

The Watchman and Southron

Published every Wednesday, by N. G. OSTEN, SUMTER, S. C.

TERMS: Two Dollars per annum in advance. One Square, first insertion, $1.00. Every subsequent insertion, 50 cents.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER Absolutely Pure. This powder never sours. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness.

ELY'S CATARRH Cream Balm. Cures Catarrh of the Head, Catarrh of the Eyes, Hay-Fever, etc.

BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR A SPECIFIC FOR WOMAN'S DISEASES. Pains, Suppressed Menstruation, etc.

INSURANCE LICENSE. State of South Carolina. OFFICE OF COMMISSIONER GENERAL. I CERTIFY THAT...

SUMTER PALACE ICE CREAM SALOON! Cake & Confectionery Establishment. In the Borough of Sumter, S. C.

BIBLES AND TESTAMENTS. A FINE ASSORTMENT OF BIBLES. THIS PAPER N. W. AYER & SON.

Before Soling

Love does not die, but it is the heart that grows weary. The quick-witted man, who is so often called a woman, is a woman who has been dropped ten years from her age in the last two months.

IN AFTER YEARS.

"A dreaming visionary, who will make your life miserable. My father was so anxious to marry, when his daughter pleaded for a lover her father had sent away."

Tomatoes.

The tomato has a curious history. Native of South America, like the potato, it is said to have been introduced into England as early as 1594.

Prohibition in Georgia.

There is no doubt about the contagion and spread of prohibition in Georgia. Under the local option law, it prevails in one hundred and eighteen out of the one hundred and thirty-eight counties in the State.

Antiquities in Arizona.

Mr. Stoneham's researches this season resulted in the discovery of several ancient villages, one of which is located on the Little Colorado. This village extends over an area of three miles.

Hurrah for Primus.

Primus Jones, of Georgia, the first hale man, has introduced the following bill in the Legislature, which he is a member. It is a prohibitory bill on the use of commercial fertilizers.

The Attack on Mr. Davis.

Col. R. Barnwell Rhett, of South Carolina, for many years editor of the Mercury and for a time editor of the New Orleans Picayune, has an article in the Century that will stir up a hornet's nest.

Our State Contemporaries.

A Simple Question of Fact. The Barnwell People defend Judge Aldrich in his recent anti-advertisements on the State press; and after pointing out the way in which his misguidedly contemporaries have gone astray, concludes that all this miscellaneous denunciation of lawlessness was started by the malicious brains of shrewd Yankee editors.

Justice in New York vs. Justice in South Carolina.

When Judge Barrett sentenced Jacob Sharp, of New York, to four years at hard labor and to pay a fine of $5,000, a valuable lesson was taught.

The Custom of Crying for the Blood of a White Man.

In his valedictory address before the Euphrasian Society at the recent commencement of the South Carolina College, a young man is represented to have said:

Prohibition in Georgia.

There is no doubt about the contagion and spread of prohibition in Georgia. Under the local option law, it prevails in one hundred and eighteen out of the one hundred and thirty-eight counties in the State.

Antiquities in Arizona.

Mr. Stoneham's researches this season resulted in the discovery of several ancient villages, one of which is located on the Little Colorado. This village extends over an area of three miles.

Hurrah for Primus.

Primus Jones, of Georgia, the first hale man, has introduced the following bill in the Legislature, which he is a member. It is a prohibitory bill on the use of commercial fertilizers.

The Attack on Mr. Davis.

Col. R. Barnwell Rhett, of South Carolina, for many years editor of the Mercury and for a time editor of the New Orleans Picayune, has an article in the Century that will stir up a hornet's nest.

Our State Contemporaries.

A Simple Question of Fact. The Barnwell People defend Judge Aldrich in his recent anti-advertisements on the State press; and after pointing out the way in which his misguidedly contemporaries have gone astray, concludes that all this miscellaneous denunciation of lawlessness was started by the malicious brains of shrewd Yankee editors.

Justice in New York vs. Justice in South Carolina.

When Judge Barrett sentenced Jacob Sharp, of New York, to four years at hard labor and to pay a fine of $5,000, a valuable lesson was taught.

The Custom of Crying for the Blood of a White Man.

In his valedictory address before the Euphrasian Society at the recent commencement of the South Carolina College, a young man is represented to have said:

Prohibition in Georgia.

There is no doubt about the contagion and spread of prohibition in Georgia. Under the local option law, it prevails in one hundred and eighteen out of the one hundred and thirty-eight counties in the State.

Antiquities in Arizona.

Mr. Stoneham's researches this season resulted in the discovery of several ancient villages, one of which is located on the Little Colorado. This village extends over an area of three miles.

Hurrah for Primus.

Primus Jones, of Georgia, the first hale man, has introduced the following bill in the Legislature, which he is a member. It is a prohibitory bill on the use of commercial fertilizers.

The Attack on Mr. Davis.

Col. R. Barnwell Rhett, of South Carolina, for many years editor of the Mercury and for a time editor of the New Orleans Picayune, has an article in the Century that will stir up a hornet's nest.

Our State Contemporaries.

A Simple Question of Fact. The Barnwell People defend Judge Aldrich in his recent anti-advertisements on the State press; and after pointing out the way in which his misguidedly contemporaries have gone astray, concludes that all this miscellaneous denunciation of lawlessness was started by the malicious brains of shrewd Yankee editors.

