

The Watchman and Southron

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 26.

The Sumter Watchman was founded in 1850 and the True Southron in 1866. The Watchman and Southron now has the combined circulation and influence of both of the old papers, and is manifestly the best advertising medium in Sumter.

STRICKEN BY STREETS.

A few days ago the city of Greenville, Miss., was visited with the largest conflagration it has known for years. Five stores and their contents were entirely destroyed in about two hours. The total loss will approximate $100,000. The streets were in such a bad condition that it took the fire department almost one whole hour to reach the scene of the conflagration. Men and horses wading almost knee deep in mud lagged at the fire engine during forty long minutes to get in two blocks. What sort of an argument is this in favor of paving streets. If Sumter does not improve the condition of its streets, it will have to do as our friend the Advance suggests, buy Bradwell's big gray horses and several more like them, for the use of the fire department and the protection of property in the premises.

THE STATE.

The people of Sumter looked forward with many pleasant anticipations to the advent of this new newspaper, and the success of which they all have very deep interest. The State was advertised to be published on the 17th, but owing to a great accumulation of news and other matter at the eleventh hour, and to some imperfection in the adjustment of the elaborate machinery connected with the new press, its publication was somewhat delayed. Like all good things, "discovered late," to those seeking, it came at last and its bright, new columns were none the less enjoyed, especially the starred paragraphs of the first editorial column. May they always be as bright and starry in the firmament of the State as those shining in these first issues.

The State is a handsome eight page newspaper of six columns to the page and has a full and complete news-service. The printing is excellent, the company having purchased a brand new Cottrell press. With an able and experienced editor at the head, an energetic and well equipped force backed by capital and encouraged by the sympathy of a large number of people within and without the State, the paper deserves to succeed and will.

SOME ARCH SUGGESTIONS.

One of the most popular ideas that has been so far presented in connection with Columbia's Centennial celebration in May, has been that the Committee in charge erect arches representing each County in the State and that those Counties represented see to it that their respective arches are appropriately decorated.

If our memory serves us correctly we believe there are about four blocks on West Gervais Street between Union Depot and Main, and about twelve between Agricultural Hall and Elmwood Avenue; three between the intersection of Main and Elmwood and the Fair Grounds. We suggest that double arches representing two counties be erected at each intersection of the streets along this line. In this way the entire thirty six counties can be easily accommodated. We suggest further that the Game Cook arch shall span Main Street at its intersection with Gervais on the crest of the hill immediately in front of the capitol, and that Richard's Arch (provided it be appropriately decorated) shall unite with that of the Game Cook County—Sumter and Columbia, being the nearest together of the cities of Carolina, and are making faces at each other in point of progress.

DISSATISFIED INDIANS.

The Indians composing the delegation from the Sioux Nation who came to Washington to see the Great Father and the Great Council, have gone back, to say the least, dissatisfied. They have the consolation, however, of knowing that they made a strong presentation of their case, and one that will impress the American people with its truth and eloquence.

The trouble, they say spring from the seed. The seed was sown long ago by the white man not attending truthfully to his treaties. When the white man speaks the government and the army see that they obey. When the red man speaks, it goes in at one ear and out of the other. The Indian is for eternity interested in the subject. The white man only when he comes into office for two or three years.

They ask the following pertinent questions: "Why was not the late treaty fixed promptly by the great council? Why were our rations cut down a million of pounds? Why have not our winter annuities come? Why was the whole Sioux nation called to account for dancing a religious dance? Why are the agents always being changed? Why was agent Gallagher discharged when he wrote that our crops had failed and our rations must be cut down? Why was the army called in by Agent Royer? And if he was right why was he discharged? And why does not the blame for what followed belong to the white men? Let everything that is said here be written down, so that when we have to speak with other men we cannot be denied what was said here."

The Greenville News remarks, "the Indians are disgusted, like everybody else who has a personal interview with the alleged 'Great Father' who is in fact, only a grandfather and a grandson, and has no other claim to distinction."

We suggest a plan by which the two daily morning papers from Columbia can reach Sumter on time. Why can they not be sent over on the five o'clock freight, for distribution? In this way the State, and the Register would be read in Sumter at the same time as the two Charleston papers, the freight passing the passenger only a few miles west of Sumter at Wedgefield.

