EXAMINE YOUR DATES.

We request each of our subscribers to examine the address on his paper, and particularly to observe the date upon it.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

W. J. Lawrence—Notice. H. A. Lowry—to the Public. Dayton Star Nurseries—Notice.

Personal.

Mrs. W. D. Rice is in Sumter on a visit. Mrs. E. B. Rice is visiting her mother, Mrs. E. B. Rice.

Mrs. A. M. Fraser and family are in town visiting the "home folks."

Mrs. Dr. A. L. Blanding has returned home from her visit to Baltimore.

Mrs. R. W. DuRant has been sailing somewhat lately, but is soon better to-day.

Mrs. W. J. Lawrence's notice to his credit expires on the 15th inst.

Mr. Frank R. Grier, Agent, has opened a fruit and grocery stand next door to E. P. Ricker & Co.

Judge Montgomery Moses of Newberry, and his son, Dr. Frank Moses of Augusta, are in town visiting relatives.

Miss Ella Cordor, who has been the guest of Miss Mina Graham for several weeks, has returned to Columbia, on her way home to Florida.

Mr. T. T. Uphor returned to Sumter Saturday night. He expects to move his family to the Eastern Shore in Maryland, and will leave Wednesday night.

Mr. W. S. Smith, whom we mentioned last week as being seriously burned, is improving, and is now considered out of danger, though still suffering.

Mr. Arthur Harvin met us yesterday morning on the train, and carried away his pleasant words and smiles. There is nothing strange in Arthur Harvin being elected to the Legislature. Who could vote against such a good fellow?

Mr. G. K. Bartlett, the popular Cashier of the Bank, has taken a holiday and gone to Florida, and there are grave rumors that he will celebrate matrimony while absent. We congratulate our friend in advance.

Mr. A. A. Solomon, without doubt, lost five or six dollars by not sending his first barrel of Jersey to the fair.

Two colored sinners broke jail last Wednesday night and are still at large. Joe Corban and Jan. Weeks are their names.

We wanted six references to the dry weather in the South in an exchange. It must be true that the weather is getting used to it in Sumter and any no-thing.

Several gentlemen of sporting proclivities were fishing here last Friday. One of the fishermen caught a large Jack. One of the fishermen carried away by his good luck, who wish to stay all night.

J. K. McLeod and John Craig got into a dispute this morning and soon came to blows. The matter is being adjusted in the Trial Judge's Court as we go to press.

The "Mead," a monthly journal, edited by the Rev. J. H. Bayliff, of the Protestant Episcopal Church, has made us a visit. We like it and hope it will continue its visits, for we do not mind giving the readers a delightful and interesting article each month. Price 25 cts. Four subscriptions for one dollar.

The Enterprise Meat Chopper has been used and endorsed by over one hundred Agricultural Journals. The Farm & Fireside says: "After testing each Editor immediately ordered an Enterprise Meat Chopper for his family use." The American Agriculturist says: "These Choppers excel anything of the kind ever made." See large advertisement in another column.

Mr. J. Timothy Jack—died at his home on Cain Savannah, the 11th inst.

Miss Kittie Rhoades. The Kittie Rhoades Combination will appear in Music Hall on Thursday and Friday, the 21st and 22nd inst., in comedy.

Elocution. Prof. J. H. Bayliff, of Illinois College, who is desirous of organizing a reading class in Sumter, will give a reading at the Music Hall, Thursday evening next. All who propose joining the class can get free tickets by calling on H. P. Wilson or T. B. Eraser, Jr.

Lecture. Dr. J. William Jones of Virginia, Secretary of the Southern Historical Society will lecture on "The Confederate Soldier in Camp, on the March, in the Bivouac and in the Hospital," in the Music Hall at Sumter, Monday, 19th inst. Admission 50 cents. Doors open at 7.30.

