelford and children of Columbia, spent the week end with Miss Lizzie Mc Clary.

Mrs. L. Roy Cates has as her guest this week, her sisters Misses Bess and Leila Burbage of Florence.

Messrs. Joe King and W. H. Carr went to Kingsburg on Sunday to spend the day with Mr. Kings father.

Mr. N. D. Lesene, county superintendent of education is in the Kelsey Infirmary here undergoing treatment.

We are very glad to state that Mr. J. C. China, is able to be out again after an illness of several weeks.

Mr. R. W. Lewis, of Sumter spent Sunday and Monday in town. Mrs. Lewis returned to Sumter with him Monday evening.

Miss Esther Schwartzman, who has been visiting Miss Pearl Marcus leaves on Thursday morning for her home in Charleston.

There will be a beginners Recital at the school auditorium assisted by the vocal class, Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The public is invited.

Quite a number of Kingstree people went up to Lake City on Friday for the Florence Kingstree basketball game. The score was Florence 21, Kingstree 17.

Mr. Claude Truluck is teaching in the Kingstree High School during Miss Boyles absence. Mrs. Claude Truluck is substituting in the work of the fourth grade for Miss Woodham.

Mr. Durant McConnell who has been in France as a member of the regular army, has returned to the United States according to information received by his sister, Mrs. R. J. Burgess.

Mr. J. L. Nexsen of Lake City, R. 2, was in town yesterday and called at The Record office. We are always glad to see any of our subscribers.

Mr. M. H. Jacobs entertained some friends at a shad supper Tuesday night at his place near Georgetown. A number of friends from Kingstree attended and reported having had "One more good time"

Mr. Robert W. Fulton, was taken to the infirmary at Florence several days ago for treatment. His daughter is substituting for him as city mail carrier. Brother Fulton's case is reported as being of a serious nature.

Mr. S. P. Harper will entertain a number of his friends at a shad supper tomorrow (Friday) night on the river bank of his plantation near Andrews. Mr. Harper has invited around 300 of his friends to be present and expects to have as many shad.

Messrs. C. W. Stoll and Ira A. Calhoun entertained a few friends at a fish supper last evening on the river bank of Mr. Stoll's "Flat Branch" plantation. The supper prepared by the host, was par excellence, and as one of the guests. The Record man can recommend either of them as possessing one of the essential qualities of a good husband—being able to cook.

The Record which has been printed on the press of the Williamsburg Herald for the past three weeks, through the kindness of Editor Bradham is this week being printed on it's own press which has been repaired. This will in future save us and our neighbor, the Herald, much inconvenience. The Record, and its patrons will join us in extending appreciative thanks to the Herald for the use of its press.

Mr. R. M. Hare, of Lancaster, who has accepted a position as manager of the Kingstree Telephone plant arrived here Monday and has since been "right on the job", as Ollie Epps puts it. Already he has located and remedied the soul-trying discrepancies in the North Kingstree lines and phones and we are much inclined to believe what Mr. Epps says. Mr. Hare comes here highly recommended and we believe he is going to see to it that patrons of the local telephone company get better service. He is a married man and expects to bring his wife and three children here soon.

York McKnight, Son of Giles McKnight, a colored citizen residing near Kingstree, arrived here this morning after having seen service as a soldier in France. The young man looks hale and hearty, and talks most interestingly of his experiences on the battle fronts. He was a member of the organization known as the "Buffalo" Division, which was composed chiefly of Westerners, himself being the only member from this county so far as we could learn. He brought with him his "fighting helmet," commonly known as the "tin hat," which he says was the means of saving his life more than once. We are glad to see the boys coming home, colored as well as white.

Mr. J. M. Cribb of Hemingway, was in Kingstree on business yesterday.

Rev. Carroll Spoke Here Sunday

The Rev. Richard Carroll, colored of Columbia, spoke here last Sunday afternoon in the court house, to a large audience of white and colored citizens.

If you fail to receive your County Record, it's probably because your subscription has expired.

To speak the truth when by a little prevarication you can get some special advantage.

When mortified and embarrassed by humiliating disaster to seek in your ruins the elements of future success.

To refuse to do a thing which is wrong because others do it, or because it is customary and done in trade.