HO! for the World's Fair.

Mr. Editor: Some of us are always taking time by the lock and not by the forelock. In connection with this principle, I desire to lay before our townsmen a scheme which I am vain enough to think is worth considering. About two years hence, all the talk in this part of the country, as elsewhere, will be about the great World's Fair at Chicago, and the stereotyped question will be, "Are you going?" The stereotyped answer will be, "No Money! Wise men build for the future." We desire to see a scheme for the consideration of the young working men and women of the community, by which when the time arrives, we may all go to Chicago. The simple object of this plan is to lay out in advance, in a simple and easily understood manner, the money necessary for the actual expenses of the trip. I have no idea that a ten days' trip to Fair need cost more than $25, but there are a goodly number who could not now, nor two years hence, make a draft that would be honored for $50. Even those who could do so would regard it as a heavy expenditure of money. We propose to organize a World's Fair Club. Those who enter into the compact obligate themselves to pay thirty cents per week from now until May 1st, 1893. In case of failure to pay promptly each week, they shall forfeit five cents for each failure. This forfeit fund will be added to the general fund, and be divided among all the members of the Club on May 1st, 1893. A box will be open in the Bank of Sumter into which the deposits can be dropped at any time during the week, and on Saturday night, this box will be opened, and the amount placed in the Bank, with the understanding that it is to be paid to the order of no one until May 1st, 1893. The 4 per cent. from the Bank and the interest on the money, when added to the principal two years hence, amount $30 to each member of the Club. With a working capital of $30, it will not be hard for us to scratch about and find $10 or more to add to this, and then our trip to Chicago is secured. The Club may consist of five or fifty. One member can contribute a double fee, and so reduce expenses somewhat. Those who feel able to lay aside a larger sum than 30 cents weekly can do so. Failure to pay the amount will subject them to a fine of one cent greater than 30 cents.

I have made several mistakes in my brief and transitory life, but it does seem to me that this is a feasible scheme. A visit to Chicago is almost equal to a term at an ordinary school; a visit to the Fair will surely entitle one to a diploma. The young men and young women who are working daily for others at a meagre wage, can see a part of the world. In what way can it be done more easily than in the way I have designated? Unless the Bank takes wings, the money deposited will be beyond the reach of any one who might take a notion to draw it out, as it is to be deposited with the understanding that no draft on it is to be honored until the time named above. The sum of $30 is a small amount, and a long spell of sickness or distress of some kind should make it necessary, the money of a member of the Club might be returned to him; but otherwise he would forfeit what he had contributed if he failed to keep up his deposits according to promise. In this way, we should hedge ourselves about, and compel ourselves to be faithful even when our purposes in this line of adventure and travel had become a little lax.

This plan is open to women as well as to men. I hope to be able to reduce these crude ideas to some form by next week, and I will then announce to your readers the scheme in detail. Meanwhile let us ponder the matter, and determine upon the amount we shall undertake to lay by in store.

Sumter's South-East Suburb.

"God made the country and man made the town," said the poet, but asks Elizabeth Bellamy, "who invents the suburb, that region of idyllic promise to which distance lends enchantment; that mirage of the urban desert, so alluring to those connected with the rural temperament and afflicted with the purse inadequate? We answer, 'The Sumter Land and Improvement Company.' They are doing a splendid work for the city, for those who have no money to invest to buy enough acre, and also for those who desire to choose suburban spots at other extreme points of the town have in the main been built up to a considerable distance out from the city. After allowing for last week by the U. S. & N. R. R. depot, over this property, what wonderful changes have been wrought in its condition by the Land Company. Streets have been graded, sidewalks laid out, curbs and streets graded, and the place is rapidly putting on the appearance of a suburban town.

