

CALHOUN COUNTY WON.

Vote Stood About Five to One For New County—Warm Scenes at Lexington County Precinct.

Columbia, Dec. 18.—Calhoun county was yesterday voted into the sisterhood of counties of the State by a majority of more than five to one, the total vote being: For Calhoun county, 701; against, 113.

The vote by precincts was as follows:

Table with 3 columns: Precinct, For, Against. Rows include Cameron, Advance, St. Matthews, etc.

There was great rejoicing last night at St. Matthews, the seat of the new county, where a big bonfire was burning and fireworks were being exploded in celebration of the victory in winning the new county.

It is said by those who came to Columbia last evening that at Red Store, a country precinct in Lexington, there were scenes which reminded one of the days of 1876.

And had been requested to form a sufficient force to this precinct to keep order. Accordingly, Sheriff Corley and a number of his deputies were on the scene and it is their presence prevented any display of feeling.

It seems that the expected trouble was not caused by citizens of Lexington, but from men who had gone to Red Store from the other side. It is that many guns were in evidence at this precinct.

The friends of the new county must expect all along, it is to carry the proposition, and the opposition seems to have been in their favor.

The overwhelming vote cast in the election is unlikely to be any coast to defeat of the majority voters.

556 for and 99 against in the new county of Calhoun, it is at the new county majority of the

The movement is not due to any one man, but it is said, to the efforts of the Chamberlain, the only weak instrument in securing the of the business houses at St. Matthews were closed yesterday and there appeared to be a united effort to work for the new county.

The topic discussed there was the location of the new court house and county jail, both of which will be built without cost to the outlying

Mr. E. K. Welch of the firm of Belcher & Welch attorneys for the new county people, was on hand at Red Store. It is said that his efforts, together with those of Sheriff Corley and his deputies, had great weight in securing the peace at that precinct. It is in this territory that one of the men had a shotgun drawn on him by one opposed to the new county.

It is hoped that the entire matter will now be settled and that the opposing sides will come together and live happily in the new county of Calhoun.

CHICCO DENIES ALLEGATIONS

Famous "Blind Tiger" Files Answer Through Attorneys as to Injunction.

Columbia, Dec. 17.—In his answer filed today through his attorneys, Logan and Grace, Vincent Chicco of Charleston denies "each and every allegation" in the injunction proceedings against him, except the statement that his name is Vincent Chicco and that his place of business is at 83 and 85 Market street, and he prays therefore that the temporary injunction against his doing the things he says he is not doing be dissolved and the petition be dismissed with costs. The answer caused much merriment throughout the state house.

PROHIBITION LAW UNLIKELY.

Record of House and Senate Against Its Passage.

Columbia, Dec. 16.—It has been frequently and freely predicted that the general assembly which convenes next month will pass a State prohibition bill. It is difficult, however, to see how this prediction is arrived at.

Mr. Nash will push his prohibition bill, and in the house Mr. Richards, Mr. D. L. Smith and others will perhaps support it. Senator Talbert's three bills providing for prohibition can be taken from the table, and Senator Carlisle, Otis and others may join the Edgelsfeld senator in his fight.

But what is the record of the present general assembly?

An examination of the journal of each house may give interesting results.

In the house the State dispensary forces joined with certain prohibitionists in an effort to pass a prohibition bill, so as to cut off the Carey-Cothran local option bill. This prohibition bill, presented by Mr. D. L. Smith, of Colleton, proved to be a bill strikingly similar to the bill of Mr. Nash, but Mr. Nash believing it unwise to take chances on not killing the State dispensary played Abraham to his bill's Isaac, and threw his vote, voice and influence to secure the passage of the Carey-Cothran bill.

The first decisive vote in the house on this question was on the motion to adopt D. L. Smith's substitute as follows: Yeas, 55; Nays, 68.

Another important vote was on Mr. Richard's motion to indefinitely postpone the Carey-Cothran bill, as follows: Yeas, 49; Nays, 73.

On Mr. Rucker's motion to table the Richards-Raynor-Manning-Tillman bill to purify the State dispensary: Yeas 67; Nays, 53.

There is a difference of four votes in the vote on the motion to kill (indefinitely postpone) the Carey-Cothran bill, and the motion to kill (lay on table) the Richards bill. The difference was made by the following: Dixon voted against the Carey-Cothran bill, but did not vote on the Richards bill; Stubbs did the same. Goodwin and Yiddell voted against both bills. Miller voted for the Carey-Cothran bill, but did not vote on the Richards bill. Ballentine, Banks, Cosgrove, Deboe, Doar, Harmon, and Wimberly voted for both bills (doubtless for parliamentary reasons) Boyd did not vote on the Carey-Cothran bill and voted for the Richards bill. (When it is said a member did not vote it is meant that he is not recorded in the journal as voting; he may have been absent at one roll call and present at the next.)

The members who have died or resigned since the 1907 session are recorded as follows:

Mr. Epting voted for the Smith prohibition bill; voted against the Carey-Cothran bill; voted for the Richards purification bill. He is succeeded in the house by Mr. W. B. Wannamaker.

Mr. McArthur, voted against the Smith bill; for the Carey-Cothran bill, and against the Richards bill. His successor has not been elected.

Mr. Marshall, who resigned, voted against the Smith bill, for the Carey-Cothran bill and against the Richards bill. He is succeeded by Mr. Bryan.

Mr. White voted against the Smith bill; for the Carey-Cothran bill and against the Richards bill. He is succeeded by Mr. Major.