Oyster Supper. The announcement made last week of an oyster supper by the Ladies' Aid Society, was a mistake on the part of the one giving us the notice. We are requested, however, to say that the supper will certainly come off, Thursday night, 20th inst., at Mason's Hall. The public are respectfully invited to patronize it.

Gambling. We are pleased to learn that all the gambling schemes that have heretofore been permitted on the Fair grounds in Columbia are now prohibited. That was certainly a move in the right direction.—Exchange.

A Little Quarrel. We heard from private sources that the Editor of the Clarendon Enterprise had a little mix-up the other day with one of the town authorities, of Manning. If our friend keeps on he will make himself as big a reputation as another Henry of the Wadesboro Intelligencer, who, if he does't have at least one fight each week, time hangs heavily on his hands.

A Bared Correspondent. The Clarendon Enterprise has a letter from Fulton, with the following startling headline: "Kill the Damned Democrats." Four Hundred armed Negroes attack the Managers at Fulton, and endeavor to Mob Them—Property Destroyed."

We are inclined to think that the writer was one of the mobbed Democrats, and had not got over his scare when the letter was written.

Caught. About two years ago, Frank Stepey, a colored man on the DeSaussure place, 20 miles above Sumter, was murdered by Scipio Dickerson. The murderer escaped but was arrested in Columbia last week and identified by our Sheriff Ed. Marion Sanders, Esq., and brought over the next day.

Thanksgiving Day. Let every one remember that Thursday, 21st inst. is Thanksgiving Day. We trust that all our people will unite in its holy and sincere observance.

We have been showered upon by the people all the year, and as a crown upon these blessings, comes the political delirium of the present hour.

THE STATE FAIR.

The officers of the Company and the people in Columbia were much pleased with the outcome of the Fair. The attendance was large, the weather was fine, and we suppose, the financial balance was on the right side. The exhibits in the live stock department were remarkably good, and the poultry department was also a success.

A type writer and several knitting machines, all in operation, afforded amusement and instruction to our country folks who do not see such things often. But after all, the success of the fair depended upon the side shows, gambling tables and races, all of which were said to be fine.

The premium list was quite large, covering nine columns in the Columbia Register. The following is Sumter's share of the prizes:

Mr. W. M. Graham—pair matched horses, open to world, 1st premium; pair matched mares, open to world, 2d premium; pair matches, one of each owned in South Carolina, 1st premium; single harness horse, open to world, 1st premium.

Mr. T. O. Sanders—bread corn, 1st premium; stock corn, 1st premium; field peas, 2d premium; pumpkins, 1st premium.

Capt. W. R. Delgar—Jersey cow, 1st premium.

T. E. Richardson—millet, premium recommended.

M. W. R. Delgar—stir pickles; cucumber catsup; ginger and tomato preserves; peach marmalade; long hose, (knitting); tanning collars, premium for each.

Miss Susie Rembert—tidy, premium.

Mrs. J. E. Rembert—silk tidy, premium.

Miss Lula Sader—darned net dress, premium.

The Columbia Register congratulates the Society upon its success and says:

"The weather has been delightful, barring the dust. The programme of entertainments has been arranged to meet the various tastes of those who gather on such occasions, and no accident or mishap has occurred to interrupt the carrying out of every detail contemplated in the arrangements by those in whose hands the direction has fallen, and so far as we are concerned, the success of this State is concerned, it may be safely said that it has surpassed in all material respects any which has ever been made in this State.

We believe that every body's reasonable expectations have been fully met, and this is about all that can be said."

A Drunken Fool.

Of course he was a fool if drunk, and he was gloriously drunk. He marched through the crowd from end to end with visitors retreating from the fair, cursing, staggering and frightening ladies half out of their wits. He finally came to a halt near the front of a car where several young girls were enjoying themselves, and commenced a noisy and vulgar altercation with a gentleman who was endeavoring to quiet and silence him.

We sat and looked at him, the centre of a circle of confusion extending for several seats, with frightened women and disgusted men looking on, and knew that he was in a normal condition, a quiet, industrious gentlemanly man, we thought it was as strong a temperance lecture as could be delivered.

