THE COW AND HER PRODUCT.

Clemson College Weekly Notes for Farmer and Dairyman.
(These notes are prepared by the Dairy Division of Clemson College, which will be glad to answer any questions pertaining to dairying.)
Bacteria grow very fast in warm milk. Keep the milk cool and avoid disease.
As the weather grows warmer, lower the churning temperature of your cream.
Do not wash butter with ice-cold water, as to do this will ruin the body of the butter.
Skim milk is fine to feed to pigs, but be sure all the butterfat is out before you feed it. Butterfat is worth too much for hog feed.
Do not use any of the patent calf feeders. An ordinary open pail is better and far cheaper. See to it that the little calves have plenty of shade and water.
Try to sell some sweet cream to the ice cream man. It pays much better to sell butterfat in the form of cream than in the form of butter.
The flavor of butter is soluble in cold water. Never place butter in direct contact with water to cool. Put the butter in a vessel and have the water around the outside of the vessel.
See to it that all pails from which calves are fed are kept very clean in hot weather. Dirty pails will very likely cause calves to have scours.
"Waste not, want not," runs the old adage. Farmers who "waste not their butterfat" seldom complain about poor profits from their cows. Get a separator and be sure.
The cow is a machine for converting fodder into butterfat. She may be a highly efficient machine, but unless the farmer succeeds in separating all the cream from the whole milk she cannot possibly return the largest profits.

Rock Hill Bank Buys Bulls.

The 10 Hereford bulls bought by the National Union bank have been placed with the following farmers of this section: J. A. Black, H. F. Bookout, O. S. Poe, John S. Stultz, J. Alex Willford, A. F. Ruff, S. W. Ferguson, J. A. Barber, W. C. Biggers and B. H. Matthews. These bulls were bought by the National and placed with these farmers absolutely without any revenue or source of profit of the bank and simply to encourage the raising of better cattle in this section, simply to encourage people to raise thoroughbreds that will bring much better prices than scrubs. The bank hopes that as the community profits by this they will also profit by it for it will make the country better and more prosperous.
The parties who have these bulls in charge will be allowed to charge a fee of $1.00 for service, which fee will go to the keeper of the bull to pay for feeding and taking care of him. Calves from these bulls should be worth at least $5 more than the ordinary scrub calves, and that all alone, say there are 200 calves the first year, would amount to $1,000.
The second year the number of calves should reach 400 and that would make $2,000, and in this manner the bank hopes, by helping the farming, stock and grain raising interests of this section to enrich the country so that they will be much benefited by this venture.
Another feature about calves from thoroughbreds like these people will not sell the calves for slaughter like they do the scrubs.—Rock Hill Record.
The man who protests most vehemently against any increase in taxes for public improvement is usually the man who has benefited most from the improvements paid for by taxes that other people have paid.
Farmers who expect to feed beef cattle this fall and winter should not wait until October or November to make their arrangements to buy North Carolina and Tennessee steers. The best cattle are contracted for, it is said, during August and September.

GOVERNOR SENDS DOLLAR.

Commends Chamber of Commerce Work in Sending Young Ladies to Summer School.
Gov. R. I. Manning in sending a dollar to the Chamber of Commerce to aid in the sending of young ladies to take the summer course at Winthrop College and Coker College commends the work which the organization has taken up, says:
Mr. E. I. Reardon, Secretary, Sumter, S. C.
Dear Mr. Reardon:
Enclosed I am sending you a dollar as per your request, towards the funds to provide scholarships for Sumter county young ladies to Winthrop College and Coker College.
I think one of the healthiest signs of these times is the advance in teaching our people to be more independent of other parts of their country and how to make the most of what they have already have. I think the Tomato, Clubs and similar organizations are doing fine work with our young girls. I believe these same courses will instruct the young women in better house-keeping and better home sanitation, and how to altogether to live more comfortably and more contentedly, and I commend this work to all.
Very truly yours,
Richard I. Manning,
Governor.

One dollar has also been received from the Rex Theatre to aid the fund.

Agricultural Exchange at Chamber of Commerce.

