FARMER'S DAY.

We publish to-day the call of the Executive Committee of the Sumter County Alliance for a grand mass meeting of the farmers of Summer County in Sumter on Saturday, September 14th. Hoo. Ben. Terrell, of Texas, Lecturer of the National Farmer's Alliance, will address the meeting on the object and aims of the Alliance.

The distinguished speaker has met with a handsome reception wherever he has spoken. He is an eloquent speaker and thoroughly informed on all matters pertaining to the organization he represents. It is earnestly to be hoped that all the farmers of Sumter County, laying aside all other business, will come to hear him. The day ought to be made distinctively a farmers' day and such a crowd greet Mr. Terrell as has never been seen in Sumter before. Those of our farmers who are not members of the Alliance ought especially to come out and learn what the Alliance is doing and what is the object and scope of its work.

In this connection it is pertinent to say something about the resolutions adopted at Atlanta, last week, by the National Cotton Committee, consisting of one delegate from each of the Cotton growing States. The personnel of the Committee was made up of the following agricultural organizations: National Wheel, National Union, and National Alliance. It was resolved by the combined committee to recommend to the farmers of the South to sell no cotton during the month of September except to meet obligations past due, &c. Their object was clearly to raise the price of

This scheme, if carried out to any appreciable degree, may accomplish something in the way of showing to the country the extent and efficiency of these organizations. The moral force of this important step may be beneficial in its effect on the organization itself and perhaps on the cotton exchanges, in teaching the latter that the farmers can act in concert and with a modicum of independence. We fear that this partial and incidental success will comprehend all the good that will be accomplished by the farmers in the proposed measures. If the movement should fall short of the immediate results sought—the enhanced value on the market of the staple—the reaction by reason of this failure and disappointment will be greater in its evil tendencies, than any partial success in other ways may be beneficial. The financial reports do not indicate a future increase in the price of cotton, except a slight rise in December futures, which the price of the staple will scarcely realine if the whole crop of the South be unloaded at once, by reason of the holding back of September sales. Besides which, there is now on hard a quantity of cotton almost sufficient to control prices for the next three or four months and the new crop will scarcely affect the present values. Cotton is one of the necessary articles of commerce and exchange. It always brings its worth in the same way that money does, and is about as variable in value. Its status in the financial world is fixed and the fluctuation in its monetary value is influenced by such forces and circumstances as are beyond the reach of the farmers to control.

We speak thus candidly our views because of our apprehension that a mistake on the part of the Alliance in a matter of such importance to them will entail upon their organization everlast-

The Farmer's Alliance and kindred organizations are but experiments so for. They are young plants of rare premise and if not over-cultivated and pushed too rapidly will grow into trees of sturdy strength, able to resist the storms that will be hurled against them. Let them progress with sure and steady steps, conscious of the justice of their mission, increasing in strength as the time goes on, and equipping themselves to cope with the difficulties as they arise and reforming grievances already existing, but not test and waste their pristine ference to the disturbance on our streets United States of more than 200,000 And pupils, children of parents or guardians powers by anticipating troubles not yet on the night of Aug 7th, do not disarisen and which circumstances do not close any facts that cause us to change called an American city. We beg to call attention to two articles clipped from the Charleston News and Courier anent the Eutawville R. R. and the probable effect its operation under the conditions adumbrated in the article referred to will have on the City Charleston. We are sorry for the old City by the Sea, but consoled by the thought that her loss is our gain. As the building of the road progresses the vast schemes of the railroad magnate anfold themselves with startling clearness to the observant eye. The Eutawville R. R. is evidently intended but as a link in a line to connect with the Roanoke & Seahoard Air Line or Robinson System, which goes out west by the Chesapcake & Ohio. The Robinson System is already in operation to Hamlet, N. C., and from that point will go to Cheraw, Sumter, Eutawville and Yemasee, a straight line to the North and the only absolutely straight line. It is already the natural competitor of the Richmond & Danville and will as surely become the competitor of the Atlantic Coast Line. This direct line will leave out the Seaboard Country of the State. This is a geographical necessity—and some point in the interior will have to be the objective point for through rates over distribution when established will become a place of incalculable importance. The aptics of the Atlantic Coast Line make it clear that Sumter is to be the distributing place. The company has acted badly of late. It has been engaged in a game of bluff, trying to choke off the Eutawville and connection by pretending to build a line from here to Augusta by the way of Manchester, the subject. and the Three C's by pretending to build a connection from here to Camden, which it does not intend to carry out. It is also at daggers' point with the Richmond & Danville R. R., a proof of which is it runs a morning train to Columbia just after the Northern trains belonging to that system have left that city. A passenger has to leave here at 4 o'clock a. m., and wait over in Columbia five hours in order to go through to any Northern point beyond Columbia.

All these projected new roads and connections threatened by the Atlantic Coast Line Company have as their objective point the City of Sumter, thus recognizing the importance of this place to the new roads, and unmistakably pointing to Sumter as the interior point of distribution and competition. All things work together for the good of the Game Cock City. The vast ma- sided over a secret meeting of promiterial resources of the middle interior of the State, Sumter's fortunate geoand her lucky situation on the direct line from the North-west to Florida, all conspire to make this city the object of fierce rivalry between these two powerful syndicates.

The inland travel from points North out good and sufficient reasons. and West to Florida will be through Sumter in the very near future, and the Charleston Junction will move up about 40 miles into the interior. It should extra session of Congress shall be callbe our object to catch some of these ed. Some people do not mind saying birds of passage. But of this we will speak hereafter.

THE CROPS.

After a careful survey, and from re ports received at this office, we sum up the crop outlook in Sumter County as follows: There has been entirely too to know of the Commissioner if the much rain in some sections and the lowland crops have been seriously dam- copyist. From the looks of his writing days, Thursdays and Saturdays-leaving aged and in some instances almost destreyed. On higher lands both corn and cotton are generally in good condition. Taking the entire County the important (to them) announcement, corn crop will be one of the largest just made, that Mrs. Harrison will not made during the last ten years. Cotton, generally, is late and has run largely to weed, but with a few weeks | war ship "Texas," about which there of favorable weather the yield will is so much mystery, will be investiprobably be up to if not above the aver- gated by Congress. It is to be hoped the matter will be tested so as to ascertain whether the Executive has the power to grant pardons coupled with conditions. The princple is wrong even where the power exists, on grounds already pointed out by us. The misty old case used as a precedent by the Governor, is out of circumstance is valueless as a precedent | he had said nothing.

MURDERERS REMANDED.

In the cases of W. B. Meetze and W. D. Kelly charged respectively with the murder of James I. Clark and George Bateman, brought before Judge Wallace by their solicitor, S. W. Melton on writs of habeas corpus, bail has been refused the prisoners, who were remanded to jail to await trial at the next Sessions at Columbia, like any common prisoners. This ruling of the Judge is refreshingly independent of recent precedents in similar cases. If the press of the State will continue its warfare against murder and murderers it will either check the former or procure the punishment of the latter.