It extends from W. F. B. Hyattsworth's and the Sumter Canal on the north, crossing Calhoun and Liberty Streets, to the Radical Road, which forms its eastern boundary, to the southern extremity of the property. It is bounded on the south by the train road. The canal runs through the middle and is an important factor in the drainage. This tract of land, in area about 400 acres, is divided into blocks of uniform size, 600 feet in length, by 30 feet in width, and a street 16 feet wide runs through the center of these blocks, or squares, they are subdivided into lots 50 feet wide by 150 feet in depth. These lots front on nicely graded streets, 60 feet in width. The streets which run north and south are designated by numbers, 1, 2, 3 &c., and those running east and west, alphabetically, and are styled avenues. On the south side of the W. C. & A. R. R. about six blocks have been laid out and streets graded opposite the U. S. & N. R. R. depot and east of Carr's Mill. The Main Streets have parks laid out in various places, and no pains have been spared in properly laying off and grading the property according to the best principles of landscape engineering. Houses have been removed wherever they obstructed the uniform arrangement of the streets. The best street grading machine has been purchased by the company and is used in grading all the property. There is a thorough system of sewerage running from where the W. C. & A. R. R. crosses Liberty street, to the southern extremity of the property. This is called the Sumter Boulevard and is nearing completion. A full corps of men and other workmen are employed upon it and are removing stumps, rocks and other obstructions by the use of dynamite. Sites have been reserved for large manufacturing enterprises on both sides of the R. R. fronts. There is one feature about this property with which we were practically impressed. It is much higher and better drained in many places than we expected to find it and considerably higher than some valuable property in the city. When the thorough system of sewerage now being devised, is put in operation, this property will be as desirable as any within the same distance from the Court House.

Court of General Sessions.

The Court of General Sessions sits next Monday with Hon. James M. McMillin presiding. There are several very important murder cases to be tried and the criminal docket is altogether a heavy one. The following is a list of the cases to be disposed of: The State vs. Joseph David Chandler—Murder, under bond. The State vs. A. H. Durant and Richard Campbell—Murder. The State vs. George Williams Bachelor—Rape and burglary. The State vs. William Geddie—Grand larceny. The State vs. Sheriff P. Arson. The State vs. Calvin Luckey and others—Riot, (Bishopville case). The State vs. Cicero Wright—Assault and battery with intent to kill. The State vs. Charles Rose—Murder. The State vs. Gentry Butler, Hampton Nelson and Andrew Spann—Murder, (Macy case). The State vs. Charlie McMillin—Larceny of a pistol. The State vs. William P. Durant—Forgery. The State vs. D. F. Fierston and Flora McNeill—Adultery. The State vs. Leighton Wilson—Assault and battery.

Building and Loan Associations.

The organization of the Sumter Inter-State Building and Loan Association, which is a branch of the Inter-State Building and Loan Association of Columbus, Ga., was perfected here last week by Mr. W. R. Anthony of that city. Three hundred and sixty-seven shares have already been subscribed for and paid in.

Dr. J. A. Mood was elected president, Albertus Brown, Vice President, Marion Moore, J. C. China, A. C. Phelps, B. A. Brand and J. D. Graham, directors. Marion Moore attorney, A. C. Phelps, soliciting agent, W. E. Mims, Secretary and Treasurer. See their advertisement in this issue.

A branch organization of the Equitable Building and Loan Association of Augusta Ga., was established here on Friday last by Major C. O. Withers of that company. Col. Charles H. Phillips of Augusta is President and Hon. Joe Cummings, Vice President of the Central Board. The Sumter branch board is composed of Albertus Brown President, Directors A. J. China, R. P. Monaghan, Abe Rytzenberg, J. B. Garry, Wm. J. Jr., Secretary and Treasurer, Colin Mangan, Attorney; W. A. Pringle Soliciting agent. Read their advertisement of money to lend.

Sumter, S. C., Feb. 21—A few days ago Capt. R. A. Brand, the freight soliciting agent of the Atlantic Coast Line, was presented with a trail of two miles and a covered wagon which was loaded with the most complete furniture, bedding and farm yard paraphernalia, including a lot of chickens, evidently the worldly goods of some person who was on the move and had packed away everything for the purpose of settling down in some new quarter. He has't the least idea to whom the property originally belonged, but says that a man drove up to the depot and had the wagon and pack loaded just before the arrival of the passenger train, and came up to him and said that a lady living in Orangeburg had sent him on here through the country, and that he was in a quandary as to what to do with it, and so she had instructed him to turn over everything into the hands of the depot agent, and that she would call for them on her arrival. He said that he expected her on the train about to arrive; so Capt. Brand told her to wait and turn them over to her himself, but he said he had to leave on that very train. Capt. Brand was called off to attend to other matters at the depot, and the wagon had left before the wagon had left them, and nothing was to be seen of the lady whose arrival was expected, and no one was on hand to claim the property, he had then carried to his house and the mules stabled and fed.—The State.