We have no doubt but that every person present shared with us a thorough disgust of the result of whiskey drinking while on excursions. We believe that a man who will deliberately stuffer himself with alcohol on such occasions, is surely becoming a pest to hundreds of others, and he should be severely punished. Who that has ever travelled does not know this nuisance loaded down with vulgar profanity, and the terror of women and children? With no more self respect than a mad bull, he is dreading by all, and it does seem as if some special penalty should be imposed upon those who unnecessarily deprive their neighbors of all chance of enjoyment.

Canons of spirit of accommodation take possession of such men and induce them to get drunk the day before the excursion, so that when they take the train, a feeling of remorse, which generally follows a toper's debauch, shall keep them quiet during the trip. Presuming that getting drunk is an accomplishment that must be enjoyed occasionally, we would ask that class whom we are now criticizing if it would not be more sensible to indulge at home where their wives or mothers could put them to bed, or, if it must be done in public, in some town where the police could take care of them, and put them in their proper place, the guard house.

Meeting of Temperance Workers.

In pursuance of a call made throughout the press of the State, a number of Temperance Workers from various portions of the State assembled in Temperance Hall, Columbia, Friday evening Nov. 14th, 1884, at 8 o'clock P. M. Col. C. E. R. Drayton of Aiken, was called to the chair, and Rev. H. F. Oretzberg, G. W. C. of I. O. G. T. of S. C. requested to act as Secretary. A resolution offered by Rev. A. Coke Smith, that a roll be made of the delegates present according to Counties, was carried and it was found that ten Counties were represented by 33 delegates.

A number of letters from absent friends who could not be present, were read and received as information.

The following resolution was offered by Mr. C. D. Stanley, reciting the necessity for a State Temperance organization:

Resolved, That such an organization be now made for the State, with a central committee of five, with headquarters at Columbia, whose duty it shall be to effect such plans as will insure a permanent State and County organization.

After much discussion the resolution was adopted. Rev. A. C. Smith moved that a Committee of three consisting of J. H. Elkins, W. R. Rhame and T. B. Denton be appointed to nominate said committee; and the Committee reported the following gentlemen for the State Executive Committee: Rev. A. Coke Smith, J. A. Elkins, C. D. Stanley, W. H. Cottino and Col. Jas. McCollough. Rev. A. Coke Smith offered the following resolutions which were adopted:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this Convention that we ought to have a County Local Option Law in this State, by which the people of the whole County may have an opportunity to vote for the expulsion of the Liquor traffic from among them.

That the Executive Committee be charged with the drafting of a bill granting this privilege to the counties, said bill to be presented to the next session of our State Legislature.

Rev. W. C. Moore moved that the Executive Committee be allowed to supply all vacancies in said committee which may occur.

The objects for which the Convention had assembled having been accomplished it adjourned subject to the call of the State Executive Committee.

Fair Notes.

Miss Susie Rembert who received a premium for a tidy is, as many of our readers know, totally blind.

Capt. and Mrs. Delgar received eight premiums, though the Captain got only one of them. Mrs. Delgar sends a number of her articles on to New Orleans.

Mr. W. M. Graham keeps up the reputation of Sumter's horses. Talk about Blaine's magnum, we think as soon as friend Graham gets behind a horse that animal is thoroughly magnetized.

Mr. T. O. Sanders is a first class farmer; as any one could see by his premiums.

The Maysville Liquor Controversy—Finis.

MAYESVILLE, S. C., Nov. 15, 1884. Mr. Editor: I would not thus consume your valuable space with a subject, purely of local interest but for a letter in your issue of the 14th inst. signed by one of the members of our Town Council.