To remain in honest poverty while others grow rich by questionable methods which you could easily use yourself.

Seaboard Air Line depot at Hemingway was discovered to be on fire last Thursday night about midnight. The fire caught in the ceiling above the office. The hard and intelligent work of the citizens saved the structure. The ceiling was badly burned and much of the roof had to be cut away to get to the fire. The papers and a considerable amount of freight were damaged by water.

RESULTS TELL
There Can Be No Doubt About The Results in Kingstree.

Results tell the tale. All doubt is removed. The testimony of a Kingstree citizen, can be easily investigated. What better proof can be had?

D. J. Epps, salesman, Kingstree, says: "About four years ago I had a terrible backache and whenever I would stoop, sharp, shooting pains would catch me through the small of my back. I was stiff and always felt tired and languid. My kidneys were very irregular and I had to get up five or six times at night to pass the secretions. I was told to try Doan's Kidney Pills, so I got a box. This remedy relieved me of all that and so I took another box. When I had finished this, I had no more pains and was entirely cured. I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills occasionally since, as a preventive of my former trouble, and always receive the best of results.

The Eye Behind The Lines

By the eternal fitness of things Sir Arthur Conan Doyle should write this story, for in the spellbound hours in which laconic brown men in khaki and "horizon blue" gave it to me, I visualized no one so much as Sherlock Holmes, grim, brooding, and penetrating, riding in their places miles over the smoke of Flanders; sitting in their places in the manlier dugouts behind the lines of battle, untangling the mysteries of uncanny secrets. It is the story of the greatest detective system ever devised by man, the inner story of how the allies by aerial photography and weird deduction from meaningless prints of the German lines solved the riddles of the foe—the story of "the camera, the best spy of all time." Into this story will come the strange case of the human footprint and the countless things of stealth it revealed, also the curious "rogues gallery" of German generals which the allied detectives collected, kept, and used with such sure might—also the odd But a beginning must be made.

There is no more astonishing thing in the whole marvel of aerial photography than the camera's ability to catch the trail of a walking man. At two and a half miles in the air the ordinary aerial camera will show the footprints of a man going across slightly shelled ground. At a mile it will show them on new-mown grass. At five miles it will reveal them trailing across "No Man's Land." Consider this: Once the French were planning to take a certain hill, knowing that Bavarian "Landsturm"—poor machine-gun fighters—held it weakly. At dawn a photographer went up, came dashing back with a picture, and 15 minutes later the French general called off the attack and saved the lives of thousands of his men. And yet the camera had caught no remarkable thing.

It merely showed that one group of men had gone out and another come into the trenches during the night. The footprints of the Germans told that much. The incoming trail, followed back, was found to emerge from a woods, lying beside a fine white road. The allied detectives bending over their prints, followed that road to the nearest German cantonment and proved by still other photographs that the cantonment was held by Prussians. Presto! The French staff knew that crack Prussians were opposing them, and that it would be nothing short of suicide to attack.

Deduction of this sort was more than half of the work of the aerial-photography sections of the allied armies. The work of snapping pictures from the air was picturesque, dangerous, heroic; but for thrill and romance give me those sweating, silent men in the dugouts, studying photographs by the hour, catching a clue here, a telltale mark there, that made Hindenburg's plans an open book.

Modern photographic science laid before each allied general a complete picture of everything the enemy was doing and almost everything it was going to do. It showed him unmistakably what his own men were doing and what they could do. It relieved him of conbicting stories from spies, from human mistakes—for the camera does not lie.

Napoleon could but guess what Wellington was planning; Foch could send up a photographer and within an hour know what Ludendorff was thinking of.—Douglass Reid in the March Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Velvet Bean Seed!

I have a few bushels of early ninety day Velvet Bean Seed which shows a germination of 90 per cent that I can offer at $3.75 per bushel while supply lasts. Large numbers of beans of the 1918 crop will not germinate 30 per cent, due to heavy rains last year. This would be costly to farmers. One bushel of these good beans will go three times as far as others. All 1917 Alabama beans. Will have no more after present supply is exhausted, so order at once. Shipment will be made at once. Check or money order must come with order. Buy only good germinating beans.
