BOSTON FLAUNTS PENNANT.

RED SOX WIN DECIDING GAME OF GREAT SERIES IN TENTH INNING.

Yerkes Slides Home With Run That Ends Most Exciting World's Championship Combat in History.

Boston, Oct. 13.—The Boston Red Sox, pennant winners of the American league, are the world's baseball champions of 1912. Defeating the New York Nationals today by a score of 3 to 2 in ten innings of a bitterly fought struggle, they captured their fourth victory of the world's series and carried off the premier honors in baseball.

The Giants won three games of the series that was played before more than a quarter of a million people and one contest was a tie. The total receipts for the eight games were $490,833, and each Red Sox player received $4,024, while the Giant players each came in for $2,566.

Today's was a game of excitement and changing emotions for the 17,000 spectators who went to Fenway park to see the teams which had struggled valiantly for seven games, with honors even, meet in the deciding contest. Never was a ball game more hard fought, for it was not until twilight had fallen upon the tenth inning the Red-stockinged Yerkes flashed over the plate with the winning run.

The Giants broke into the run column in the third inning. DeVore received a base on balls. Doyle went out, Gardner to Stahl, Devore taking second. Snodgrass grounded out to Stahl, unassisted, and Devore slid into third. Play was suspended a moment until Manager McGraw had finished a little tailoring, patching up a hole in Devore's trousers with a safety pin. The operation ended, up came "Red" Murray, who smashed a terrible drive to left centre. The speedy Speaker was off immediately after the bat hit the ball, but was just able to touch the ball with his fingers. Devore had trotted home with the first run and Murray raced on second when the ball was returned to the infield. New York rooters were beside themselves with joy, for they figured with Mathewson pitching. Boston could not get two runs to beat their one. Merkle ended the inning by grounding out, Gardner to Stahl.

The Red Sox opened the seventh, in which they tied the score, by Gardner flying to Snodgrass. Stahl dropped a single in left, Murray, Snodgrass and Fletcher balking each other in trying to get the fly. The Red Sox manager moved down to second when Wagner was given a base on balls. It was up to Cady to do something but the home rooters groaned when he popped a fly into the waiting hands of Fletcher. Hendrickson, batting for Bedient, let a couple of balls go by him and then he opened on the next pitch and slammed the ball down the left field foul line for two bases and Stahl came home with the tying run amid great excitement. Wagner took third on the play. Hooper tried hard to bring Wagner home, but he flew out to Snodgrass.

"Smoky Joe" Wood was given a royal reception when he went into the pitching box for the Red Sox in the eighth.

Neither team pushed any additional runs over the plate in the eighth and ninth innings and into the 10th inning the contest went.

The Giants chilled the hopes of the Boston crowd by scoring a run on a double into the bleachers by Murray and a hit by Merkle to centre which Speaker juggled. Hundreds of fans tore up their score cards, jammed their hats down over their heads and disconsolately left the grounds for Mathewson was pitching a game which was baffling the Boston batsmen.

Engle led off for the Red Sox in the last half of the 10th. He had gone to the bat for Joe Wood. The Red Sox pinch hitter sent up a towering fly to left centre. Snodgrass moved over towards the bleacher seats and waited for the ball to drop. He muffed it and before the ball was recovered Engle was on second base. No one was out and the crowd was in a frenzy of joy. Hooper tried to sacrifice but Mathewson fooled him, and the best the Red Sox right gardener could do was a fly to Snodgrass. The Giant pitcher tried to work the corner of the plate for Yerkes, but Yerkes waited him out and walked on four balls. With Engle on second and Yerkes on first, Tris Speaker came up. The crowd to a man was now yelling.

Speaker swung his big bat. The first ball was a curve and inside and

VISIBLE COTTON SUPPLY.

QUANTITY IN UNITED STATES ON SEPTEMBER 30.

Complying with New Law Census Bureau Issues First Report on Supply and Distribution of Cotton—Gives Exports to and Imports from Various Foreign Countries, also Number of Spindles Operated During September in United States.

Washington, Oct. 16.—The total supply of cotton in the United States on September 30 was 2,110,678 running bales, counting round bales as half bales, according to the census bureau's first regular supply and distribution report, made today, in compliance with the recently enacted law requiring a monthly statement of the quantity of cotton consumed, on hand, imported and exported and the number of active cotton spindles.

Of the cotton on hand the quantity held by manufacturers was 722,781 bales, as follows:

In cotton growing States 206,869 and in all other States 515,912. There was held at independent warehouses and elsewhere 1,387,897 bales, as follows:

In cotton growing States 1,285,834 and in all other States 102,063.