First allow me to express my appreciation of the Press, and also gratification that my article (signed Kube) in your issue of the 21st ult. has accomplished its aim. I regret that private reasons demanded that my article I should use what the member terms a "non de plume." (Perhaps he meant a nom de plume.) I regret it because my signature would have prevented his feeble insinuations concerning my use of whiskey in the contemplated defense, the member contends that Council must wait for the performance of its duty, till definite charges are preferred before it. Concerning this there is a difference of opinion among those who have studied the subject, and as far as I can learn, the aforesaid councilman is one among a very small minority.

Now, Mr. Editor, I say let us have no more newspaper letters on this subject. I, for one, am done with it. My purpose has been accomplished. Let the good work go on. If there be any more to be said, we who are interested all live in the same Town and can get together all sorts of talk in our own friendly way, and even if my friend, the member of Council, has not the influence sufficient to secure me the position of "adviser and counsellor" to the Board, my services to him individually are at his disposal.

L. G. CORBETT.

[We agree with our correspondent that the discussion in reference to violations of the No-Licenses law in Maysville need no longer be discussed in the County papers. The error in Mr. Strauss' letter which Dr. C. refers to, was that we made in this office, and our devil is responsible, and not Mr. S.]

Maysville Items.

MAYESVILLE, S. C., November 11, 1884. Mr. Editor: The election passed off very quietly; our town is exceedingly quiet, for Marshal J. C. Rhame keeps a sharp lookout and has taken every thing to his own satisfaction of a confectionary (What is that?—Ed.)

The U. S. flag is floating in the breezes of Heaven and looks ten times more lovely now than we have seen it for some time.

Mrs. T. D. Foxworth has returned home from her visit to Wedgefield.

Mrs. Dixon of Marion, is here visiting relatives and friends.

Rev. J. Howard Carpenter has moved into the house recently vacated by Mr. S. D. Pierson, in the Eastern end of town. Mr. Pierson has moved to the parsonage of the Brick Church, one mile and a half away.

The Ladies' Aid Society will give a hot supper for the benefit of the Presbyterian Church, next Thursday. It will be an exceedingly timely affair, and Duggan says that all his friends participate in the enjoyment of the occasion. Come and both rejoice and do good.

Cotton is looking up, and so is the dust. "Fights without and fears within. Since we assembled last."

DUGGAN.

Count us In.

Kingsland & Heath keep a nice line of Silver Plated Goods, so cheap that it is a shame to use the old rusty spoons and knives. Nice Crockery and China; nice goods for weddings; mighty nice Baby Carriages cheaper than ever brought out before. Baskets, Lamps, Hanging Lamps, extra cheap.

"Sleeping Love." A fine steel engraving of Peranti's charming picture, "Sleeping Love," has been offered by the publishers of Godley's Lady's Book to every new subscriber to the magazine for the year 1885. The plate is a fine artistic, beautifully printed on thick paper of size suitable for handsome framing. The subject, a little dimpled Love, adorned with nothing but curls, is lying on a soft grassy bank, fast asleep, with her arms and legs round white limbs approaching the cool umbrage of a pond of water-lilies. One little chubby hand rests lightly on his unstrung bow, which is lying on the grass. The other hand is softly pressed upon his cheek, the plump fingers breathing the way masses of his flowing hair. Under the right arm and shoulder one little downy wing is snugly tucked up, and the other is tucked up behind with pretty suggestiveness. Overhead are drooping, shadowy boughs covered with rich foliage, and the background reveals a deep perspective of cool forest shade. The picture is a fine artistic, and they have engraved it—size, 2 1/2 inches by 2 1/2—expressly for Peterson's Magazine, in their most brilliant manner. The picture is called "The Lion in Love" and is a capital affair: sure to raise a fine artistic merit, it is, we think, one of the finest "Peterson" has ever issued. Another of the premiums is "Pearl of Price," an illustrated volume of the American poets. Another is an extra copy of the magazine, on the condition that you get any of them, gratis, by raising a club for "Peterson" for 1885. This is a rare chance. Specimens of the magazine sent, gratis, with all particular care, and the necessary get up clubs written for. Address Charles Peterson, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