The Sumter Chamber of Commerce will handle a list of agricultural products for sale, and will also list any agricultural products wanted.
In other words a regular agricultural exchange will be conducted on a limited scale as a purely experimental matter for the convenience of producers, and consumers.
This accommodation does not apply to any one but "simon pure" producers of farm products, and will include anything raised or grown on a Sumter county from a mustard seed to a Holstein bull.
The method of conducting this exchange will be about as follows:
Any producer having hogs, poultry, cattle, vetch, clover, alfalfa, oats, wheat, corn, potatoes, or other vegetables, and fruits, either canned, preserved, or in natural state, honey, syrups, sugar cane, nuts, butter, eggs, peavine hay, rye, or other agricultural products, may send either by mail or by personal visit to the Chamber of Commerce, a list of articles for sale. But the Chamber of Commerce does not offer to advertise, except at owners cost, cash down in advance, any article, except that any person wanting any produce will be told where and from whom, and what price the produce can be secured.
If sufficient interest is manifested by producers and consumers to warrant the extension of this service steps may be taken to make this method of exchange include a wider scope of usefulness.
As before stated present proposed exchange is experimental. Its usefulness and value depends entirely upon the advantage taken of the offer by producers and consumers. No produce allowed exhibited at the Chamber of Commerce as this organization is not prepared to store goods.

Lee County Lost.

In the election held Tuesday on the proposition to annex certain portions of Kershaw county to Lee county, the vote was a tie 12 for and 12 against. This means that Lee county will not annex a portion of Kershaw, as it was necessary to have a majority of two-thirds of the voters for the proposition.—Camden Chronicle.

REV. BOB JONES ILL.

EVANGELIST BREAKS DOWN AND HAS TO OBTAIN SUBSTITUTE.

Pana, Illinois Revival to Be Continued by Rev. M. B. Williams—Bob Jones Threatened with Appendicitis—Has Throat Trouble and General Break Down.

(Pana, Ill., Palladium, June 19.)

Owing to the illness of Evangelist Bob Jones, who has been confined to his room ever since last Thursday on account of a threatened attack of appendicitis, throat trouble, and an apparent general break-down, a successor to continue the Tabernacle Evangelistic meetings in Pana has been secured by Mr. Jones in the person of Rev. M. B. Williams, of Chicago, a noted revivalist, who will begin his services here Sunday with a meeting at the tabernacle at 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon. Mr. Williams will deliver the general sermon at the tabernacle's Sunday night at 7.30 o'clock.

Rev. Jones got into telegraphic communication with Mr. Williams late Friday and received his promise to come on to Pana and take up the work and fill all of his succeeding engagements until he is in condition to get back into the campaign. He says that Mr. Williams is the very best substitute he could obtain, and considers that there will be great success in Pana under his work here. Mr. Williams is known as "Father of Tabernacles."

Word from the bedside of Mr. Jones Saturday afternoon, was that he was slightly improved. No operation at this time is contemplated. Mr. Jones had a similar attack of stomach trouble some seven years ago.

Friday evening witnessed another large audience at the great tabernacle, despite the fact that announcement of Mr. Jones' illness and inability to conduct the meeting had gained wide circulation, the service devolving into a Union meeting conducted by the ministers of the First Methodist, First Presbyterian and First Baptist churches, preceded by the usual song service by the chorus under direction of Mr. McKenzie, who also rendered the beautiful solo, "Oh, It is Wonderful." He was loudly encored and responded with a second selection.

Mr. G. H. McInardi of the Jones party then announced that there was no improvement in Mr. Jones' condition and that the audience would be given opportunity to hear the local pastors interested in the meetings, after first assuring the congregation that a substitute evangelist would be engaged to continue the meetings the coming week.

New Department.

We have fitted up a watch and jewelry repair department which is in charge of Z. F. Highsmith, who has nine years experience in this line prior to engaging in the optical business. He served an apprenticeship under a watchmaker and jeweler in North Carolina and has held lucrative positions with some of the leading jewelers in this country. Therefore, we assure you of the same high class work in this new line as that done by Mr. Highsmith heretofore in the optical line. Give us a chance to convince you.

The St. Matthews baseball team passed through Sumter this morning on its way to Summerton, where two games are scheduled this week. The St. Matthews team comes here for games on Thursday and Friday of this week.

The many friends of Rev. Bob Jones will regret to learn that he has had a physical break down and has been forced to give up his work temporarily. He has engaged a substitute to carry on the meeting at Pana, Ill., and to fill his other engagements.