Cotton consumed in the United States during September amounted to 437,322 bales, as follows:

In cotton growing States 225,424 and in all other States 211,898.

Exports of cotton during September were 729,859 bales, as follows:

To the United Kingdom, 345,290; to Germany, 163,449; to France, 103,060; to Italy, 36,906; to all other countries, 81,159.

The imports of cotton during the month amounted to 10,510 bales, as follows:

From Egypt, 1,325; from the United Kingdom, 6,541; from all other countries, 2,644.

The number of cotton spindles operated during September in the United States were 29,795,792, of which 11,519,915 were in cotton growing States and 18,275,877 in all other States.

Speaker popped up a high foul, Meyers, Merkel and Mathewson went after it, but it fell safe among them. New York's last chance to stop the Bostonians had passed with the failure to get that foul ball. Mathewson started a high fast one and Speaker met it fairly. On a line over Doyle's head the ball was driven and Engle rushed over the plate with the tying run. On the throw-in Yerkes went to third and Speaker dashed on to second.

The New York infield drew in and Lewis was purposely passed so that a runner could be forced at the plate on an infield grounder. Then came the finish. Gardner, with three balls and one strike on him, smashed a long fly to Devore. Yerkes set himself at third and dashed for home when the ball dropped into Devore's hands. The Indian Meyer crouched at the plate to take the throw he expected from Devore. The instant he had caught it Devore whipped the ball homeward. On came the flying Yerkes; on came the ball. Mathewson, who saw the throw would be wide, threw up his hands and Meyers turned away without trying for the ball. Yerkes did not know the throw was wild, however, and he plunged headforemost and slid over the plate in a cloud of dust with the run that won the championship for the Red Sox.

The crowd fairly screamed in a delirium of joy. Men threw their hats in air and cheered until they could cheer no more. Hundreds rushed upon the field and gathering about the Red Sox bench applauded the winning players.

Mathewson buried himself in his great coat and walked from the field. Scores of persons followed the pitcher and patted him on the back, congratulating him upon his fine work in the box.

Manager McGraw elbowed his way through the throng to the Red Sox club house beneath the stands, where he congratulated Manager Stahl and the Red Sox players. He exchanged blows with a spectator on the way on account of an insulting remark made by the spectator.

The total paid attendance for the series of eight games was 252,037.

The total receipts were $490,833. Each club's share was $147,028.85.

The national commission's share was $49,028.30.

The total players' share, derived from the first four games only, was $147,471.69.

Of this amount the Boston players, as winners, shared 60 per cent, or $88,543.01.

PEEPLIES PROBABLY WINNER.

UNOFFICIAL RETURNS GIVE HIM FAIRLY SAFE LEAD.

With Nearly 45,000 Heard From Barnwell Man is 3,000 Votes in the Lead.

Columbia, Oct. 17.—On the face of the unofficial returns from the primary last Tuesday Thomas H. Peoples of Blackville is nominated for attorney general of South Carolina, defeating the incumbent, J. Fraser Lyon. The vote as reported last night stood: Peoples 23,983; Lyon 20,990. About 10,000 or more votes remain to be heard from, but the indications are that Peoples' present lead will be increased.

Complete returns were available last night from only six counties: Charleston, Clarendon, Jasper, Marion, Marlboro and Richland. Two counties, Horry and Saluda, have not been heard from. In the latter, there seems to have been considerable confusion over the election. Returns are especially slow in coming from the heavy voting counties of the Piedmont. With the exception of Horry and Georgetown, the returns from the Pee Dee section are practically complete.

The vote in the primary for attorney general will not be definitely known until after the State Democratic executive committee holds its meeting in Columbia Friday at noon. All over the State today the county Democratic committees will meet to declare the returns and report them to the State committee. The election machinery has worked very slowly so far in reporting returns to the county seats. There are reports from several counties of managers neglecting to come for boxes, and no election being held at many precincts.

The complete returns from Charleston county give Peoples a majority of nearly 1,900 over Lyon. Richland county went for Peoples by over 300 votes. His majority in Spartanburg will probably exceed 700 votes. Lyon's lead in Greenville has been decreased by the last returns.

ONE-HALF RAISED IN TWO DAYS

Churches of Harmony Presbytery Responding Liberally.

Columbia, Oct. 16.—Harmony Presbytery has raised one-half of the $25,000 asked of it towards the endowment fund of $200,000 the Presbyterians of South Carolina are raising by the close of the second day of the eight-day canvass now on. Reports have been received from twenty-six churches and five of these have reported as subscribed amounts equal to or greater than their apportionment.