Take those who voted for the Smith bill, which was used as a tactical move:

Messrs Ayer, of Florence; Bailey, of Beaufort; Brice, of Fairfield; Carson, of Orangeburg; Dick, of Sumter; Dixon, of Fairfield; Garris, of Bamberg; Gary, of Abbeville; Harmon, of Richland; Harris, of Lee; Hydrick, of Orangeburg; Leitner, of Fairfield; McKeown, of Chester; Miley, of Bamberg; Sawyer, of Georgetown; Sharpe, of Lexington; Stillwell, of Abbeville; Stubbs, of Sumter; Tatum, of Lee; Tompkins, of Richland and Wingard, of Lexington, come from counties which not only are not prohibition, but in which the county dispensary system has proved to be financially successful and generally popular. Unless they vote for prohibition that column loses 23 of its 55 votes, leaving but 32 to start the fight on. That is just half enough; 63 is the number needed.

On the other hand, some avowed prohibitionists (for instance, Mr. Nash,) voted against the Smith bill. As prohibitionists who took this position may be counted the following:

J. H. DeAl, of Spartanburg; W. J. Gibson, of Spartanburg; McArthur, (deceased) of Cherokee; Nesbit, of Greenville; Verner, of Oconee; Walker, of Spartanburg; Arnold of Spartanburg—9 in all. Give the prohibition column (from those who opposed the Smith bill) one additional from Cherokee, two from Darlington, three from Anderson, one from Edgelsfeld, Greenville, Marion, and Pickens, which has 3; Cherokee, which has 2; Anderson, which has 2; Newberry, which has 2; Lancaster, which has 2; Horry, which has 2; Darlington, which has 2. To sum up, seventeen counties have no dispensaries and the seventeen "wet dry" counties have no dispensaries and the seventeen "wet dry" counties have no dispensaries and the seventeen "wet dry" counties have no dispensaries.

But Marlboro has three and counted for the Smith bill. Greenwood has one and counted for the Smith bill and another conceded as possible, leaving only one to be gained.

Oconee has two conceded. Pickens cannot be expected to give a vote for State prohibition.

Greenville will likely stand by Mr. Cothran's law, but one vote is conceded to a prohibition bill from Greenville and counted in the probable 19.

Anderson cannot at best give more than three for a prohibition bill, and that number is conceded above and counted in the probable 19.

Spartanburg's five out of six are conceded and counted in the 19. Union may give one.

York concedes one out of four. Saluda may give two.

Newberry already has one in the original 32 and will hardly give another for State prohibition.

Marion already has one in the 32 and may give one additional. Lancaster's two are in the 32.

Horry has one in the 32 and will hardly give another. Edgelsfeld concedes one in the possible 19.

Cherokee has two conceded in the 19. Darlington has one in the original 32 and one conceded in the possible 19. Only one can be gained. (1) Darlington... 1

Marion... 1 Saluda... 2 Union... 1 Greenwood... 1 Total... 6

Adding these six to the 67 already figured in, and 57 votes in the house as many as can be, even by a liberal estimate, be counted on for a prohibition bill. That is six short of the majority.

If the 55 votes cast for the D. L. Smith bill could be retained for that measure and the nine members rated as prohibitionists but who voted against the Smith bill should now support it, the Nash-Smith bill could be passed, having a total of 64, or one more than a majority. But will the stick? There's the rub.

In the senate the only straight vote on the liquor question was had on the Carey-Cothran bill, which had passed the house. The vote on the bill's passage to third reading was reached on Saturday, February 9, 1907, and is recorded on page 447 of the present journal, as follows:

Yeas—(for the bill): Apple, Blais, Eivens, Brice, Brooks, Carlisle, Carpenter, Crouch, Graydon, Harmon, Haynes, Holliday, Mauldin, McArthur, Otis, Slinker, Smith, Sullivan, Talbert, Toole, Williams—21.

Nays—(against the bill): Clark, Blease, Clifton, Earle, Efron, Fougus, Johnson, Kelly, Laney, Raynor, Rogers, Stackhouse, Walker, Williams—15.

Senator McKelthan, for, was paired with Senator Townsend, no.

Senator Christensen, aye, was paired with Senator Griffin, no.

Senator Bass, aye, was paired and not paired.

So that the senate stood 24-11. For the local option 24-11. For the State dispensary 17-11.

Total... 41. Of the 24 favoring local option, the following represent counties which have obtained prohibition by local option election under the Brice law:

Brice, of York; Carlisle, of Spartanburg; Carpenter, of Pickens; Crouch, of Saluda; Holliday, of Horry; Mauldin, of Greenville; Otis, of Cherokee; Sullivan, of Anderson; Talbert, of Edgelsfeld; Williams, of Lancaster; McKelthan, of Darlington—11.

Of the 24 favoring local option, the following represent counties in which the county dispensary system has now appeared to give satisfaction:

Appelt, of Laurens; Blais, of York; Blease, of Clifton; Efron, of Fougus; Johnson, of Marion; Kelly, of York; Laney, of York; Raynor, of York; Rogers, of York; Stackhouse, of York; Walker, of York; Williams, of York—15.

Passed Examination Successfully. James Donahue, New Britain, Conn., writes, "I tried several kidney remedies and was treated by our best physicians for diabetes, but did not improve until I took Foley's Kidney Cure. After the second bottle I showed improvement, and five bottles cured me completely. I have since passed a rigid examination for life insurance." Foley's Kidney Cure cures backache and all forms of kidney and bladder trouble. Sbert's Drug Store.

W. H. Davis, chief of police at Easley, who was shot from ambush several nights ago, died from the wounds he received. Morgan Boyleston has been arrested in connection with the shooting.

Millions of bottles of Foley's Honey and Tar have been sold without any person ever having experienced any other than beneficial results from its use for coughs, colds and lung troubles. This is because the honey and tar in the low package contains no other harmful ingredients.
