are please of the nation that is dead and on it dear friend and show it.

Show It is those who will lend an ear.

To the tale that this paper can tell,

Of the rate of patriot's dream.

Of the storm-cradied nation that fell.

Too paper to possess the precious ores,

And too much of a stranger to borrow: to take to day our promise to pay, The days railed on, and the weeks became

Lations coffees user empty still, his was so mare that the Treasury quaked. If a dollar should drop in the till, But the high that was in us was strong in

And our powerty well discerned, and these little checks representing the pay

That our peor reinsteers had earned... It as gold on soldiers received it;
It gaind an off eye with a promise to pay,
And such patriot soldier believed it.
But our boys thought little of price or pay,
Or of bills hat were then overdue;
We knew if it brought us our bread to-day,
Twas the bestour poor country could do.

The It for it tells our history o'er, From the birth of his steam to the last, odest and born of the angel Hope,
Like the hope of success a passed.