Points from Providence.

Providence, S. C. Feb. 23, 1891. Mr. Editor: The continual wet weather has thrown the farmers of this neighborhood considerably behind with plowing. But they are pushing ahead now, and if the weather is favorable through March, they will be ready to plant in due time. The extraordinary good crop made last year has put the farmers in better circumstances than they have been for a number of years. (The Hon. J. H. G. Governor) I don't see why they shouldn't do still better. The farmers of Providence seem to be working with more energy than ever. We can boast of some of the most energetic farmers of the State, while we have some here so trifling as can be found in the State. Oats are looking fine, but there seems to be very few planted. Mr. C. R. Rembert has been quite ill but we are glad to hear he is up again. One of Mr. M. Dority's little children slipped down on the wet piazza floor last week, and broke one of its legs.

The citizens of Providence have organized a Military Company. It is called The Providence Rifle Company. They held a meeting last Saturday and elected the following officers: Captain, C. L. Williamson; First Lieut., Mr. John R. Smith; Second Lieut., Mr. P. W. Johnson; Third Lieut., Mr. Willie Boykin; First Sergt., J. E. Rembert; Second Sergt., Mr. J. E. Durant; Third Sergt., Mr. M. L. Hudson; Fourth Sergt., Mr. Harry McLeod. They have applied for arms, uniforms, &c.

IN MEMORIAM.

Whereas, The Supreme Dictator of the universe has seen fit in His infinite wisdom to call from his work on earth our brother JOHN MAXCY, therefore

Resolved, That in the death of our brother Maxcy, Sumter Lodge, No. 1077, K. of H., has lost a valued member, and the community a patriotic and earnest citizen. Resolved 2nd, That the sympathies of the Lodge be tendered to the family of our deceased brother. Resolved 3rd, That a page of our minute book be inscribed with the name and date of death of brother Maxcy, and his history as a K. of H. Resolved, That these resolutions be published in the city papers, and a copy sent to the family of deceased brother. Respectfully submitted, JOHN KENSHAW, GEO. D. SHURE, D. R. McCALLUM, Committee.

Smithville Items.

SMITHVILLE, S. C., Feb. 20, 1891. Mr. Editor: I guess "fall times" are now about as common a complaint as "hard times"; such is the case here, anyhow, so I can give you but few items. The weather here has been very disagreeable off and on for about a month. The last few days have been very warm. Fruit trees are budding. We hope they will not be killed by the cold, for it is now time we had good frosts. Farmers seem to foresee a good crop year, for they are dealing pretty extensively in fertilizers. They are also preparing a larger acreage of land than ever before. Dr. C. S. Britton is having his house remodeled and repainted, and is now nearly completed. A very attractive feature of Smithville is its High School which will compete with any in the State. It has made wonderful progress in its growth since its organization about two years ago. Its progress is largely due to the management of its principal, Mr. W. A. Masebrou. The citizens of Smithville can thoroughly appreciate the benefits derived from this school. Prof. J. P. Gibbs is to be complimented on the efficient management of his school at Smithville. We wish for these schools a continued success. C. L. K.

Our Leader!

A fast black Cheviot Suit for $10.00.

Perhaps you think it is a comparatively easy thing to produce a suit of clothes that will be attractive to everybody. Nothing could be further from the truth. Since the world began there were never two noses exactly alike, and there is just as much difference in taste as there is in noses. The successful clothier constantly has his fingers on the pulse of popular taste. It is his business to discover in what direction the tide of popular preference is flowing. Then and then only can he hope to be in a position to offer something that is certain to attract all hands. Of course, in making up our spring stock we could not have the pleasure of consulting you personally, but you will admit that we have been successful in anticipating your desire if you will call and look at our superb styles for the coming season. You will be surprised to see the difference in the quality, style and general get up of our line of suits at Ten, Twelve, Fifteen and Eighteen Dollars, compared to those usually sold for the same money. Respectfully, Brown & Chandler, Cor. Main and Liberty Sts., Sumter, S. C. February 18.
