Bishop Galloway, Mississippi's most distinguished divine and best known preacher, for the last 20 years held Over Crowded Laurch Sinks in Ohio rank among the greatest pulpit orators of America. His illness of several days' duration was a mild form of pneumonia, complicated with heart trouble.

The Bishop was taken ill last Friday en route from Nashville, where he had attended the annual session of the college of bishops. No alarm over night, when pneumonia developed in one lung. The patient grew worse rapidly. During the final 12 hours he was unconscious.

The funeral will take place Thursday afternoon from the First Methodist church, followed by interment at Greenwood cemetery.

Bishop Warran A. Candler of Georgia will conduct the services.

Orders have been issued for all departments of the federal, State, county and municipal governments to remain closed tomorrow, and Mayor Crowder has issued a proclamation urging all the business houses to close for the day.

Bishop Galloway was possibly the most prominent of the bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. He was born at Koseiusko, Miss., September 1, 1849, and graduated in 1868 from the niversity of Mississippi. The degree of doctor of laws was later conferred upon him by the Northwestern University and by Tuiane University. He entered the ministry in 1869.

Bishop Galloway's writings covered a wider range perhaps than those of any other person connected with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and he traveled extensively. For a number of years he took an active interest in the prohibition campaign in Mississippi and other Southern States. He was president of the board of education of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, president of the board of trustees of Millsap College and Vanderbilt University and was a member of the board of trustees of

The boat is said to have been intended for not over 20 persons and it is said it was dangerous to attempt as many as 25 in it. But all the men wanted to get across the river on the first trip of the boat and 30 crowded

As the men started out in the boat one of them is said to have remarked that it seemed to him to be overcrowded and he feared it was not safe to attempt the trip. Albert Graham, the pilot, is said to have answered that it was safe. No more thought of the matter until the craft reached the middle of the stream, where the boat suddenly sank.

There was no explosion, no leak was sprung, but the boat simply sank beneath the weight it had on board and went to the bottom. As it sank it caused a suction which took many of the men down with it. Others attempted to swim ashore but were chilled by cold water and became exhausted before reaching the shore.

Two of the men who saved themselves were brothers of Henry Vogeli, who, was drowned.

THE EPISCOPAL COUNCIL.

Hot Discussions and One Memeber Leaves Meeting-Sumter Chosen as Next Meeting Place.

Spartanburg, May 12.—"I feel sure that I have been insulted, and I ask to be execused from further attendance upon this council," said Rev. C. H. Jordan, of Union, and he picked up his hat and walked out of the meeting, notwithstanding that Bishop Guerry, the presiding officer, told him he could not be execused without the consent of the council. Mr. Jordan offered a memorial from the Greenville convocation to the effect that the young men in the Citadel Academy of Charleston were not accorded the religious privileges they should have, that there were Episcopal boys there and they were forced to attend other churches than their own. The council was requested in the memorial to appoint a committee to confer with the officials of the Citadel Academy and see what could be done towards securing the religous privileges desired for the boys.

The memorial touched a live wire and brought fire from every quarter. There were those who were for nipping it in the bud and not receiving it as information. Judge Haskell of Columbia moved that it be received as information but not spread upon the minutes.

Secretary Thomas of Cheraw arose and said that he had attended the Citadel himself and knew the arrangments they had for the young men's attendance upon church was a broad and liberal one.

Motions were made to table Judge Haskell's motion and quite a number called for Mr. Jordan to read the memorial again. It was read.

The suggestion in it was that Bishop Guerry act as chairman of the committee to confer with the academy officials and ask that the boys be allowed to attend where they sed. Bisop Guerry stated mos positively that he would not serve as chairman of such a committee. At this point Mr. Jordan made it known that he felt he had been insulted and asked that he be excused from further attendance upon the council.

Hon. Walter Hazard took the floor and made as peach; ld not approx Jordan had received! He moved tha council reconsider the matter. Rev. A. R. Mitchell spoke a few words in Mr. Jordan's behalf. He said that Mr. Jordan had given the matter much thought and those who had spoken so violently against him had not had it on their mind. Rev. O. T. Porcher seconded what was said by Rev. Mr. Mitchell. He was of the opinion that it was wrong for any State institution to discriminate against the church. He said he thought it would be a wise thing for council to appoint a committee to request the military academy to abolish any and all discrimination against the church.

The discussion of the matter grew more and more fevered and Judge Haskell again arose and said that he thought it best for council to let the matter alone, as it was dangerous to fool with.

Hawkins J. Jenkins of Pinopolis moved to adjourn the debate.

Order was restored by Bishop Guerry's calling for nominations for the standing committee.

The deadlock in the ballot for a treasurer was the first thing taken up today. At the close of business yesterday it seemed impossible for council to choose between Dr. W. H. Prioleau and Mr. Richard I. Manning for treasurer by ballot. The voting was resumed this morning, with the hope that the new arrivals would break the tie, but the same deadlock was repeated again and again. The matter was finally decided by Dr. Prioleau and Mr. Manning withdrawing. Mr. William Godfrey of Cheraw was then

On memorial of colored convocations: Rev. A. E. Cornish, Rev. K. G. Finlay and R. I. Manning.

Bishop Guerry then read his address to the council. The address was a lengthy document, but it was full of good suggestions. The principal feageon, Columbia; Jno. G.