Thirteen churches, including a number of the best, have not yet sent in their reports. Sumter, while working, will not make a report for the present. Both the amount subscribed and the number of churches reporting are large for this early in the canvass.

Negro Arrested for Stealing.

Wednesday afternoon George Stevens, colored, was arrested by Mr. Geo. G. Fox out on the Manning avenue road at a negro store. Stevens was charged with entering several houses and stealing articles. When arrested he had on a complete suit of clothes and other articles he had stolen from Mr. Turner, an overseer on Mr. Haynsworth's place. The darky was also accused of stealing some money out of a store run by a negro named Burress, near Pocalla.

Summerton Train "Kick."

Citizens of Summerton appeared before the railroad commission and asked that the trains on the Northwestern railroad be required to spend the night at Summerton, instead of Wilson, in order that connections might be made with the Coast Line in the mornings.

The Northwestern people replied that to do this would require them breaking the Inter-State commerce commission's rule of 16 hours. The commission heard testimony of both sides and took the matter under advisement.—Columbia State, Oct. 16.

Each Red Sox player, of whom 22 were eligible, received $4,024.68.

Each Giant player, of whom 23 were eligible, received $2,566.46.

The figures in every case are greater than those of any previous world's series.

ROOSEVELT'S WOUND HEALING

ASSAILANT'S BULLET FRACTURED 4TH RIB, X-RAY SHOWS.

Surgeons Make Statement Concerning Colonel's Condition After Thorough Examination and First Successful X-Ray Picture—Bullet Apparently Imbedded in Broken Rib — Path of Missile Somewhat Lacerated, Say Doctors.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Col. Roosevelt slept soundly as midnight passed. The rooms of his suite were dark and silent. Night Nurse Margaret Fitzgerald was exiled from the room, which she had turned over to Mrs. Roosevelt, and sat outside with the police sergeant, who was on guard. She said that she had nothing to do for the Colonel and would not go to him unless he rings.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—The bullet wound inflicted in Col. Roosevelt's chest at Milwaukee Monday night, it officially was announced today for the first time, is healing normally without infection. The statement that no complications have shown themselves was made after a day during which the first successful X-ray picture of the wound in the Colonel's chest was examined by the surgeons.

The fact developed that the would-be assassin's bullet fractured the Colonel's fourth rib. The missile remains imbedded, apparently, in the bone. The fracture, however, it is stated, will not affect the treatment in any way, but will be allowed to heal untreated, as will the wound.

A description of the wound given tonight by Dr. W. B. McCauley is the first to be given to the public by the surgeons. He said that the bullet's path through the muscles of the chest is lacerated to some extent by the battered lead, but that there was little contusion and no extensive area of bruised and extravasated surrounding tissues.

"The bullet did not 'mushroom,' as might have been expected," said Dr. McCauley. "For that reason it cut a comparatively small hole in the skin and did not reduce a large portion of the nearby tissues to pulp, as is the case in a soft bullet that 'mushrooms' in animal tissues after it hits a bone. I think the bundle of papers in Col. Roosevelt's pocket checked it and the spectacle case, for some reason, failed to spread the bullet much.

"The wound is about big enough to put your finger in at the surface and it doesn't appear to get very much bigger. I would call it a very clean wound. The skin is torn at the surface in a ragged way, but not badly, and there is little bruising."

BALKAN TROUBLE NOT GENERAL

ACTUAL FIGHTING CONFINED TO MONTENEGRIN FRONTIER.

Bulgaria and Servia Seem Curiously Indisposed to Take Final Step.

London, Oct. 16.—The Balkan fighting remains limited to the Montenegrin border and although the relations of Turkey and the other allied States are virtually broken, there is a curious indisposition on the part of Bulgaria and Servia to take a final place in the hostilities. This hesitation is regarded in diplomatic circles as a good omen, pointing to the possibility that the powers will be able to prevent it, thus lessening the duration of the war.

It is understood that most of the powers have accepted in principle the suggestion of the French premier for a European conference but nothing has been decided as to when the conference will meet or what its programme will be.

The fact that Italy is now free to enter the conference will greatly strengthen the European concert and is calculated to make the Balkan States more amenable to European pressure.

The future status of Crete under the new conditions, which it is reported will be virtual annexation by Greece, is now engaging the attention of the powers.

The rumors that Bulgaria has actually declared war has not been confirmed.

The Montenegrins after hard fighting have captured Berna, but it is reported that there will be a pause in the operations around Tushi. Undoubtedly this is due to the Montenegrins realizing that they have paid too dearly for their successes in heavy losses of life. King Nicholas accordingly has issued a proclamation urging his soldiers to restrain their impetuosity.