Justice in New York vs. Justice in South Carolina.

When Judge Barrett sentenced Jacob Sharp, of New York, to four years at hard labor and to pay a fine of $5,000, a valuable lesson was taught.

The Custom of Crying for the Blood of a White Man.

In his valedictory address before the Euphrasian Society at the recent commencement of the South Carolina College, a young man is represented to have said:

Prohibition in Georgia.

There is no doubt about the contagion and spread of prohibition in Georgia. Under the local option law, it prevails in one hundred and eighteen out of the one hundred and thirty-eight counties in the State.

Antiquities in Arizona.

Mr. Stoneham's researches this season resulted in the discovery of several ancient villages, one of which is located on the Little Colorado. This village extends over an area of three miles.

Hurrah for Primus.

Primus Jones, of Georgia, the first hale man, has introduced the following bill in the Legislature, which he is a member. It is a prohibitory bill on the use of commercial fertilizers.

The Attack on Mr. Davis.

Col. R. Barnwell Rhett, of South Carolina, for many years editor of the Mercury and for a time editor of the New Orleans Picayune, has an article in the Century that will stir up a hornet's nest.

Our State Contemporaries.

A Simple Question of Fact. The Barnwell People defend Judge Aldrich in his recent anti-advertisements on the State press; and after pointing out the way in which his misguidedly contemporaries have gone astray, concludes that all this miscellaneous denunciation of lawlessness was started by the malicious brains of shrewd Yankee editors.

Justice in New York vs. Justice in South Carolina.

When Judge Barrett sentenced Jacob Sharp, of New York, to four years at hard labor and to pay a fine of $5,000, a valuable lesson was taught.

The Custom of Crying for the Blood of a White Man.

In his valedictory address before the Euphrasian Society at the recent commencement of the South Carolina College, a young man is represented to have said:

Prohibition in Georgia.

There is no doubt about the contagion and spread of prohibition in Georgia. Under the local option law, it prevails in one hundred and eighteen out of the one hundred and thirty-eight counties in the State.

Antiquities in Arizona.

Mr. Stoneham's researches this season resulted in the discovery of several ancient villages, one of which is located on the Little Colorado. This village extends over an area of three miles.

Hurrah for Primus.

Primus Jones, of Georgia, the first hale man, has introduced the following bill in the Legislature, which he is a member. It is a prohibitory bill on the use of commercial fertilizers.

The Attack on Mr. Davis.

Col. R. Barnwell Rhett, of South Carolina, for many years editor of the Mercury and for a time editor of the New Orleans Picayune, has an article in the Century that will stir up a hornet's nest.

Our State Contemporaries.

A Simple Question of Fact. The Barnwell People defend Judge Aldrich in his recent anti-advertisements on the State press; and after pointing out the way in which his misguidedly contemporaries have gone astray, concludes that all this miscellaneous denunciation of lawlessness was started by the malicious brains of shrewd Yankee editors.

Justice in New York vs. Justice in South Carolina.

When Judge Barrett sentenced Jacob Sharp, of New York, to four years at hard labor and to pay a fine of $5,000, a valuable lesson was taught.

The Custom of Crying for the Blood of a White Man.

In his valedictory address before the Euphrasian Society at the recent commencement of the South Carolina College, a young man is represented to have said:

Prohibition in Georgia.

There is no doubt about the contagion and spread of prohibition in Georgia. Under the local option law, it prevails in one hundred and eighteen out of the one hundred and thirty-eight counties in the State.

Antiquities in Arizona.

Mr. Stoneham's researches this season resulted in the discovery of several ancient villages, one of which is located on the Little Colorado. This village extends over an area of three miles.

Hurrah for Primus.

Primus Jones, of Georgia, the first hale man, has introduced the following bill in the Legislature, which he is a member. It is a prohibitory bill on the use of commercial fertilizers.

The Attack on Mr. Davis.

Col. R. Barnwell Rhett, of South Carolina, for many years editor of the Mercury and for a time editor of the New Orleans Picayune, has an article in the Century that will stir up a hornet's nest.

Our State Contemporaries.

A Simple Question of Fact. The Barnwell People defend Judge Aldrich in his recent anti-advertisements on the State press; and after pointing out the way in which his misguidedly contemporaries have gone astray, concludes that all this miscellaneous denunciation of lawlessness was started by the malicious brains of shrewd Yankee editors.

Justice in New York vs. Justice in South Carolina.

When Judge Barrett sentenced Jacob Sharp, of New York, to four years at hard labor and to pay a fine of $5,000, a valuable lesson was taught.

The Custom of Crying for the Blood of a White Man.

In his valedictory address before the Euphrasian Society at the recent commencement of the South Carolina College, a young man is represented to have said:

Prohibition in Georgia.

There is no doubt about the contagion and spread of prohibition in Georgia. Under the local option law, it prevails in one hundred and eighteen out of the one hundred and thirty-eight counties in the State.

Antiquities in Arizona.

Mr. Stoneham's researches this season resulted in the discovery of several ancient villages, one of which is located on the Little Colorado. This village extends over an area of three miles.

Hurrah for Primus.

Primus Jones, of Georgia, the first hale man, has introduced the following bill in the Legislature, which he is a member. It is a prohibitory bill on the use of commercial fertilizers.