In some of the streets the water is said to have been two to three feet deep, and nearly all streets were impassable,

The track of the Charleston, Sumter & Northern R. R., was washed away in several places within the city limits, where usually no such accident would seem possible or even probable. The track of the Central read was also washed away in the vicinity of the junction of the Central and C., S. & N., and the evening train delayed. This washout occurred in the open field some distance from any watercourse and on ordinarily level ground. The water accumulated so rapidly and in such volume as to force itself across the embankment The whole section of the city South of the A. C. L. derot was under water, and it is said that it rose above the floors of a number of houses and the inhabitants had to move out.

Now comes the fish yarn, for no such story would be complete without a fish story. Several reliable parties tells the writer that got his. they were told that after the water had subsided in the vicinity of the Hoyt place in the Southern suburb of the city, large numbers of small fish were found in the yards. Ducks and chickens gorged themselves on W. Jenkins the fish, and many yet remained in the puddies of water left in the low places. It is only the latter portion of this story

> Booming Mayesville. MAYESVILLE, S. C., Sept. 19, 1893. The rainy weather seems to be over at last, nd business has revived once more. Cotton is coming in now quite freely, and everything seems to be moving smoothly and evenly onward. The cotton fields are filled with the happy cotton pickers, and contentment now seems to prevail. The gradual rise in the price of cot- line tobacco's. Mr. J. C. McKinney, the architect and builder, certainly deserves great credit and honorable mention for the faithful and masterly manner in which he performed his work. I will not attempt any description of it. On the wall to the left of the pulpit is a very neat and plain marble tablet inscribed to the memory of Rev. A. M. Sale, the first Pastor of the church. The accoustic arrangements are very fine, and the speaker is heard distinctly all over the building without any strain on his

> Rev. Mr. Hollingsworth, Pastor of Mt. Zion Church, has been assisting the Rev. Mr. Flinn in the services at Hebron Church. He is unassuming in his manner, and his sermous are far above the ordinary-plain, practical, earnest. Rev. Mr. Wroton preached on Wednesday morning and he is so well known, it is unnecessary to speak of his ability and zeal. Services morning and night every day. The attendance shows that a deep impression at O'Donnell & Co. is being made upon the minds and hearts of the people. I suppose the services will close Sunday.

There is a rumor affoat that the merchants in Sumter are not buying cotton-say they have no money and talk about paying in paper; this is unsatisfactory and there is a disposition to seek other markets. The way land attached. For terms apply to Mrs. O. it goes is, that they want to pay in paper, so E. Green, Sumter, S. C. that all the trade will be secured to Sumter, as the paper will pass nowhere else I give this to you for what it is worth, I have heard HAYEE.

The person who originated, as well as those who keep "afloat" the rumor mentioned above, must either be influenced by prejudice, or they have not kept themselves posted as to the facts. At the meeting held in this city, on the 8th, to consider the situation, it was found that there would be no lack of money damage to the cotton crop by rainy weather, to pay for cotton, and the meeting adjourned without action. Our merchants and cotton buyers have been paying cash for all cotton "affoat" such a "rumor" must not take or read a Sumter paper, and could not have tried to sell cotton here this season .- ED W. & S.
