

BYRAN SAYS THERE'S HOPE.

NEW HAVEN SPEECH FILLED WITH OPTIMISTIC VIEWS.

Great Orator Says That Reform Will Win—Makes Four Speeches in New Haven Friday.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 29.—William Jennings Bryan received a warm and hearty welcome today when he came here on a double mission of handing over to the city a marble fountain erected through a bequest in the will of his friend, the late Philip S. Bennett, and of addressing the New England Progressive Democratic league at its annual banquet. All of his four addresses were well received by the audience, which in total numbers went well into the thousands.

In addressing the league at its business meeting Mr. Bryan expressed his great appreciation of the work of the league and said he believed that the time is not far away when the members will rejoice over the victory won and he hoped to be with them when they rejoiced.

Mr. Bryan said the league's name was a good one, as it stood for action. In the Republican party there are the stand-patters and the reformers. The former element is against progress. The reform element is the life of the organization, and he said he had no doubt but that the reform element will win within that party just as it has won in the Democratic party. Of the reform in the Democratic party, Mr. Bryan said that it was growing. He thought there was much hope for the Democrats in the future. Policies which heretofore were called radical and dangerous are now endorsed by those who formerly opposed them. The president is in part responsible for this, Mr. Bryan said. He reviewed the great reform element in his own party.

In the next campaign, said Mr. Bryan, the Democratic platform will be progressive, definite, positive and one the people can read and understand. "We have had in the past," he said, "platforms which read one way before the election and another way after election. The people were betrayed. Now there is an awakening of conscience. We have not to invent principles. Every situation can be met by the old principles. Everywhere the party stood for has been conducted in a negative way, at least by the party in power. The signs all point to a great support of these principles."

This evening Mr. Bryan spoke at Wesley Hall to Yale students and at the banquet of the league.

AGAINST NUDE IN ART.

New York, Nov. 29.—According to a special to the World from Trenton, N. J., the people of that town have become suddenly stricken with the idea that there is something wrong in the nude in art. As a result the trustees yesterday to the statuary in the industrial school of art would each of the time-banned nude casts adorned with a fresh, gleaming white fig leaf.

Many ridiculed the idea, but the directors of the institution say that they were only carrying out the wishes of the trustees and Sunday school workers of the city and that these would discolor the additions to the statues so that they would not appear so prominent as they did yesterday.

SEEK FOR IMMIGRANT STATION.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 29.—While here today Mayor Rhett said that titles to the Charleston immigrant station would probably be made in a short time, and the deed passed from the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, the owner of the property, to be used by the government, to the federal authorities. He is now having blue prints made of the area to be transferred and expects the entire matter to be completed within a few days. Only a technicality has held the matter up this long.—News and Courier.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other places put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years, doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Winn's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case that fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

LONDON DINNERS FEWER.

Financial Depression Felt On the Attendance at Banquet of American Society.

London, Nov. 28.—Whitlaw Reid, the American ambassador, spoke optimistically of the financial outlook, and Field Marshal Sir George Stuart White eulogized President Roosevelt in the warmest terms at the Thanksgiving dinner of the American Society tonight.

That the financial depression was felt among the Americans in England was shown by the attendance at the banquet, which was the smallest in several years. Three hundred guests participated, compared with 400 at last year's banquet. The president of the society, Col. Millard Hamaker, was absent, and R. Newton Crane, former president, presided in his stead. Ambassador Reid sat at his right at the table of honor, and Mrs. Reid sat at his left. Others at this table, besides the speakers, included the Marquis and Marchioness of Tweeddale, Sir Ernest Cassel, Robert J. Wynne, the American consul-general at London and Mrs. Wynne; J. J. Van Alen, Capt. Sydney Cloman, military attaché of the American embassy, and Mrs. Cloman; Isaac Seligman, Richard A. Westcott, deputy American consul-general; Sir Joseph and Lady Lawrence and Mr. and Mrs. H. Gordon Selfridge. Mr. Reid's speech was received with great enthusiasm. He said:

"Someone said to me, as I was starting for this dinner, 'You will have to be a Mark Tapley tonight—helpful under difficulties.' That was only an exaggerated way of saying that we will have to be American, as usual. Nothing could be more un-American than to be downcast over temporary discouragements or to despair of the republic because some of our people, unhappily, have lost their money almost as fast as they have made it. We have seen such things before, and it was worse when the country was not half so big or half so rich as it is now, and we have not forgotten how we came out of them."

"When the clouds roll by," Mr. Reid then said, "it will be seen that we still have the country that Providence gave us; that we still have a people and that we still have the boundless opportunities which after every reverse in the past, have invariably speedily lifted us higher, and yet higher. Given these, what American fears the result?"

The Ambassador then paid a tribute to the new star in the flag, Oklahoma, and said the next president would be head of 46 states with a population of 100,000,000 before the close of his term.

esty and strenuously apposed strongly to Englishmen.

Lord Justice John Fletcher Moulton, one of the most eloquent speakers in London, toasted the American ambassador, referring to him as an example of the highest type of journalist. He praised the restraint the newspapers exhibited during the financial crisis in that country.

FOOTBALL AT EDGEFIELD.

Sumter Boys Win Glory in Game at South Carolina Co. Educational Institute.

Edgefield, Nov. 28.—There was an unusually good game of football played at the South Carolina Co. Educational Institute, Edgefield, Thanksgiving Day, between two well composed teams of the college and the main features of the game were good plays of the Sumter boys.

Bingham's head work at quarter back for the Blues did a lot to help win the game. The star plays were two touch downs followed by a fake play. Keils, R. from Lynchburg, made a star play and two touch downs for the Blues. Burkhalter, of Aiken, played a fine game and so did Black, C., of Bamberg. They were all on the Blue. Some star players for the Gold were Plowden, of Sumter, at full back, who made star plays. Bryan, of Edgefield, at right half back made some excellent centre rushes. Score: Blues, 10; Golds, 5.

A Home Made Happy by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"About two months ago our baby girl had measles which settled on her lungs and at last resulted in a severe attack of bronchitis. We had two doctors but no relief was obtained. Everybody thought she would die. I went to eight different stores to find a certain remedy which had been recommended to me and failed to get it. When one of the storekeepers insisted that I try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, I did so and our baby is alive and well today.—Geo. W. Spence, Holly Springs, N. C. For sale by DeLorme's Pharmacy.

W. L. Lunn, a young man of Darlington, while on horseback riding fell from his horse and broke his leg.

When to Go Home.

"From the Bluffton, Ind., Banner: 'When tired out, go home. When you want consolation, go home. When you want fun, go home. When you want to show others that you have reformed, go home and let your family get acquainted with the fact. When you want to show yourself at your best go home and do the act there. When you feel like being extra liberal go home and practice on your wife and children first. When you want to shine with extra brilliancy go home and light up the whole household.' To which we would add, when you have a bad cold go home and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and a quick cure is certain. For sale by DeLorme's Pharmacy.
