WILSON-JENKINS MARRIAGE.

Beautiful Wedding at Mt. Zion Church, St. Charles.

A marriage of much interest to many persons in Lee and Sumter counties was that of Miss Emily Gwathmey Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Bradley Wilson of St. Charles, and Robert Maxwell Jenkins, Jr., which was solemnized at the beautiful and historic Mt. Zion church, St. Charles, on Wednesday evening at 7.30 o'clock in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends of the contracting parties and their respective families.

Elaborate preparations for the wedding of the young couple were made by friends who had decorated the church most tastefully in harmonious color scheme of green and pink, beautiful potted plants forming a background for the bridal party as they took their places on and in front of the dais.

Just before the wedding Miss Mary Kirven sang "Love's Old Sweet Song" and "Constancy," the accompaniment being played by Miss Sara Heriot. The attendants then entered, ushers, bridesmaids and groomsmen, dame of honor, maid of honor, ring bearer and flower girls, then the bride with her father, and the groom attended by W. B. Jenkins, his best man, who came in at a side door and met the bride at the altar. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. G. Vardell, D. D., president of Red Springs Seminary for Women, assisted by the Rev. H. C. Hammond, pastor of Mt. Zion church.

Miss Sara Heriot of Heriot played Lohengrin's Wedding March as the attendants entered and Mendelssohn's Wedding March as they retired.

The bride was dressed in white broadened princess satin and wore her veil on train. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Eloise Jenkins, a sister of the groom, was maid of honor. She wore pink silk net over accoridian plaited satin and carried a bouquet of white asters.

Little Misses Thelma McCutchen of Bishopville and Mary Scott of St. Charles were the dainty pink-gowned flower girls, who preceded the bride. Coit Wilson, a nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Mrs. N. E. Wells of Memphis, Tenn., was dame of honor. She wore white princess satin trimmed with real lace and carried white asters.

The bridesmaids wore dresses of white lingerie with pink powdered taffeta boleros and carried pink asters. The bridesmaids and groomsmen entered as follows: Miss Anne McCown, Florence, with J. The Reception.

Immediately after the marriage several hundred guests repaired to the hospitable home of Mr. R. Bradley Wilson to a reception in honor of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Jenkins, Jr., who were the recipients of many congratulations and good wishes.

The residence was elaborately decorated in green and pink, carrying out the color scheme employed at the church.

In the reception room Miss Sarah Heriot kept the bride's book in which were placed the autographs of those participating in the wedding and who attended the reception. The large display of presents attracted much attention of the guests and the cutting of the bride's cake afforded no little amusement.

Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins have gone to Washington and other points on their bridal trip and on their return will make their home at St. Charles, where Mr. Jenkins is an energetic young farmer.

An effort will be made to revive the general Curb Market for the sale of all sorts of country produce as soon as cooler weather begins. During the hot months the market has not been well supplied with produce, although the fresh meat market has been regularly maintained and well patronized. The people of Sumter have demonstrated that they will patronize the Curb Market if the farmers do their part.

NEGRO WANTED ON MURDER CHARGE.

Arrested by Policeman J. D. Chandler Saturday Night.

B. R. Cutler, alias B. R. Cuttino, colored, was arrested in the city Saturday night about midnight by Policeman J. D. Chandler, who had secured information that the negro was wanted in Charleston on the charge of murder. Detectives from Charleston arrived Saturday night and returned to Charleston Sunday morning with their prisoner.

Cutler shot a man at Charleston several weeks ago, when he was refused admission to a dance hall. He made his escape and the negro subsequently died. Friday night Cutler was mixed in a negro row on Mrs. Chandler's place on the Mayesville road and his fuss with a woman made her tell Mrs. Chandler that the man was wanted for murder in Charleston.

Mrs. Chandler told her son, who telegraphed to Charleston and was asked to arrest the man. He made arrangements to go out in the country for the man, but happened on him in Sumter Saturday night before he left for Mayesville. In making the arrest Policeman Chandler received a reward of fifteen dollars.
