The Brazilian Revolution.

London, Nov. 11 -There has still been no official contradiction from Brazil of the reports cabled here from that Mutual Life Insurance Company country to the effect that two or more provinces of that country—certainly the provinces of Rio Grande do Sul, and possibly those of Pernambuco and Babia-have seceded. Of course, with the telegraph and cable offices in the Lands of the dictator, and with the atent censorship established over even Stores, Barns, Furniture or Produce the most ordinary messages, it is a in the following companies, any of which difficult matter to get the real facts. are strong and reliable : Some reports, for instance, say that the independent provinces, or rather those which have declared their independence of the dictatorship, are Rio Grande do Sul, Pernambuco and Para; others add Bahai and omit Pernambuco; but the fact remains that in one or more provinces of Brazil independence has been proclaimed and that more States are likely to follow this example. The Times this morning publishes a dispatch from Rio Janeiro saying that by order of the dictator nearly all the newspapers of that city have been suspended and that their offices are in the hands of the authorities. The dictator.