The Montenegrin Princes Danilo and Peter have been active in the engagement, personally leading their forces. Prince Peter has been promoted to major for gallantry.

Gen. Martinovitch's division has worked its way closer to Scutari and it is stated that an Austrian vessel has been ordered by the Boyana river to bring the Austrian counsel and colony from Scutari.

The conclusion of peace between Italy and Turkey has greatly relieved the shipping trade owing to the heavy insurance premiums imposed during the activity of the Italian fleet in Turkish waters.

Set of Harness Returned.

The set of harness which was lost by the racing squad of the fire department on their trip to Fayetteville Thursday morning turned up in the city, sent by whom or from where no one seemed to know. The loss of the set of harness came before council several times and this body decided that the boys must make good the loss. Afterwards the racing squad purchased a collar, valued at more than the entire set of harness and the matter was dropped by council. Now the members of the racing squad can return the harness to the city and will have a good extra collar of their own.

Real Estate Transfers.

Two transfers of real estate were left in the office of the auditor Wednesday morning to be recorded:

Warren Taylor to McCallum Realty Company, lot near city, $100.

Asier E. McElveen to Kirby R. McElveen, 92 acres in Shiloh township, $5.

Work on S. C. Western Station.

The work on the South Carolina Western station is rushing along and it is probable that in a few more weeks the building will be entirely ready for occupancy. All of the roof has been covered with tin shingles and the carpenters are now at work putting in the weather boarding for the walls and laying the floors. The building is divided into white and colored waiting rooms offices and warehouse.

THE CIRCUS COMES TO TOWN

HOWE'S GREAT LONDON EXHIBIT HERE TWICE TO LARGE AUDIENCES.

Circus Tents Are Pitched on Vacant Lot Between Depot and Gas Plant off Hauser Street—Large Crowd in Town for Show—Some of the Attractions of the Circus.

Howe's Great London Shows, one of the largest independent circuses in America, arrived in town Thursday morning early in their special train and now have their big tents pitched on the vacant lot between the station and the gas plant, off Hauser and Silver streets.

There was quite a big crowd present when the train was in sight and the unloading of circus paraphernalia and the pitching of the tents and getting things in readiness for the big parade and two performances were watched with the greatest amount of interest by those present, both old and young.

The parade of the morning came through the streets shortly before 11 o'clock and the streets and sidewalks were crowded with interested spectators, many of whom had come from the farthest corners of the county and from other counties to see the parade and circus. The parade came up Main street, turned up Liberty street then came back down Main street and turned up Bartlette to Washington and down Liberty to Harvin and on back down to the grounds.

Early in the day the people from the surrounding country commenced pouring in on every road entering town and every train which came in during the morning brought full carloads of persons living near the stations along the lines. As this is the first circus in a couple of years, no doubt this was the occasion for a larger attendance than it would have received had there been a circus here last year.

The circus grounds were crowded early and a big crowd was gathered around the tents all day watching everything to be seen, anxious that nothing should escape their sight which was worth seeing. The doors of the big circus tent opened at 1 o'clock and crowds poured in until long after time for the circus to commence. The doors were opened early so that visitors might get an opportunity of seeing the animals and might enjoy the band concert which was given preparatory to the commencement of the circus performance. This event was watched with the greatest interest, many of the 200 odd features holding the crowd spell-bound while they were in process of execution.

Tonight the doors will be opened again for the second performance of the day, which will commence at 8 o'clock, the doors being opened one hour earlier. The circus performance this afternoon was in every way clean and was one well worth seeing and one it will do no one harm to see, but will be the means of teaching much to a great many among the audience.

One of the features of the menagerie which Sumter people will have the pleasure of seeing is a baby lion cub, two weeks old. This is an exhibition here for the first time and will no doubt attract a great deal of attention. It is an addition to the menagerie of which the management is extremely proud and every effort is being made to make the cub into a bouncing baby of his kind.

IN THE CRIMINAL COURT.

One Convicted, One Acquitted—Isalah Rees up for Assault and Battery.

In the General Sessions Court, Wednesday Philomena Odom, alias Philomena Bossard, was tried and convicted of larceny from the person. Martina Bossard, a sister who was tried for the same offense, was acquitted.

In court Thursday morning the case of the State vs. Isalah Rees was in progress. Rees was tried for assault and battery with intent to kill. In a difficulty over a loan of ten cents he cursed a white boy near Wedgefield and then cut the boy with a knife.

Members of Grand Jury.

The following were drawn Wednesday to hold over on the grand jury for the year 1913 from 1912:

E. R. Taylor, C. W. Chandler, J. S. Cain, S. F. Moore, C. H. Burrows, B. F. Estridge.
