The Watchman and Southron.

The Samter Watchman was founded in 1850 and the True Southron in 1866. The Watchman and Southron now has the combined circulation and influence of both of the old papers, and is monifestly the best advertising medium in Sumter.

The Board of Agriculture of the State having declined to take any steps towards providing a fund for an exhibit of South Carolina's resources at the Boston Exposition, an effort is being put on foot to bring together the various Boards of Trade in the State, with the view of securing the necessary means. Col. S. A. Pearce, President of the Columbia Board of Trade, is at the head of the movement, and the probability is that Commissioner Butler wi'l also use his influence in gathering exhibits, and take control of them during the Exposition.

We are anxious for the success of the enterprise. We do not see why South Carolina should lag behind her sister states, and fail to show to the world that her resources are as great as can be found elsewhere in the South. To stay away from Boston will indicate a lack of public spiritedness, and it must be confessed that this has long been a draw-back to our people, in many directions. We say, let us go to Boston along with other folks.

The movement initiated by the Irish Convention in Philadelphia last week is of wast importance, both to the Irishborn subjects of Great Britain and the Irish-born citizens of this country. It is the result of the agrarian discontent which has for generations agitated Ireland, and has been the sole disturbing cause in all her pathetic history. Engfish rule over Ireland was instituted by the creation of one responsible and auconquest, and her subjugation under Crowwell was not much harsher than the rule under which she now chafes.

Miss Susie B. Hopper, a young colored girl, was recently graduated from the high school at Paterson, N. J., being the first of her race to finish the course in that institution She has since been a member of the training class for teachers. On Monday one of the teachers in Public school No. 12 was sick, and word was sent to the rooms of the Board of Education asking for a substitute. Miss Hopper being next in the line of promotion, was detailed to teach the class of the sick teacher. Her appearance at the teacher's desk was the signal for a stampede, some of the scholars running away and those who remained becoming unmanageable. School Commissioner Holt was waited upon by an angry delegation of parents, who demanded that the colored teacher be immediately removed. The commissioner complied and gave the necessary orders, but through a misunderstanding Miss Hopper went to the school again on Tuesday and was assigned to another class as temporary teacher. There was another uproar, and more waiting upon school commissequence was that Miss Hopper was told that her services as substitute were not
